M'CARL SCORES SPENDING ORGY OF THE NEW DEAL

Controler General Leaves Job Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Controler General J. Raymond McCarl, on the eve of retirement after fifteen years of guarding government expenditures, today attacked New Deal "emergency measures" as "loosely and extravagantly set up and tax consuming to the extreme."

The scathing denunciation of prodigal New Deal spending was delivered at McCarl's first and only press conference during his term of office. The controler general has blocked several major spending schemes of the present administration on legal grounds, but this was his first interpretative comment. He will leave tomorrow to practice law and President Roosevelt will appoint his successor.

Urges Reorganization.

"A systematic and sensible reorganization of the regular governmental agencies and activites would result not only in a vast monetary saving," asserted McCarl, "but would eliminate duplicate and conflicting operations, bring together related functions, simplify procedure, and in every respect make for better administration.

"This is a legislative problem, and I am in hopes that the next congress may be so constituted that there may be assured a sympathetic and thorough reorganization of the regular agencies, with proper consolidations and eliminations.

"Many, if not all, existing special or 'emergency' agencies, which, due to their nature, were loosely and extravagantly set up and are tax-consuming to the extreme, may be promptly eliminated with their needed functions assigned to the more economically organized regular establishments."

May Take Part in Politics.

McCarl said he always would have a keen interest in government and "might take some part in politics."

"No one could serve fifteen years as controler general of the United States without the aid of a firm belief in both the wisdom and practicability of our system.

"Then, too, I am deeply interested in the reorganization study recently authorized to be undertaken by a special committee of which Senator Harry Flood Byrd [Dem., Va.] is chairman, and if the work is to be seriously taken up I would wish to be available to give such aid as I can."

McCarl said he might take a trip to Europe to study two or three budget systems at first hand, but that the days just ahead would be of "serious judgment and concern to all of us" so that the time for the trip was indefinite.

McCarl smilingly refused to estimate how much his office had saved the taxpayers.

"I believe that the very existence of the office has had a deterrent effect on extravagance and wrongdoing," he declared.

During the day he was admitted to the bar of the United States Court of Appeals here.

Rulings Stymie New Deal.

Some of the rulings of the controler general have hampered pet projects of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt and brought howls from the New Dealers. A phrase often heard in the New Deal brain trust conferences was: "Can we get that by McCarl?"

He ruled out the proposed tree barrier against erosive wind and water, pointing out that the money had been appropriated to meet immediate relief demands and could not be parceled out for the geographical protection of the unborn.

McCarl flatly refused to allow the government to pay architects' and builders' fees for erection of a factory at Mrs. Roosevelt's Reedsville, W. Va., project because congress had not granted permission for the building of an industrial plant there.

Answerable Only to Congress.

When the New Deal tried by hook or crook to juggle funds around for administration of the social security act after the filibuster of the late Senator Huey P. Long killed the deficiency measure a year ago, McCarl blocked all efforts as unlawful.

McCarl was answerable only to congress, which created his post. He was born at Des Moines, Ia., and later was secretary to Senator George W. Norris, radical Republican of Nebraska.

HAILE TO PLEAD BEFORE LEAGUE FOR LOST STATE

Assembly Convenes to Lift Sanctions.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, June 29.—Haile Selassie, exiled emperor of Ethiopia, will appear as the spokesman of his conquered kingdom before the assembly of the league of nations tomorrow afternoon. The assembly has been called to lift the economic sanctions against Italy, which were imposed in an effort to stop her war in Ethiopia.

"It is our intention personally to take part in one or several meetings of the assembly at the head of the Ethiopian delegation," read a communication addressed to the league by Selassie today.

Those familiar with the inner workings of the Geneva organization predicted this will be the last time the ex-emperor or any other representative of free Ethiopia will appear before the assembly.

To Be Excluded Later.

An agreement already has been concluded between the French and British, it was reported, to exclude Ethiopia from the September assembly, thus wiping Ethiopia's name from the league membership list and at the same time from the roster of sovereign states.

This would be done by refusing the Ethiopian delegates a seat in the assembly on the grounds that their credentials are insufficient since they are not supplied by the legally established government in the country.

Italy, in a note delivered in Geneva tonight, promised the league she would not create a huge army in Ethiopia. The note blamed Ethiopians for the war and sketched plans for the development of the country, promising to keep the league in touch.

With the Italian sanction problem out of the way, the French and British will make an attempt in the next few days to bear down on Germany, THE TRIBUNE learned tonight.

Summon Austrian Chief.

As a result of the talks yesterday between Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, and Premier Leon Blum of France it was reliably reported they are planning to send what was described as a stiff note to Berlin asking for a prompt answer to the British questionnaire inspired by remilitarization of the Rhineland.

A secret note was dispatched by the French and British today inviting Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg to come to Geneva at once for a consultation about Austria. This is interpreted as an important British concession to fears of France and the little entente [Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania] that either the Hapsburgs will be restored to the Austrian throne or the Nazis will attack Austria.

Haile's Messages Held Up.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

GENEVA, June 29.—Efforts of league leaders today to dissuade the Ethiopian emperor from addressing the assembly were futile, but served to bring into the open some curious facts.

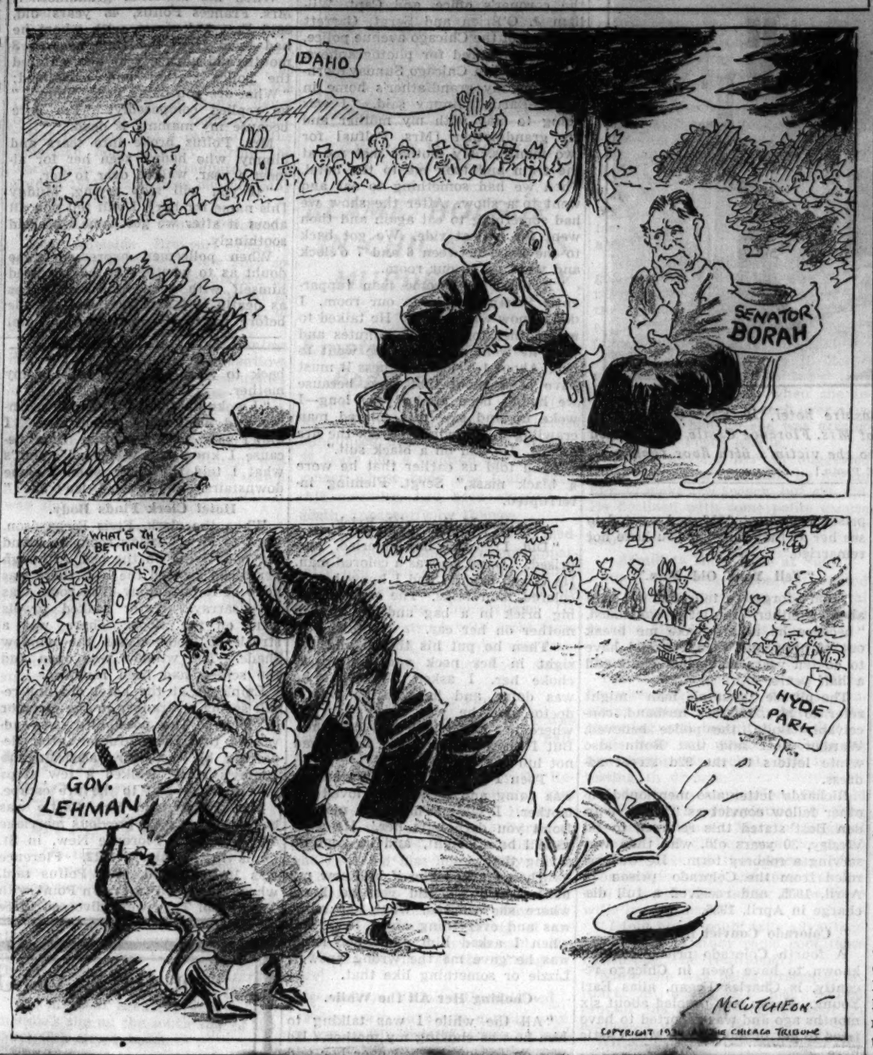
Messages from the temporary government left behind in Ethiopia to the emperor in Europe suddenly ceased some weeks ago. Now it has been learned that the government's representative entrusted them for relay to Cable and Wireless, Inc., a British monopoly, which owns and operates the wireless station at Addis Ababa. Instead of sending them via Khartum the company routed them via Asmara, the capital of Italian Eritrea. Naturally they never arrived.

Had they been sent on they would have shown, only a few hours before Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden made his "admission" in the British house of commons that there no longer existed a native government in Ethiopia, that messages from that government to Emperor Haile Selassie had been sent to him in London and been addressed to him in care of the British foreign office.

Snow Covers Highways in Northern Vermont

Newport, Vt., June 29.—[Special.]—Snow covered the ground in upland regions of northern Vermont today, motorists returning from the area reported. The Newport-St. Albans highway, thirty miles from here, was white for more than a mile in the vicinity of Nazens Notch. Elsewhere the mercury dropped to below 40 degrees.

THIS SUMMER WILL SEE SOME HIGH PRESSURE WOOING



Storm Sweeps Chicago; Boy Is Killed by Bolt

Rain and squalls, accompanied by lightning, struck portions of Chicago and suburbs early last evening, causing the death of a 16 year old newsboy and considerable damage to property.

The fire alarm office was swamped with emergency calls. On the south side numerous trees and telephone poles were blown down. Several of the falling trees struck houses. Others caved in the tops of automobiles. Reports of live wires being blown down also were received.

The newsboy was Adam Serafin, 2125 Custer street. He was standing under a tree at Sacramento boulevard and Palmer square when lightning struck him. Firemen carried him into a firehouse at 2183 Stave street, where artificial respiration proved vain.

Wires and Trees Fall.

Gusts of wind knocked down electrical wires at 108th street and Avenue L, 97th street and Avenue N, and 102d street and Lafayette avenue. Pedestrians were narrowly missed by falling trees at 2728 East 75th street, 64th street and South Park way, 8544 Maryland avenue, and 65th street and Kedzie avenue.

Lightning struck the Webster school, 3315 Wentworth avenue, and dislodged a few bricks, but did no other damage. In Forest Park, a tree was splintered by lightning at 7709 Monroe street.

Dusty truck gardens and lawns in the Chicago area took on new life yesterday after the rainfall of .49 of an inch, which was the largest amount to descend any day this month.

Rainfall a Fraction of Normal.

The downpour yesterday constituted almost half of the entire June precipitation so far of 1.01 inches. Despite the day's showers the month still is deficient 2.21 inches in rainfall. The year's total of 9.60 inches leaves a deficiency of 6.61 inches below the normal of 16.21 inches. Last year at this time there had been 20 inches of rain.

While downstate and the rest of the central west suffered in 100 degree heat, Chicago again remained cool—with a maximum of 73 degrees—because of the winds which blew from Lake Michigan.

FARLEY'S RESIGNATION IN PRESIDENT'S HAND; FIRST AID TO GET POST

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—James A. Farley has sent his resignation as postmaster general to President Roosevelt, it became known today. The expressed reason, as advanced by the retiring postmaster general who through three years of the New Deal also has retained his chairmanship of the Democratic national committee and post of New York national committeeman, was that he wished to be free to devote more time to President Roosevelt's campaign for reëlection.

The resignation will be accepted in the next few days, it was held certain tonight, and William W. Howe, first assistant in the postoffice department under Farley, will be designated as acting postmaster general.

The selection of Mr. Howe as acting postmaster general was decided upon by the administration to overcome some of the objections raised against the "lapse" of civil service and the throwing of government agencies open to the spoils system.

Farley Denies Report.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 29.—(AP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley tonight denied that he had resigned as postmaster general.

AIRPLANES HURL ROCKS IN TRUCK FARM DISORDERS

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—[Special.]—Planes loaded with rocks introduced an innovation into the labor strife between union and nonstriking vegetable pickers in the truck fields about this city when they "bombed" Mexican and Filipino pickers in the fields near Dominguez hills today.

It was the fourth "bombing" from aloft in three days, each swoop over the celery, bean, and pea fields having been made by a different plane.

The number of the plane which harassed the workers today was obtained and furnished to the sheriff's office. The stones were thrown by men who could be seen in the plane's open cabin from below, aiming at groups in the fields.

First Texas Pension Check Goes to Retired Farmer, 103

Austin, Tex., June 29.—(AP)—The first Texas old-age pension checks were presented today to Frank Kainer, 103 year old retired farmer from Weimar, and his 95 year old wife. Ready for mailing tomorrow, 40,097 additional checks were ready for approved applicants over 65. Monthly checks will range from $9 to $30.

Mormons Fast Day a Month to Aid the Jobless

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 29.—(AP)—The Latter Day Saints [Mormon] church, mixing religion with relief, reported progress tonight in a worldwide drive to take 80,000 members "off relief" by Oct. 1.

The concentrated campaign to make every member self-sustaining, directed from the church's capital here, showed these results after six weeks:

212 farm, industrial, canning, and sewing projects in full swing.

238 additional projects planned, many to start within a few weeks.

1,487 acres planted to garden crops.

Members Fast to Aid Fund.

Under the plan, as explained by Harold B. Lee, church security program director, the 750,000 members are asked to go without two meals the first Sunday of each month—giving the monetary equivalent to the relief fund.

With the "fast donations," land is being leased and equipment purchased for apportionment among the unemployed. The harvest will go into common storehouses. Similarly managed "one for all and all for one" projects produce clothing, bedding, canned fruits and vegetables.

Revival of Pioneer Custom.

Although centered in Utah and southern Idaho—strongest center of church population—the relief program is being extended to every part of the globe where church units need it, including California, where there is a rapidly growing membership, and into Canada and Mexico.

There is nothing new about the relief plan. Something of the sort has been in operation since the church's founding by Joseph Smith in 1830. Alarmed at the numbers on government relief, leaders called for a revival of pioneer day undertakings.

COAST GUARD AND NAVY ORDERED TO HUNT FOR WILKINS

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 29.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight ordered the navy and coast guard to "investigate and take whatever action necessary" to find Sir Hubert Wilkins, famous explorer, who has been unheard from since he left Staten Island on June 18 aboard the steamer Wyatt Earp for Norway.

The President was notified by Charles Henry Freeman Jr. of the Freeman concert management, New York City, that Lady Wilkins is worried some accident may have happened to the ship, which had ten persons aboard.

Rep. Zioncheck Leaves Capital for West Coast

The madcap congressman, thoroughly chastened and weary, had been accompanied to the station by a squad of capitol police. The policemen and railroad detectives held back the jostling onlookers as Zioncheck was squeezed through the iron gates to the train shed.

"I'll Be Back."

"I'll be back," the congressman shouted to the crowd as he removed his straw hat, but refused to wave farewell. He says he is going to run again for congress.

Accompanying Zioncheck on the trip to the west coast are Kenneth Romney, house sergeant at arms, and George Bishop, capitol policeman.

The playbay congressman was found in his office on Capitol hill yesterday, bruised and half starved, just twenty-four hours after he had scaled a 7½ foot wire fence at the Sheppard and Enoch Pratt hospital for mental cases in Towson, Md., ten miles north of Baltimore, and disappeared.

After his sudden appearance yesterday Romney took Zioncheck in tow and, after talking with him for two hours, pronounced him "absolutely rational."

Posts $25 Bond.

Then Romney posted a $25 bond with the Washington police on an assault warant sworn out for the congressman by his former landlady, Mrs. Benjamin Scott Young. Romney later announced that Zioncheck "is now a free agent and will go home to his friends in Seattle."

Considerable mystery surrounded Zioncheck's activities in Washington yesterday. Late in the afternoon observers saw him leave his office with several capitol policemen, and the report spread that he had been spirited away to an unknown destination.

Romney later dispelled the rumor when he revealed that the congressman had been escorted to the House office building basement for a much needed bath.

Most of the day yesterday the congressman remained secluded in his office, where he was served two big meals. He shaved off a two days' beard with Romney's personal razor.

Moved on Wife's Plea.

Zioncheck was transferred from Gallinger to the Maryland institution a week ago on the plea of his wife, the former Rubye Louise Nix, erstwhile PWA stenographer.

Upon the transfer the District of Columbia commissioners canceled proceedings to commit Zioncheck to an asylum as a "dangerous" character.

Mrs. Zioncheck's whereabouts were still unknown last night. She is alleged to have aided her husband in ejecting Mrs. Young from their apartment when the landlady attempted to evict the young couple.

This and many other scrapes Zioncheck will be forced to explain to his Seattle constituents, for he is a candidate for reëlection.

HUNT FUGITIVE FURRIER, FRIEND OF SLAIN WOMAN

Son, 7, Tells of Seeing Mother Killed.

In Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle's wide flung acquaintanceship with men the police last night sought the solution of the mystery of her murder.

Among those the police hope to question is James Britt, 45 years old, formerly a furrier at Stevens Point, Wis. Britt, who violated probation at Stevens Point and is therefore a fugitive from Wisconsin, has cashed a number of worthless checks recently on the near north side and is known to have purchased clothing for Mrs. Castle, a slim, attractive night club hostess 24 years old.

The woman's body was found early yesterday in her small apartment on the fifth floor of the Devonshire hotel, 19 East Ohio street. It lay on the bed, clad only in a silk night garment.

Mrs. Castle had been choked and her skull had been crushed with a brick. The brick was broken in the slayer's furious assault. Its bloodstained halves lay on a pillow beside the victim's head. The time of the murder was place dat about 1 a. m.

Boy Sees Mother Slain.

There were bizarre elements in the crime that puzzled the police. The strangest circumstance of all was the story told by James Thompson Jr., 7 years old, son of Mrs. Castle by her first marriage. Jimmy, according to his own narrative, lay beside his mother on the bed while she was being slain. At that time he apparently did not realize what was taking place.

He talked with the slayer, the child said. He described him first as a "white man wearing a black mask," and later as a colored man.

Some of the investigators were inclined to be skeptical of the boy's story. They thought he might be romancing and was really asleep when the crime occurred. Others accepted his account at face value, although they were puzzled by his statement that he went to sleep after the murder and did not awake until daylight. Then he gave the alarm to the hotel clerk.

"Black Legion" on Mirror.

Another weird aspect of the case was the legend left by the slayer on the mirror of Mrs. Castle's dresser. This was printed with a red lipstick taken from a dresser drawer. It said: "Black Legon Game" [apparently a misspelling of "Black Legion Came"]. Below that was a crudely drawn skull and crossbones.

The police believed, however, that the Black Legion—an organization on the lines of the Ku Klux Klan which recently came to notice through a murder in Detroit—had no connection with the slaying. Their opinion was that the scrawl on the mirror was a clumsy attempt of Mrs. Castle's slayer to mislead them.

Another Mystery in Case.

A third puzzling circumstance was the discovery in the bathroom of Mrs. Castle's apartment of a rag saturated with what appeared to be black grease paint such as is used by stage performers. Some of the paint also was found on a water tap in the bathtub.

This led to a supposition that the murderer had some knowledge of theatricals and might have applied greasepaint to his face and hands before entering the apartment and washed off the stuff after the slaying. The Devonshire and the nearby Berkshire hotel are frequented by theatrical folk.

The black greasepaint might have given the boy the impression that his mother's assailant was colored or wore a black mask, police pointed out. The child said he saw the slayer go to the bathroom and wash and "his hands seemed to be getting whiter."

Other Clews Are Found.

The investigators were confronted with a multiplicity of other clews. Their belief was that the slaying was a crime of vengeance committed by a jealous suitor. At the same time they were considering a robbery theory. Jimmy told them the killer rifled his mother's pocketbook. This theory was weakened, however, by the fact that Mrs. Castle was known to have little money. She had not worked for some months because of illness.

By her nickname of "Micky" Mrs. Castle was well known as an entertainer and hostess to patrons of night life resorts in the bohemian atmosphere of the near north side. She had acquaintanceships, too, with men in other cities. She had been married and divorced at least twice.

Worthless Checks Give Clew.

Attention was called to the likelihood of Britt as a suspect when the management of the Devonshire hotel recalled that he had cashed $70 of worthless checks written against the Citizens National bank of Stevens Point.

These checks came back marked "not sufficient funds" and the hotel management was further informed that he was a ward of the state board of control in Wisconsin. Gordon Shipman of Wisconsin Rapids, agent who was in charge of the case, said that Britt's probation was withdrawn two weeks ago.

"He was sentenced to Waupun prison for failure to provide for his wife and child," said Shipman. "We have been looking for him to put him away since this matter of the checks came up. He has not been in Stevens Point recently."

Patrons of the cocktail bar in the hotel recalled having seen Britt in company with Mrs. Castle several times, and others reported that she had told of his purchases of clothing for her.

Corresponds with Convicts.

Several convicts in the Colorado state prison at Canon City corresponded with her two years ago and one trail of police investigation led in that direction.

The theory that jealousy inspired the murder was strengthened also by the story of 7 year old Jimmy. The boy said the killer asked him: "Who were you and your mother out with last night? What did the man look like?"

Jimmy arrived in Chicago early Sunday from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., to spend the summer with his mother and other relatives here. He had been living in Wilkes-Barre with his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Thompson.

His father, James B. Thompson, who was divorced from Mrs. Castle in 1933, has remarried and is now living in Boston.

THREE MEN QUESTIONED

Three men were being questioned about the case by the police last night. One of them is Sidney Schaps, 32 years old, 1609 North Lawndale avenue. Schaps, a short, dark haired man, is master of ceremonies at the Palace gardens, a night life center at 620 North Clark street. Mrs. Castle formerly worked there as a hostess.

Schaps is married. He is the father of a 4 year old son. The police said he admitted he was infatuated with Mrs. Castle and that he gave her sums of money over a period of several months. He accompanied her to the railroad station to meet her son Jimmy when the boy arrived Sunday morning.

On first questioning Schaps said he had not seen Mrs. Castle since he took her and the boy to the hotel from the station. Later he admitted he visited Mrs. Castle in her apartment at 9 o'clock Sunday evening and telephoned her from the Palace gardens about midnight. During the day he gave her a dollar.

Mother at Police Station.

Mrs. Castle's mother, Mrs. Frances Polfus, 2615 East 92d street, arrived at the Chicago avenue police station while Schaps was being questioned. The mother was near hysterics when she learned of her daughter's death, but became calmer in a short time and answered questions. She patted and hugged her grandson Jimmy.

Mrs. Polfus asserted her daughter had told her that she was afraid of Schaps. Schaps denied these charges and declared he was only a "good friend" of Mrs. Castle. Later he admitted his infatuation for her.

Schaps told the police that when he visited Mrs. Castle's apartment Sunday evening she and her son were in their night clothes in bed. He stayed only a few minutes, he said, and then went to work in the Palace gardens. When Schaps telephoned Mrs. Castle at midnight, he said, she told him Jimmy was asleep and she was going to sleep shortly.

Jimmy Welcomes Schaps.

After Schaps was questioned the police took Jimmy in to face him.

"Hello, Sid," the boy said gayly. He told investigators that he remembered Schaps from the meeting at the train and the visit Sunday evening.

Late in the afternoon Schaps was subjected to lie detector tests at the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory. The police said the test showed he was not telling the truth in some portions of his story, but the discrepancies—if there were any of importance—were not divulged.

Then Schaps was taken to the county morgue to view Mrs. Castle's body. When it was moved out on a slab, Schaps sobbed: "Oh, Micky, Micky! When I last saw you, you were smiling so."

Schaps Denies the Killing.

"Did you kill her?" Sergt. John O'Malley asked abruptly.

"No, no," he cried. "Positively not."

Mrs. Polfus' story that her daughter told her she was afraid of Schaps was ridiculed by Schaps' wife, Betty. Mrs. Schaps said she knew of her husband's friendship with Mrs. Castle.

"But you could hardly call it an affair," she said. "You have to be broad-minded in the show business and I am not jealous.

"He just isn't the type of man who could make threats or strike any one. He is happy-go-lucky."

The other two men questioned are Robert Taylor, 30 years old, an unemployed salesman who has been staying at the Devonshire hotel, and the last of Mrs. Castle's husbands, Faber Castle, from whom she was divorced about eighteen months ago.

Taylor was questioned after it was learned that he was with Mrs. Castle and her son Sunday afternoon. He said he met Mrs. Castle at a near north side tavern ten days ago. On Sunday afternoon he took her and Jimmy for a speedboat ride. He returned them to the hotel at 6:30 p. m.

Castle, who is 35 years old and lives at 7742 South Damen avenue, went to the Woodlawn police station voluntarily last night after learning of his former's wife death. Castle is a butcher. He said he saw his divorced wife a week ago, but could give no further information. Both Castle and Taylor were released by the police early today.

INVESTIGATE CONVICTS

The activities of two convicts in the Colorado state prison and of two former convicts were being investigated by the police. The two men still in prison are Allen Richards and John W. Bolin, both 26 years old. Richards and Bolin have been in the Canon City penitentiary since 1933, serving sentences of 8½ to 10 years for robbery in Denver. Both will be paroled next September, according to Warden Roy Best.

Among Mrs. Castle's effects was found a letter written to her by Richards from the prison in January, 1934. It was addressed to Mrs. J. W. Bolin, 2842 East 92d street, Chicago. Mrs. Castle formerly lived at this address with her mother. The letter gave rise to a supposition that Mrs. Castle might have been married in Convict Bolin.

In the letter Richards told Mrs. Castle that he hoped to be out of prison in August, 1936, and wanted to see her at that time "if you have not remarried."

"Tell Your Old Man."

"Don't forget to tell your old man about it either," the letter concluded, "because he might make me break out of here, and then I would have to do ten years instead of eight and a half years."

The phrase "your old man" might refer to Mrs. Castle's husband, conceivably Bolin, the police believed. Warden Best said that Bolin also wrote letters to the 92d street address.

Richards' letter also mentioned another fellow convict as "Wes." Warden Best stated this referred to Ed Wesley, 30 years old, who then was serving a robbery term. He was paroled from the Colorado prison in April, 1935, and received a full discharge in April, 1936.

Colorado Convict in Chicago.

A fourth Colorado prison convict, known to have been in Chicago recently, is Charles Fegan, alias Earl Young. Fegan was paroled about six months ago and was reported to have tried to get in touch with Mrs. Castle here.

From George Boers, 26 years old, of 4250 Ottawa street, investigators learned that Mrs. Castle was afraid of a convict who visited her shortly before Christmas last year. Boers said on several occasions he went to Mrs. Castle's apartment when she was living at the Kenmore Arms, 5036 Kenmore avenue.

"Once when I was there just before Christmas," Boers said, "somebody knocked at the door. She answered the knock and I got a glimpse of a big, tough looking fellow in the hall. I couldn't get a good look at him. After he left, Mrs. Castle told me he was an ex-convict from Colorado and that she was afraid of him."

STORY OF THE MURDER

Mrs. Castle's apartment in the hotel was No. 516. It was on the south side of the hotel, facing an alley running east and west between Wabash avenue and State street. The living room is small, about 8 by 10 feet. The window faces on a fire escape. The slayer entered by the window, Jimmy said, and left by the door.

Jimmy told his story in a happy mood at the police station. He apparently did not know the meaning of death. He had not seen his mother for some time before he came from Wilkes-Barre and therefore did not seem to miss her. The boy, a dark haired, lively lad, played around the police station and seemed more interested in eating ice cream than in the events occurring about him.

Jimmy Talks for Police.

Throughout his questioning by Francis Donoghue, investigator for the coroner's office, and Capt. William J. O'Brien and Sergt. Garrett Fleming of the Chicago avenue police, the boy postured for photographers.

"I arrived in Cnicago Sunday morning from my grandfather's home in Wilkes-Barre," Jimmy said. "I was going to stay with my mother and my grandmother [Mrs. Polfus] for two months. My mother met me at the train and took me to the hotel. Then we had something to eat and went to a show. After the show we had something to eat again and then went for a boat ride. We got back to the hotel between 6 and 7 o'clock and went up to our room.

"A little later some man [apparently Schaps] came to our room. I don't know who he was. He talked to my mother for 5 or 10 minutes and then he went away and we went to bed. About 1 o'clock—I guess it must have been about that time, because we hadn't been asleep very long—I woke up and saw this colored man crawling in the window from the fire escape. He had on a black suit."

"You told us earlier that he wore a black mask," Sergt. Fleming interrupted.

Strikes Mother with Brick.

"Did I?" the boy queried, surprised. "O, no, he was a colored man. He talked colored and I know how a colored man talks. The man had a big brick in a bag and he hit my mother on her ear.

"Then he put his thumb and fist right in her neck and started to choke her. I asked him what he was doing and he said he was a doctor and he was fixing her ear where her boy friend had hurt her. But I knew mother's boy friend had not hurt her ear.

"Then I asked him again what he was doing and he said he loved my mother. I said: 'That's my mother. Don't you dare hurt her.' He said: 'She'll be all right,' and he kept on saying that.

"Then I asked him if he knew my mother and he said yes, he knew where she worked, what her name was and everything about her. But when I asked him what her name was he gave me the wrong answer, Lizzie or something like that.

Choking Her All the While.

"All the while I was talking to him he was choking my mother. He was on top of the bed over her and bending her leg all the way up to her face."

"Did your mother say anything to him?" the boy was asked.

"No," Jimmy replied. "She couldn't talk. She was choking. Then he jumped off the bed and took all the money out of her pocketbook. He threw all the things from the drawers around the floor. [The pocketbook and several cards were found later on the fire escape.]

"Then he took a piece of red chalk [the lipstick] out of the drawer and wrote on the dresser mirror. Then he went out the door. I went back to sleep. I didn't talk to my mother.

"I woke up about 5:30 in the morning and went right downstairs. I didn't talk to my mother then because I knew she was dead. That's what I told the clerk when I came downstairs. She is dead, isn't she?"

Hotel Clerk Finds Body.

When the clerk, Elvis Richardson, went to Mrs. Castle's room he found her body lying on the bed. Although her blood spotted the bed, there was none of it on Jimmy. The room was in disarray. Water soaked towels were on the floor. There was a streak of blood across the window shade. The window was open and the screen had been removed.

Employés at the hotel did not recall seeing a stranger in the elevator or lobby. The possibility was advanced that the murderer, after departing by the door, according to Jimmy's story, walked a few steps to a corridor exit to the fire escape.

Mrs. Polfus said Mrs. Castle was her daughter by a previous marriage and was born Florence New, in St. Louis in February, 1912. Florence was 16 years old, Mrs. Polfus said, when she eloped to Crown Point with Thompson. They were divorced three years ago. Two years ago Mrs. Castle married Faber Castle and divorced him shortly afterward. Mrs. Polfus' present husband is Sylvester Polfus, a steel mill worker.

Slain Woman's 7 Year Old Son Puzzles Murder Investigators

BY KAY HALL.

A theory of psychologists that children 7 years old are unable to distinguish between truth and fiction kept police investigators anxiously on edge yesterday as they tried to draw from James Thompson Jr., 7 years old, a precise account of the murder of his mother, Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, who was beaten and choked to death early yesterday in her room at the Devonshire hotel.

Capt. William J. O'Brien of the East Chicago avenue police said he could not tell to what extent young Jimmy was "romancing." The sharp witted boy made statements of surprising sophistication for his years. Yet despite his precocity he appeared not to have felt any shock from the brutality which he said he witnessed.

Greets His Grandmother.

When his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Frances Polfus, 46 years old, 2615 East 92d street, with whom he had lived from the time he was 8 months old until a year ago, entered the police station and exclaimed: "What are you doing here, Jimmy?" he replied composedly: "I'm here because my mamma is dead."

Mrs. Polfus broke into tears and Jimmy, who hadn't seen her for almost a year, walked over to her.

"If you will stop crying, Muddy [his name for her], I will tell you all about it after we get home," he said soothingly.

When policemen expressed some doubt as to whether he had dressed himself with such finished touches as neatly tied shoelaces and necktie before he went down to the hotel lobby to report that something had happened to his mother, Jimmy smiled.

"I'll show you," he said, bending over his shoes, unlacing them and then tying them back briskly.

"I don't want my picture all over the United States," he told photographers. "I wish I hadn't told anything about this and then they wouldn't have called all of you up here," he told reporters.

Complimented on his white summer suit with long trousers and a maroon linen shirt, he apologized: "They are not as clean as they should be."

Last Word from Daughter.

Mrs. Polfus was to have kept Jimmy this summer. Her daughter, Mrs. Castle, telephoned her Saturday night before the boy's arrival early Sunday from the home of his paternal grandparents at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Mrs. Castle said, according to Mrs. Polfus; "I want to have him with me tomorrow and show him a good time."

That was the last Mrs. Polfus heard from Mrs. Castle.

"Florence's second husband, Faber Castle, didn't like Jimmy, but he is harmless," Mrs. Polfus said. "We sent Jimmy last year to his father's parents in Wilkes-Barre on the condition that we would have him back again this summer. There was no argument or hard feeling about it."

Jimmy's father, James B. Thompson, remarried after Mrs. Castle divorced him. Mrs. Polfus and her husband, Sylvester, a steel mill worker, live in a modestly kept upstairs apartment in a two flat building.

RELIEF SHORTAGE SHRINKS AS IERC ALLOCATES CASH

536 Townships Need No Aid; 2 Million Prorated.

July relief fund shortages confronting the city of Chicago and other local governmental units in the state shrank somewhat yesterday in the light of local resources shown when the Illinois Emergency Relief commission met for the first time in its new rôle of an agency to certify the local needs for state relief.

Tomorrow administration of relief in the state will be taken over by the city of Chicago and 1,440 other local governments, including 1,423 townships and 17 counties which have no township units.

Two Million Is Prorated.

The IERC prorated $2,000,000 in state sales tax revenue, giving to each of the 905 townships or counties in need of such assistance 60.45 per cent of the amounts they requested. The $2,000,000 was spread farther than had been expected because, as it turned out, the remaining 536 townships announced they could finance their own relief requirements.

Total needs throughout the state are $5,046,572, which after deduction of local funds left $3,308,564 desired by local units from state funds. Lack of funds for administrative purposes was $49,790, but state funds cannot be used for this purpose.

A state-wide shortage of $1,308,564 will thus exist next month in the 905 communities needing state funds. A surplus of $634,509 in local funds is available in the 536 communities not needing state funds, but it cannot be taken for the use of the others.

Warants to Raise $667,297.

The city of Chicago, requiring $2,550,400 for relief and $297,586 for administrative expenses, will make available $667,297 in July from the sale of tax anticipation warants against a proposed levy of 30 cents per $100 property valuation, according to IERC figures. It will receive $1,318,205 of the $2,000,000 state fund. The net shortage arrived at is $862,484, about half as much as had been predicted, and indicates a possible cut of 30 per cent in family relief budgets.

At the city hall, officials still hedged on the matter of making the 30 cent tax levy on which the IERC based its distribution of state funds. Mayor Kelly declared the relief problem was at present in the hands of the city council.

Members of the council subcommittee on relief arranged to confer today with Gov. Horner about the shortage.

Two Counties Need No Aid.

In two counties none of the townships asked for state funds. Ford county's townships reported $4,166 available to cover needs of $1,394, while Kendall county's townships have $14,001 available against requirements of $1,582. In most instances "available" means that the money can be raised during July by levying the 30 per cent relief tax on property and selling anticipation warants on the taxes that will be collected perhaps a year from now.

State Auditor Edward J. Barrett said he would make $800,000 available to the local relief units within a few days, and the remainder of $1,200,000 after July 20 when revenue from the sales tax is received. There would be nothing to distribute during the early part of July were it not for the existence of a surplus in the state relief fund, Barrett said.

Food to Aid Situation.

The fund shortage will be alleviated in a degree by the distribution of nearly $1,000,000 worth of foods by the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, it was announced by O. F. Beyer, regional representative of the agency.

The IERC yesterday took under consideration a plan for carrying out its limited duties after today. It involves the division of the state into seven regions, subdivided into fifty-four areas, each unit to consist of from one to four counties. A revamped staf of employés, totaling about a third of the present 4,500, will be retained throughout the state to examine relief records of the local governments.

In addition to doing whatever it sees fit to assure itself as to local requests for state aid, the IERC will continue to certify employable relief clients for Works Progress administration jobs and to direct the distribution of federal surplus foods.

Reno, Nev., June 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Suzanne Silvercruys Farnam, noted sculptress and lecturer, won an uncontested divorce today from Walcott Farnam Jr., socially prominent in New York and New Haven, Conn. The daughter of the late Baron Erntz Silvercruys, president emeritus of the Belgian Supreme court, charged cruelty.

Mrs. Farnam created the Herbert Hoover bust in the Louvain library, Belgium. She was knighted by the late King Albert of Belgium in the Order of Leopold, an honor never before given to such a young woman.

Her husband was a captain in the American field artillery during the world war. He was graduated from Yale in 1917. They were married May 18, 1922, in Brussels.

Barbara Hutton's Cousin Divorced.

Mrs. Adelaide Brevoort Durant, wealthy and prominent New York society leader, won an uncontested divorce from Thomas Wells Durant at a private hearing on grounds of cruelty.

Mrs. Durant is a cousin of Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow, the Woolworth heiress. The daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Post Close Hutton Davies married Durant on Jan. 19, 1926, in New York City. They have an 8 year old daughter, Marjorie.

It was understood Mrs. Durant was given custody of the child in a sealed agreement approved by the court. It was signed on Nov. 14, 1935.

Myles Divorce Is Private.

Mrs. Emily W. Myles obtained a divorce on grounds of cruelty from Robert C. Myles, socially prominent in New York City. Trial of the case was private.

They were married on June 11, 1925, in New York City. They have three children, Emily, 10 years old; Constance, 8; and Robert 3d, 5.

Empty Wallet Beneath Body in Hallway.

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—After an autopsy today, authorities announced that George K. O'Connor, 38 years old, a Chicago electrical engineer whose body was found early this morning, had been slugged to death, apparently by thieves.

Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner, said O'Connor apparently had been struck from behind, the blow landing at the base of the brain and causing a hemorrhage. He also had been struck with great force on the jaw and his larnyx was fractured, indicating he had been strangled.

Empty Wallet Found.

O'Connor was employed by the Republic Flow Meters company, 2240 Diversey avenue, Chicago. He lived with his wife and three children at 1020 Austin street, Evanston, Ill. They had expected him home today.

The slain man came here three weeks ago to make an important engineering installation of some sort and to speak at a meeting of an engineering society, it was said. He had been staying at the Lexington hotel.

Presence in Vicinity Unexplained.

Police were unable to explain why he was in the vicinity where he was attacked, but suggested that he may have been visiting friends in Fairlawn, N. J., where he formerly lived, and had returned on the West 42d street ferry.

O'Connor was graduated from Carnegie Technical institute in 1922 and then worked for several years for the Republic Steel corporation. Later he was employed by the Smoot Engineering corporation of New York and went to work for the Chicago concern when it absorbed the Smoot company.

C. C. DILL BLAMES WIFE'S DISLIKE FOR ROOSEVELT

Criticisms Cause Split, Divorce Court Told.

Spokane, Wash., June 29.—(AP)—Caustic remarks against President Roosevelt caused the first real domestic split between C. C. Dill and his wife, the former senator testified in his divorce trial against her today.

It began, he said, with an outburst at the Chicago Democratic convention in 1932, when Franklin D. Roosevelt was nominated. After that, he testified, his wife, the former Rosalie Gardner Jones, once a suffragette leader, never lost an opportunity to criticize the President and his policies.

It also was her attitude, he said, which caused him to decline to seek reëlection to the senate in 1934.

"Ideas Crazy," Says Dill.

"I couldn't face the people of this state for reëlection with them thinking that Mrs. Dill was a progressive," he declared. "She had crazy ideas about politics."

When they married, he added, he got the impression she was an admirer of Roosevelt. "She didn't like the Theodore Roosevelt family—their estate and the estate of Mrs. Dill's family were adjoining," he said.

"She thought Franklin D. Roosevelt was all right until some time before the convention when she invited him to make a speech over a national radio hookup she was arranging for the Peace league.

"I had advised her—or suggested—she not embarrass him by asking him to make the speech, but she did. He declined with some polite excuse and after that she had no use for him."

Afraid to Have Wife at Side.

When President Roosevelt visited the Grand Coulee dam in central Washington, Dill said, he was afraid to have Mrs. Dill at his side.

"I didn't know what she might say about the President," he added.

His wife sat without looking at him during his recital. She is contesting th divorce.

Under cross-examination, Dill told of Mrs. Dill's presentation to King George and Queen Mary of England in 1929. Dill did not want to go, he said, because of the expense. She promised to defray the costs "as she said it would look better if she were with her husband."

"I told her I would take advantage of the trip to study radio conditions in Europe," he continued.

While she was being presented at court, he added, "I just walked around the street; maybe went to a show, I guess."

Witnesses last week said Mrs. Dill had a slabwood pen built on the living room floor of her Spokane residence for three pups.

SAND FLIES THICK AS SAND STORM ON NORTH SHORE

In dense swarms which dimmed street lights and clustered on store fronts, the ephemerid made his yearly descent last night on Chicago and north shore suburbs, from Devon avenue north to No Man's Land north of Wilmette. To the pedestrian who batted the insects out of his hair, the ephemerida are known as sand flies, May flies, or Canadian soldiers.

One bus driver on Sheridan road said he had never seen the pests so thick before during the eight years he had driven the route. Pasengers atop the buses sought shelter inside from the gnat-like creatures. Streets in Rogers Park were covered with the flies, making driving slippery, and few pedestrians ventured out without their coal collars turned up or newspapers over their heads.

A few of the flies appeared over the week-end, but were not troublesome. After the warm rain last evening, they suddenly descended on the city in dense swarms, coming in from the lake. The average life of the sand fly after it leaves the larval stage, is from a few hours to two days.

QUEENA MARIO, OPERA DIVA, TO GET A DIVORCE

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—The Metropolitan Opera backstage romance between Queena Mario, soprano, and Wilfred Pelletier, was heading definitly for a finale today. Miss Mario left for a Reno, Nev., divorce last Thursday. She will be represented by George Springmeyer, Reno attorney.

"Professional reasons," was the answer Miss Mario gave recently when the pair separated. They were married in 1925. Miss Mario is one of the few American-born divas on the Metropolitan stage.

Born Queena Marion Tillotson, in Plainfield, N. J., she was a reporter on New York papers before going in for an operatic career. She is the author of a mystery novel, "Murder in the Opera House."

BRITISH VICTIMS OF JAKE FACTOR TO GET $1,800,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 29.—A total of $1,800,000 of the funds of John [Jake the Barber] Factor, wealthy Chicago stock operator, which is held by the liquidator of the Broadstreet Press, Ltd., is to be paid out soon, it was learned tonight. The money will go to shareholders and creditors. Although a court order was issued six months ago no action for distribution of the money was taken. The delay, it was explained, was due to the number of claimants and the difficulty of determining the rights of the thousands of persons whom Factor is alleged to have defrauded. The British government spent $60,000 and fought for three years in an unsuccessful attempt to extradite Factor from the United States.

DIVER BREAKS NECK; DIES.

Vincennes, Ind., June 29.—Eldon Waggoner, 21, former Lawrenceville, Ill., high school athlete, died in the Good Samaritan hospital last night of a broken neck suffered Sunday when bathing in the Embarrass river near his home north of Lawrenceville. He dived into shallow water.

STUDENT UNION IN ARMS OVER OUSTER OF COLUMBIA YOUTH

New York, June 29.—(AP)—The American Student union today threatened a "nation-wide" campaign for the reinstatement in Columbia university of Robert Burke, junior class president elect, who has been told not to come back in the fall.

The college and the union were in sharp disagreement as to just why Burke was dismissed, although both agreed the action came after the student's participation in a demonstration in front of the home of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, Columbia's president.

Dean Herbert E. Hawkes of Columbia college said the students had a right to conduct the demonstration—which was in protest against sending a delegate to a Heidelberg university celebration. But the demonstration itself, he said, was of a "disgraceful" character.

The union, on the contrary, said Burke was disciplined because of his activities in that body."

ASKS DIVORCE FROM KVALE, BAND LEADER

Alfred J. Kvale, widely known orchestra leader who is now in California, was sued for divorce in the Superior court yesterday by his second wife, Esther Mae Kvale, on grounds of desertion. The bill, drawn by Attorney Erwin F. Stolle, sets up that the Kvales were married on Nov. 25, 1929, in Zanesville, O., and separated on April 15, 1935.

Mrs. Kvale, who is 30 years old, asks in the bill that she be allowed to resume her maiden name of Ransbottom. Kvale, 35, is a son of the late Congressman O. J. Kvale, and a brother of Congressman Paul Kvale of Minnesota. The musician's first wife was Ethel Virginia Stanfield, a former "Follies" beauty and a Virginia belle. She divorced Kvale in 1925 on grounds of cruelty.

POLICE GUARD COW TO CATCH MILK HIJACKER

Hortense, who is the milk source for the family of Peter Babelis, 10040 State street, became yesterday the only cow in Chicago to have a police bodyguard. Babelis complained to the Burnside police that Hortense used to give two buckets at a milking but recently her output at regular milking times has dwindled to a scant quart. He attributed the reduction to a thief who has been milking her on the sly. Capt. William Stapleton detailed one of his men to see that Hortense, tethered in a vacant lot at 98th and State streets, surrenders her milk only to Mr. Babelis or his agent.

NORMANDIE HAS SECOND MISHAP; HITS THE PIER

New York, June 29.—(AP)—The French liner Normandie was involved in her second accident in 10 days today when, while trying to dock at ebb tide, the ship was swung by the wind so close to the pier housing that her flying bridge struck a steel girder and was buckled back nearly 15 feet.

The accident occurred at the Normandie's slip on the south side of the West 48th street docks.

The previous accident occurred in the English channel when the Normandie was struck by a British airplane.

Orang at Lincoln Park Zoo Ill with Pneumonia

Sonny, 11 year old orang-utan, is near death in the animal hospital at Lincoln park zoo. He first refused nourishment two weeks ago and pneumonia set in yesterday. According to Floyd S. Young, zoo director, the illness is common among orangs and is almost always fatal. Sonny, who weighs 200 pounds, came to Lincoln park from Borneo in 1927. Sonny's illness follows closely the death of Nancy, another orang-utan at the zoo last June 10.

Boy Bitten by Mad Dog Dies; Anti-Rabies Serum Fails

John O'Brien, 4 years old, 5126 South La Salle street, died in the County hospital yesterday of rabies with which he was infected when he was bitten by a mad dog on June 7. The dog was captured and destroyed, and the child began taking anti-rabies serum three days after he was bitten, but it was ineffective.

FARM BELT HIT BY MORE HEAT; MEET ON RELIEF

Wallace to Take Field on Drouth Survey.

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace will make a personal inspection of the drouth-stricken areas of the western states and especially in the northwest. This was made known today. Coincidentally a special committee appointed by Secretary Wallace to draft plans for relief of sufferers held a meeting and will have a preliminary report ready to lay before President Roosevelt tomorrow after his return from Hyde Park.

Although his itinerary has not been announced, it was learned that Secretary Wallace will visit twelve states in which drouth conditions exist.

Federal and state authorities were gathering tonight in St. Paul, Minn., to map plans for relief of thousands of farmers facing disaster in the west. Several governors, officials from resettlement offices, and Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator, were to attend.

Nebraska Wheat Hard Hit.

Lincoln, Neb., June 29.—[Special.]—W. B. Banning, director of the state department of agriculture, returning from a 1,500 mile survey in northern, western and southwestern Nebraska, today reported, "rain is needed everywhere." In Chase and Perkins county, in the extreme southwestern part of the state, he found winter wheat fields which indicated a yield of only six bushels per acre. Corn is curling under the extreme heat in some sections, he said, although generally a good crop is indicated.

Iowa Still In Good Shape.

Des Moines, Ia., June 29.—[Special.]—Iowa crops are in good condition generally and farmers of the state have little to fear from drouth at present, Charles D. Reed, government meteorologist, said here today.

"In Iowa our main trouble is heat," Reed said.

In some of the southern and western sections there have been several days of 100 degree temperatures which have adversely affected the crops. Reed said that general cooler weather would benefit Iowa more than rain, although he said some added moisture could be used to advantage in most of the state.

Kansas Corn Flourishing.

Topeka, Kas., June 29.—[Special.]—Kansas' corn crop is still flourishing but it will need rain soon. Wheat growers have gloried in the dry weather of the last few weeks and the harvest is practically completed, except in the northwest counties where the season is later.

All weather bureau and agricultural agencies agreed today that if it rains within 10 days the corn crop will be safe. Except in the southeast where the corn is tasseling, little damage has been done by extreme heat and dry weather. The subsoil moisture is sufficient to carry corn, the sorghums and other row crops for some time yet. Rain is forecast tonight and it is cloudy over most of the state. No live stock men are moving their cattle from Kansas.

Next Week Tells Tale.

St. Louis, Mo., June 29.—[Special.]—Missouri is being crippled by the drouth.

"Every additional day of high temperature and absence of rain is having damaging effects on crops," the weather bureau said today.

"Wheat and oats are about all harvested, with a fairly good average crop of wheat and a poor to fair yield of oats. Corn got a good start this season and was making good to excellent progress almost generally until about two weeks ago, when large areas began to suffer from drouth. It is needing rain everywhere and the recent hot rainless days are causing it to curl.

Little Hope in Minnesota.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 29.—[Special.]—Drenching rains, for which there seems to be little hope, are needed for even a meager crop in drouth affected areas of Minnesota, crop experts agreed today. While substantial showers brought some relief yesterday they came too late to revive crops burned out by the two month drouth.

Heavy damage to wheat and other grains were reported through more than half of the Red river valley section, chief of Minnesota's wheatlands.

15 Millions Loss.

Charleston, W. Va., June 29.—(AP)—An estimate of a 15 million dollar drouth damage to West Virginia crops came today from commissioner of agriculture J. B. McLaughlin.

"Our oats crop won't be more than one-fourth what it ordinarily would be; the pasture has been cut in half at least," he said. "The corn crop is hanging in the balance. If we get rains in the next two or three weeks, the crop may be saved."

Beat Illinois Heat Records.

Springfield, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—Burning winds across the central and southern section of the state today shattered heat records as farmers prayed for rain to relieve the drouth.

The mercury reached 102 degrees here, the hottest day in almost two years. It was 105 at Mount Vernon, and 106 at Mattoon and Bloomington for new seasonal high points.

Some of the other hot spots in Illinois were 101 at Quincy, 105 at Peoria [and still 100 after nightfall], Harrisburg 106, Carbondale 104, and Cairo 100. Across the Indiana state line, Evansville found the temperature at 104.

The central Illinois corn crop is in desperate need of moisture, crop experts reported. Oats, pasture grasses, and clover, all have been hard hit, and near Carbondale, the farmers have turned to a winter diet of hay for their cattle to keep up flagging milk production.

"Driest" in Oklahoma.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 29.—(AP)—Harry Wallgren, federal weather observer, today said Oklahoma this year experienced the worst spring drought in her history.

The average rainfall totalled 8.5 inches. Normally it is 16.82. The driest first half year previously registered was in 1910, with 10.04 inches.

Drouth and heat have created a serious situation. Pastures are burning up all over the state and all crops, except possibly cotton, are in dire need.

Pierre, S. D., June 29.—[Special.]—Old time residents of South Dakota insist that the drouth in a large area of the state is the worst in the last half century.

Small grain crops are gone for most of the state, and pastures so dry that cattle are being shipped out. There is no probability of a hay or forage crop for most of the state, even with late rains.

Southwest Texas Flooded.

Eagle Pass, Tex., June 29.—(AP)—This area of southwest Texas was flooded under driving rains today as the Rio Grande strained to carry its unusual burden of waters.

In a triangular area pointed at Eagle Pass, Del Rio, and Uvalde, downpours from one to two inches were recorded. Heavy rains also were reported throughout the rest of southwest of Texas.

Brothers Get Life for Slaying

LOSES PLEA FOR YOUNG BROTHER; BOTH GET LIFE

Elder Takes Blame in WPA Killing.

Russell Johnson, 24 years old, 2234 North Springfield avenue, and his brother, Max, 17 years old, yesterday were sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington in Criminal court for the holdup murder last June 12 of Frederick Engberg, 39 years old, 1748 North Francisco avenue, a Works Progress administration worker.

Although the brothers entered technical pleas of not guilty, each took the witness stand in a bench trial and testified how Engberg was killed when he resisted their attempt to rob him in an alley at Fullerton and La Vergne avenues.

Youth Tells His Story.

Max Johnson testified that while his older brother remained at the wheel of a stolen car he tried to force Engberg into the alley when the worker seized his arm. "I can't remember how the shot was fired," he said. "I tried to keep the gun and then it went off."

The younger brother testified that he had purchased the gun from a mail order house and that before starting out on the robbery tour he had drunk a half pint of whisky.

"No penalty can be too severe for these two," Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis declared. "Although the younger brother fired the shot both are equally guilty. Russell was the older brother and is morally responsible for his younger brother's action." The prosecutor said the older brother had sent the younger boy out with the gun while he remained in the car.

Pleads for Brother.

As Judge Harrington was about to impose sentence, Russell stepped up before the judge. "What Mr. Curtis says is true," he pleaded, "I'm morally responsible for this crime. If you let my brother off with 14 years you can give me any punishment you want."

"It's fortunate for you that your brother is only 17 years old," Judge Harrington said. "If it was you who fired the shot I would not have hesitated to send you to the electric chair. But I am going to give you life imprisonment to remove you both from society."

"Can't you make a difference and give my brother less?" Russell again pleaded. "I'm willing to take anything."

Judge Harrington denied his request and then imposed sentence on the two. Additional sentences of one year to life on two robbery charges to run concurrently with the murder sentences, were imposed on the brothers.

GIRL, 5, BURNS TO DEATH.

Richmond, Ind., June 29.—[Special.]—Louise Martin, 5, was fatally burned today when her clothing caught fire as she attempted to start a fire at the home of her parents.

CAT'S DISCOVERY SENDS POLICE TO NATURE BOOKS

Kankakee, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—The Kankakee police and a number of citizens were considerably astonished tonight when a colored resident carried an odd looking aquatic animal, which he asserted had been pulled out of Grinell creek by a cat, into the police station. The police, being indifferent zoölogists, pronounced the thing an octopus, but after consulting their nature books decided it was squid, largely because it has ten arms instead of the eight common to octopi. Everybody is agreed that no matter what the thing is, it certainly is something unique for Grinell creek to produce.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—(AP)—A. Balboni had a chance to bid in 30 pairs of shoes at an army goods auction for $15. Then he found he had been bidding on 630 pairs—all in one lot. Balboni took them home in his car. Today he began sorting them. They were all size 14.

I. C. C. TO STUDY PUBLIC SERVICE RATE REDUCTION

Edison Cut Intimated as Hearings Near End.

With hearings on the rate case of the Commonwealth Edison company before the Illinois commerce commission now drawing to a close, there are indications that the commission expects soon to turn its attention to a consideration of the reasonableness of the rates of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois. The commission has been conducting hearings on Edison rates for more than twenty months and there have been official intimations that a reduction will be ordered.

Public Service furnishes electricity to 331 communities in the northeastern part of Illinois, including such cities and towns as Cicero, Oak Park, Evanston, Berwyn, Joliet, Waukegan, Maywood, Chicago Heights, Kankakee, and Streator.

Make Preliminary Study.

Harry R. Booth, assistant counsel of the commission, who with Irvin Rooks, counsel, has been in active charge of the rate proceedings in the Edison case, stated yesterday that he is now conducting a preliminary investigation into the rate structure and earnings of the Public Service company with a view to recommending to the commission whether the company should be cited to show cause why its electric rates should not be reduced.

Two years ago the Public Service company was required to reduce its residential electric rates by 12.8 per cent. Booth said that since then the company has more than recovered all of the reduction in additional business.

Gross Revenues Rise.

Gross revenues of the company from electric operations, he said, are now substantially above what they were before the reduction went into effect and are, in fact, larger than at any time in the history of the utility. Electric operating revenues in 1933 were $25,700,000, while those for the twelve months ended March 31, 1936, Booth said, were $27,353,000, showing that the company, despite the reduction, which amounted to $1,300,000, has increased its revenues by more than $1,500,000 annually.

Booth pointed out that there are many communities in the state which are getting lower rates than the Chicago suburbs served by Public Service, and that many of these downstate companies operate in less thickly settled territory.

Compare Rates by Cities.

An official compilation by the commission shows that there are twelve companies in the state which have lower electrical rates than Public Service. Some have lower rates than Commonwealth Edison. Consumers in East St. Louis, Alton, Springfield, and Peoria all get lower residential rates than Chicagoans. In addition to these cities communities which get lower rates than the suburbs served by Public Service include Hamilton, Warsaw, Rockford and its suburbs, Rock Island, Moline, Bloomington, Decatur, Champaign, Urbana, Vermilion, Dallas City, Quincy, De Kalb, Belleville, Galesburg, and suburbs of Peoria and Springfield.

The compilation is based on the cost to residential users of 50 kilowatt hours per month. It shows that East St. Louis gets the lowest rate in the state, the East St. Louis Light and Power company charging $1.95 for the first 50 kilowatt hours. Chicagoans pay the Edison company $2.33, while suburbanites pay Public Service $3.13.

CARPENTER HANGS SELF IN ATTIC.

LAKE DRYING UP

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—France may change the course of a river in hot central Africa to save Lake Chad from drying up, Gen. J. M. Tilho, French army hydrographer, indicated today.

He told the Academy of Sciences a four month inspection of the region around Lake Chad, which once was the goal of three world powers as a great colonial prize, disclosed that one of the former tributaries, the Logone river, is changing its course and its water is being diverted from Lake Chad. Lake Chad, Gen. Tilho said, could be saved from shrinking away by bringing the Logone "back into line."

The large fresh water lake, lying in the middle of Africa and touching both French equatorial Africa and the British colony of Nigeria, has grown steadily smaller since white men first saw it about 112 years ago. During the dry season it is estimated to cover about 10,000 square miles, but this area is increased during the rainy season from July to October. Clay and sand islands are cropping up along its edges, and a town which was on its shores in 1850 is more than 60 feet away today.

WOMAN IS SHOT BY ROBBERS AT WHEEL OF AUTO

Mrs. George Turner, 40 years old, 2438 North Shore avenue, was in a serious condition in a hospital at Belvidere last night from a bullet wound inflicted Sunday night on a highway near there by three men who apparently attempted to rob her and her husband, a real estate dealer.

Mrs. Turner was driving her husband to Chicago, and a friend, Harry Byron, 4908 Quincy street, was asleep in the rear seat, when the gunmen drew alongside in their car. The radio was turned on loud, so she did not hear their command to halt. One of the robbers fired a shot which struck Mrs. Turner in the body. She screamed, "You've shot me," and then managed to stop the car. The other automobile sped away.

Turner told Boone county deputy sheriffs that the men probably intended to steal his wife's jewelry. In 1931 Turner was shot here by four gunmen in what police described as a renewal of the gambling war. Turner at that time was reported to be associated with Marty Guilfoyle, north side gambler.

FATHER OUTLINES REASON FOR RIFT OF A. C. BUEHLERS

Axel T. Halquist testified before Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court yesterday in behalf of his daughter, Mrs. Goldie Buehler, in her divorce suit against Albert C. Buehler, president of the Victor Adding Machine company. Halquist said he called on Buehler in an effort to patch up the estrangement, and Buehler told him that among the reasons for the estrangement after 14 years of married life were that his wife, who weighed 115 pounds when he married her, now weighs 130 pounds, and she had changed herself from a blonde to a brunette. Buehler is 39 years old and his wife is 36. She lives at 151 Abingdon road, Winnetka. Another hearing on the suit for a divorce will be held next Saturday. The Buehlers have four children.

VOTE TO INDICT EX-CONVICTS AS POLICE KILLERS

Three paroled convicts who have confessed the slaying of Policeman Jerome McCauley during a holdup on May 29 were reported named in true bills voted by the grand jury yesterday on charges of murder and robbery. They are Andrew Bogacki, Frank Korczykowski, and Paul Jenkot. Assistant State's Attorney Morris Meyers said the three would be arraigned in court tomorrow. Louis Tipescu, a fourth member of the gang who was not present during the slaying of the policeman, was named in two robbery indictments.

EXPECT 35,000 AT AUTO SAFETY RALLY TONIGHT

Mayor Kelly to Speak on Eve of Tests.

BY HAL FOUST.

A public massmeeting with a variety of entertainment will be held at the Grant park band shell, at the foot of 11th street, tonight to dedicate Chicago's compulsory inspection lanes. Police are preparing for a crowd of between 35,000 and 50,000. The program will start at 8 p. m. Admission is free.

During an evening of symphony music, operatic solos, swing tunes, comics, and gymnastics Mayor Kelly will deliver an address explaining briefly the compulsory motor car tests that will begin tomorrow.

Robert J. Dunham, president of the park district, will award medals to policemen who have distinguished themselves in accident prevention. George W. Fleming, secretary of the Keep Chicago Safe committee, will tell of accident prevention efforts, such as the elimination of the trafic ticket "fix" and the adoption of life saving eastern standard time.

Tests Begin This Morning.

The compulsory safety inspection, to be conducted jointly by the parks and the city, will open at 7 a. m. tomorrow at fourteen locations throughout Chicago. The tests are free, to be financed by city wheel tax revenue after the original $400,000 Works Progress administration allotment is expended.

Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, yesterday gave final instructions to policemen assigned to issue the O. K. stickers to cars that pass the tests. Those that fail to pass will be directed to return for a new inspection after repairs or adjustments.

The tests will cover headlights, brakes, steering equipment, windshield wiper, mirror, tail light, stop light, horn, and muffler.

Locations Selected.

The locations of the inspection stations for passenger cars are as follows: Court of Honor in Burnham park; Diversey Beach drive in Lincoln park; Portage park; Music court in Garfield park; Refectory hill in Douglas park; East drive in Marquette park; 59th street east of Rosenwald museum, in Jackson park, and St. Lawrence avenue in Washington park.

At the following locations trucks as well as passenger cars will be tested: Marine drive [the service drive of the outer drive], between Argyle street and Castlewood terrace; Sacramento boulevard in Humboldt park, between Grand avenue and Augusta boulevard; Sherman park, Calumet park, McKinley park, and Columbus drive and 31st street, in Burnham park.

Set Voluntary Period.

The stations, at least at the start, will be open twelve hours a day, closing at 7 p. m. During the first several weeks the tests will be voluntary. Later stickers will notify owners when and where to appear.

Tonight's program will be devoted more to entertainment than to the safety measure. Jimmy Henshel will conduct a 65 piece symphony orchestra. Evelyn Simmons, operatic soprano, will sing the national anthem.

Others on the program include: A chorus of singers and dancers from the State-Lake theater; Mangean troupe of gymnasts from the RKO Palace theater; Ruth Fisher Lipstone, lyric soprano; George Givot, comedian, and Ben Yost's Varsity Co-Eds from the College inn; Hortense Lore, coloratura soprano; Sylvia Clark, comedienne; the Gale Sisters; John Burdette, Mitzi Green, movie juvenile, and possibly Tom Mix.

MAY AUTO TOLL IN U. S. IS 2,970; GAIN OVER 1935

Automobile deaths throughout the country for the month of May totaled 2,970, an increase of 7 per cent over the 2,780 trafic fatalities during May of last year, according to a compilation of records made public yesterday by the National Safety council.

The May toll brought the nation's trafic deaths for the first five months of the year to 12,560, 3 per cent under the same period last year when 13,010 were killed.

In Chicago, according to the council, 315 persons were killed by automobiles during the five month period, as compared with 305 up to June 1 last year. Trafic deaths here continued to lead all cities in the country, including New York.

In New York City only 276 persons were killed in the five month period, as compared with 349 in the same time last year. During May 79 were killed in Chicago and 60 in New York.

Parents of Holdup Crash Victim

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Klautsch, whose son, Albert Jr., was killed by car of bandits fleeing from holdup in hand book, as they appeared yesterday at inquest in the Presbyterian hospital.

'Unaware' of Robbery

Several policemen, testifying yesterday at the inquest into the death of Albert Klautsch Jr., 18 years old, 3651 Wabansia avenue, asserted they did not know that the automobile which struck the youth at Wabash and Grand avenues on Saturday was occupied by men who were fleeing after holding up a gambling resort at 540 St. Clair street.

These witnesses declared that Duke Eyre, manager of the gambling house, who was injured when he fell off an automobile while pursuing the bandits, denied there had been any holdup. Eyre is now in the Henrotin hospital.

The police had no knowledge of the gambling resort's existence, they said, although Michael Nudo, owner of the barber shop in front of the place, declared it had been operating for more than a year.

There was no clue to the identity of the men who struck and killed Klautsch. They were being pursued by Sergt. Albert Schuetz and his detective bureau squad when the accident occurred. The sergeant stopped to take the youth to a hospital and the fugitives escaped. Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash said that the failure of the police to report the holdup would be called to the attention of Police Commissioner Allman.

3 MORE DRIVERS GET JAIL TERMS; ONE FOR 10 DAYS

Three more motorists were sentenced to jail yesterday in the campaign to curb trafic toll caused by drunken and reckless driving.

Maurice J. Roach, 50 years old, 6113 Woodlawn avenue, a lawyer, was ordered to serve 10 days in the House of Correction on charges of reckless and drunken driving. He pleaded in vain before Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty that he was not intoxicated, but ill from a drink of rice wine given him by a Chinese client, when his car climbed a curb two weeks ago in front of 2118 West Cermak road.

Joseph Scrne, 43 years old, 1117 Larrabee street, was sentenced to five days in the county jail by Judge Gibson E. Gorman in the Safety court on a reckless driving charge. His car was driven onto the sidewalk Sunday at State street and Chicago avenue, barely missing a pedestrian.

Quinman Ireland, colored, 21 years old, 6805 Langley avenue, was sentenced by Judge Gorman to five days in the House of Correction for recklessness. His automobile hit a parked machine Sunday at 43d street and Indiana avenue.

DRUGGAN RETAINS A RETICENT MIEN EVEN IN CIVIL SUIT

Terry Druggan, one time beer baron who operated seven breweries for Al Capone during the prohibition era, yesterday lost a plea that service be quashed in a civil suit filed against him by the Pennsylvania Oil company to collect a $287.70 fuel bill when he exhibited in court a reticence reminiscent of the gangster days.

Druggan appeared with his attorney before Municipal Judge Samuel Heller, contending that the service of the summons on Druggan was illegal on the ground that the plaintif took advantage of his appearance in a bankruptcy hearing on June 18 to serve the papers. Attorneys for the oil company asserted, however, that Druggan was handed the court summons outside the federal court.

Before the case was called yesterday Druggan objected to the presence of newspaper photographers. Persuaded to enter the courtroom, he was enraged when he encountered more cameramen. He jumped from his chair and snarled, "Why don't you let me alone?" His attorney protested that the presence of the photographers was embarrassing to his client. When Judge Heller denied the plea for a private hearing, Terry refused to budge from his seat to testify. The judge then denied Druggan's motions and ordered him to file an answer to the suit within 10 days.

BID IS HIGHER BUT COLIANNI MAY BE HANDED CITY JOB

Council Unit Reported to Favor His Offer.

Although not the low bidder, Sanitary Trustee Paul V. Colianni was reported in the city hall yesterday as likely to be favored today by a city council subcommittee with a recommendation that he be awarded a city contract for refuse disposal.

Colianni, who is a candidate for reelection, is interested in several refuse disposal companies. Under the name of the Illinois Development company he bid 28 cents a cubic yard to haul away by railroad refuse delivered by the city to loading stations at South Water and 26th streets. The General Disposal company, owned by John J. Bolger, bid 27½ cents.

Hewitt Favors Low Bidder.

Commissioner of Public Works Oscar E. Hewitt has recommended to the council finance committee that the contract be awarded to Bolger, the low bidder. Bolger showed the subcommittee a letter from the Illinois Central railroad stating he could have leases on the disposal sites if he got the city contract.

After this letter was submitted Colianni obtained leases on the two sites. His leases, however, according to the aldermen, carry clauses under which either party can cancel them on 10 days' notice, while Bolger has agreed that he will take standard leases requiring 60 days' notice.

It was reported that the subcommittee intends to disregard Commissioner Hewitt's recommendation and cite Colianni's possession of the leases as reason to favor him with the contract at the higher price.

The subcommittee is expected to report to the finance committee today so a contract can be taken to the council Wednesday. Several aldermen have expressed a desire to have the contract awarded as quickly as possible because without the use of the loading stations the city is put to more expense by longer hauls.

Wins $118,000 in Court.

The controversy in the subcommittee has served, the aldermen say, to cause them to review the city's experiences in the past with Colianni's concerns. The most recent one was the award to his Industrial Refuse Disposal company of $118,000 damages in a suit brought against the city in Superior court, charging the city failed to keep its part of a disposal contract drawn in 1931.

Three years ago Colianni's name was connected with that of Michael Carrozzo, head of several unions of city laborers. Carrozzo called out on strike city laborers who were employed at five dumps to unload refuse trucks. City officials at that time remarked that it was peculiar that city laborers working at dumps controled by Colianni were not affected although they belonged to the same union.

ORDERS RECOUNT TODAY OF VOTES FOR SERRITELLA

Sharpe Wins a New Tally in Fraud Contest.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday ordered a recount of the ballots cast in 31 precincts of the First and Eleventh wards in the suit brought by Attorney Horace M. Sharpe contesting the election of State Senator Daniel A. Serritella as delegate to the Republican national convention.

The recount of the votes cast for delegates in these precincts of the First Illinois congressional district will be started this morning in the offices of the board of election commissioners. Ten teams, directed by Chief Clerk John S. Rusch, are expected to complete the tallying during the day.

Objection Is Disregarded.

In ordering the recount Judge Jarecki disregarded the objection of Serritella's attorney, Elliodor Libonati, that the contest is a "moot" question as the convention is over. The judge said the charges of fraud brought by Sharpe were too serious to permit dismissal of the suit as is customary in such contests after the convention seats a delegate.

Serritella was seated by the convention in Cleveland through action taken on a technicality by the credentials committee. The committee had before it a six page affidavit filed by John F. Tyrrell, Sharpe's attorney, enumerating alleged frauds, but dismissed the contest on the ground it had not been filed 20 days before the date of the convention as the rules required.

Sharpe's claim is that although Serritella had a plurality of 181 votes on the face of the returns he actually would have been beaten by more than 410 if the ballots had been counted honestly. His evidence also shows that in eight precincts the total votes credited to the candidates exceeds the number of Republicans recorded as having asked for and marked Republican ballots in the April primary.

"Not at Home" to Contest.

The attorney, who lives at 2127 Prairie avenue, the same address as Serritella's, filed his contest in the county court about a month ago. Deputy sheriffs said they could not find the state senator at home, although Sharpe reported he could hear Serritella moving around in his apartment. Some of the time Serritella was in Springfield, where he voted against the permanent election registration bills, known as "honest election" measures.

Serritella is Republican committeeman of the First ward with the tacit consent of Michael [Hinky Dink] Kenna, Democratic ward boss. The recount is expected to show whether Serritella was entitled legally to the convention seat or was put in with the connivance of Kenna.

Year Old Suit Is Unserved.

Attorney Ollie Stone appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel Heller yesterday and complained that the municipal bailif's office had not served a summons in a suit brought against Serritella nearly a year ago by A. B. Huntley to collect $150 for a clothing bill.

Judge Heller said he would continue the case for two weeks and that if Serritella has not been found at the expiration of that time he will ask for appointment of a special deputy to do nothing else but look for him.

HORNER IS GUEST OF ROOSEVELT AT POLITICAL CHAT

Elevated Highway Need Also Discussed.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 29.—[Special.]—Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois this afternoon pledged the support of his state for the New Deal during luncheon with President Roosevelt at the Roosevelt family estate.

At the luncheon, during which Gov. Horner shared presidential attention with Frank Murphy, high commissioner to the Philippine Islands, discussion centered upon the fate of the New Deal at the polls in November.

During luncheon with the President Gov. Horner stressed Chicago's need for elevated highways to relieve trafic congestion in that city. The governor said the President was impressed by his plea for the trafic artery.

Killed by New Dealers.

The highway plan was presented to the administration early in the creation of the PWA and killed by the New Dealers. The governor said he had no assurance the project would be carried out under the new relief program.

As the luncheon party nibbled at cheese and crackers, President Roosevelt attempted to influence Commissioner Murphy to run for the governorship of Michigan. Murphy, who was mayor of Detroit before he moved to the Philippines, said he had not made up his mind on the Michigan political situation.

After persistent questioning he confessed that he will probably be a candidate for the governorship of his state. In the interview with Murphy it was said Mr. Roosevelt had registered success, although he had failed to win a declaration from Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York that the heaviest vote getter in the history of the state would lend himself to the New Deal.

Largely Talked Politics.

Gov. Horner said after he left the Roosevelt home that his meeting with the President, which was distinct from the Murphy interview, was centered largely upon politics. He insisted he had not sought the interview but was invited to Hyde Park by Mr. Roosevelt.

"Naturally," Gov. Horner said, "we discussed politics. I told him all indications were that the New Deal will carry Illinois. There is complete harmony within the party despite the bitter primary campaign.

"I told the President that he can be as sure of Illinois in November as I can. And that was merely understatement, because I am facing a more difficult political battle than he is, even though I am confident of success."

Gov. Horner reported that he did not think the third party movement of Representative William Lemke [Rad., N. D.] will take away any votes from the New Deal in Illinois. He declared that the state's farm vote is solidly behind the administration.

The visits of Gov. Horner and High Commissioner Murphy were Mr. Roosevelt's only interludes in a day devoted to rest. After the visits he packed his bags for Washington. He will head for the White House at midnight after two days with his mother at the family home.

KING OF ENGLAND LETS YEOMEN OF GUARD GET SHAVE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 29.—King Edward VIII. of England today issued orders that Yeomen of the Guard may shave if they so desire. Previously they have been compelled to have beards.

The yeomen, in scarlet and gold uniforms and flat Tudor caps, form the king's bodyguard. The corps was established in 1485 by Henry VII. and it is understood that beards became compulsory in 1901 when Edward VII. mounted the throne. Edward VII. was bearded and so was the late King George. But the present king is clean shaven.

"Older yeomen regret the change," one guard declared tonight. "In addition to being the oldest royal bodyguard, we had the distinction of being the only bearded corps in the service."

Travel Day Today

Today will be Travel day on State street. It is the second day in the five day State Street Council's Vacation exposition. Prominent merchants on the street will fly over the loop in the American Air Lines plane which ordinarily is engaged in making nonstop flights between Chicago and New York. The plane will take off from Municipal field shortly after 11 o'clock this morning and make a half hour flight.

An exhibit in the Palmer house arcade, to remain on view for the remainder of the week, consists of dioramas of vacation spots over the country and models of famous ships and trains. Fashion shows will be given in various stores, featuring smart travel costumes.

Yesterday was Children's day, when Boy Scouts helped mounted police handle the heavy trafic on flag bedecked State street.

Sen. Townsend, Delaware, Heads Campaign Group

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—Senator John G. Townsend Jr. of Delaware was appointed chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee today by Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, the Republican leader. Other committee members named were Senators Frazier of North Dakota, Steiwer of Oregon, Davis of Pennsylvania, and Gibson of Vermont.

COHALAN FIRES ANOTHER BLAST AT ROOSEVELT

Lehman Also Comes In for Caustic Drubbing.

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Daniel F. Cohalan, former justice of the New York Supreme court, who joined with Alfred E. Smith and others in signing a petition urging national convention delegates to put Franklin D. Roosevelt aside and nominate "a genuine American," today fired another blast at the President, New Deal leaders, and Gov. Herbert Lehman.

Charging that no political leader "ever has made on the eve of a fight such a confession of fear and weakness," the former justice, who remains a political power in the state, ripped into the party leadership which sponsored the "mechanized tribute to Lehman on Friday night, in which the Democratic convention in Philadelphia was forced to take a part." Indirectly he emphasized the New Deal's realization that without Lehman on the ticket the election may go badly for the Democrats.

Specifically, Justice Cohalan was referring to Gov. Lehman's seconding speech for President Roosevelt

Raps "Whistling in Dark."

Justice Cohalan condemned the rather dramatic convention strategy as an "event unprecedented in the history of politics."

"No group ever whistled more loudly," he said, "but they are licked; they know they are licked, and their action with relation to Lehman shows they are licked."

Then, apparently referring to the governor's continued silence, even after the convention cheering and his conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park on Sunday, Justice Cohalan said:

"Which is the more pitiable figure of the two? Roosevelt, who has had to get down on his knees— veritably to grovel in the dust at the feet of Lehman—or Lehman, who has exacted his pound of flesh and still holds off his answer? His vanity has taken its toll, but his fears remain.

Advises Him to Retire.

"It will be better for him to go back as a junior partner to his Wall street banking rooms—with the legend of greatness and invincibility about him—than to get out into the open and fight and take the drubbing he will get next autumn."

Mr. Cohalan spoke of Lehman as a governor who talks of social security while hundreds of thousands in the state are on the way to become paupers because of the press of taxation that prevents industry from putting them to work.

"What chance would the Democratic party have of carrying New York with such a candidate?" he continued. "The Farley-Roosevelt group had better give up their George III. attitude and let the Democrats of New York select their own candidates for office in the state of New York. The royal family attitude of appointing a colonial governor and his subordinates will not get far in New York state in 1936."

1932 Repudiation Recalled.

Frank A. Chase, legislative secretary of the National Railway council, assailed President Roosevelt and his New Deal policies and opposed his reelection in a speech at the Hotel Commodore today before more than 500 marine employes from the New York and New Jersey State Federations of the Port and Terminal Employés International association.

"It does not matter much what the 1936 platform of the Democratic party contains," he said. "The President repudiated the obligations contained in the 1932 platform. . . . We know that he will not feel obligated to carry out the new platform. . . .

"Mr. Roosevelt's reelection would mean the signal for full speed ahead on all of the alien-minded schemes of the burocratic and socialistic advisers of the President that would end in a dictatorship and the regimentation of labor."

The movement to draft Gov. Lehman for another term in Albany was renewed today as the immediate result of his conference with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park Sunday.

Maurice P. Davidson, chairman of the state-wide citizens' committee for Lehman, announced that subcommittees have been organized in forty-one of the sixty-two counties of the state and that a formal appeal to the governor to run again will be made within a short time.

President Roosevelt talked for half an hour with Gov. Lehman at breakfast in Hyde Park. There was little doubt in the minds of political observers that the President told Mr. Lehman it was his "duty" to run again in order to bring to completion his program for state social security legislation, defeated at recent sessions of the assembly.

Some persons in Hyde Park suggested Mr. Lehman now would have no announcement as to his intention until late in September on the eve of the opening of the Democratic state convention.

'GEN.' JACOB COXEY, 82, THROWS HIS SUPPORT BEHIND UNION PARTY

Massillon, O., June 29.—(AP)—Eighty-two year old "General" Jacob S. Coxey, wrinkle faced advocate of unorthodox economic views, swung behind a new political machine tonight to fight "the money changers."

Coxey withdrew as the Farmer-Labor party's candidate for President and said he would campaign for Representative William Lemke of North Dakota, presidential candidate of the new union party.

Long an advocate of non-interest paying public bonds, Coxey has been active in the past year promoting the Townsend old age pension movement. Forty-two years ago he led a march of unemployed on Washington.

U. S. LOSES FIRST TILT, DEFENDING SOCIAL SECURITY

Newark, N. J., June 29.—(AP)—The government lost the first skirmish in a court challenge of the constitutionality of the federal social security act today as Federal District Court Judge Guy L. Fake ordered arguments to begin tomorrow.

The jurist, who already has ruled two New Deal acts unconstitutional, rejected the plea of counsel for the government that the arguments be put over until September. He instructed Merritt Lane, counsel for the receivers of the Newark Milk company, to start his oral arguments tomorrow and said that at that time he would set the date for the government's reply.

The social security act is the third New Deal law to be attacked before Judge Fake in a little more than a year. On March 13, 1935, he ruled the NRA invalid, and a few months later, on July 19, he held the AAA unconstitutional.

The attack on the act is aimed specifically at its taxing provision.

LEMKE TO INVITE RIVALS TO MEET HIM IN DEBATES

Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota, standard bearer for the proposed Union party, said yesterday that instead of replying to the speeches of other candidates for the presidency he intends to ask those candidates—both President Roosevelt and Gov. Alf M. Landon—to meet him on the platform.

"There was nothing in President Roosevelt's speech at Philadelphia," he said, "that calls for comment from me. Later I hope to meet him and Gov. Landon on the platform. At least we'll extend them a very cordial invitation to meet us."

The congressman said he expects to open his headquarters in the Palmer house early next week. He plans to return to his home in Fargo today. He conferred here with Walter Baertschi of Toledo, O., about the problem of placing the Union party ticket on the ballot in various states.

VET GIVES G. O. P. BOND TO FIGHT UNSOUND MONEY

Ben Kallis of 6154 St. Anthony court called at Republican western headquarters in the Palmer house yesterday and presented a $50 bonus bond to Harrison E. Spangler, western director.

"Up to the present," said Kallis, "I never took any interest in national politics. But I have been thinking it over and have decided it is good business to contribute this money. I received about the maximum bonus for my 22 months service in the 33d division, and I figure that if Gov. Landon is elected President all of it will be good, dollar for dollar. If the New Deal dictatorship stays in I might not be able to buy a pair of shoes with the whole thing when the bonds mature."

Mr. Kallis announced that he would frame the $1 participation certificates which he will receive for his gift.

TRASH HAULERS REMOVE SCARS OF CONVENTION

Score of Trucks Carry Empty Bottles to Dumps.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 29.—[Special.]—The task of cleaning up Philadelphia after the official activities and the unofficial orgies incidental to the Democratic national convention was completed today, according to the bureau of street cleaning and trash removal.

The bureau was pretty proud of its record of sweeping, washing, and tidying the city within 36 hours after the delegates and other visitors took their departure. The bureau did it all in its stride, without the employment of additional men, officials said.

The End of A "Perfect" Time.

A procession of more than a score of trucks piled high with empty liquor bottles moved slowly toward the city refuse dumps bearing mute testimony to the end of a perfect time. Many of the bottles were broken—more mute evidence of the prevalence of the hurling of beer and whisky bottles that distinguished the early morning unofficial gatherings of Democrats in bars, cafés, and hotel rooms.

The Bellevue Stratford hotel, headquarters of the Democratic national committee and scene of the New Dealers' swankiest bacchanalia, was installing new panes of glass in the windows of the rooms on the interior court which were the special target of the exuberant bottle hurlers.

So far as the hotel management was advised there were no serious casualties of this peculiar form of whoopee. Other hotels suffered similar damages; similarly caused.

"Happy Daze," Cry Celebrants.

The great dining room of the Bellevue Stratford was jammed every night of the convention till dawn with a roistering congregation of serious drinkers, celebrating happy daze are here again.

Waiters, staggering under trays of highballs and glasses of beer squeezed between the tables over which the revelers were closely hunched together in an effort to make themselves heard in the alcoholic din. There were similar scenes in the other hotels and cafés.

There was virtually no intoxication observable. The Democrats demonstrated they could carry their liquor.

Whisky, Beer Favorites.

A small amount of champagne and some light wines were consumed, according to hotel and café managements. Whisky was the favorite tipple of those who drank anything stronger than beer, of which vast quantities flowed.

Hotel managers had nothing but praise of the delegates, at least for publication.

"They were so well behaved they might have been Republicans," said James Scanlan, assistant manager of the Benjamin Franklin. "They took about six dozen pieces of silver as keepsakes, mostly spoons and oyster forks."

Puts Spending at 10 Million.

If the estimate made by Mayor S. Davis Wilson may be believed, all records of spending by political convention delegates and other visitors were shattered. Mayor Wilson put the total at 10 million dollars. In the flush days of the bad Old Deal a Republican convention was worth about 5 millions at best to the entertaining city and a Democratic convention never netted more than 2 millions. The Republican convention recently in Cleveland was estimated to have brought about 1 million dollars to the hotels and merchants.

There was abundant evidence, however, that the New Dealers were well heeled.

Party Spends Lavishly.

The Democratic national committee, which, after three years of passing the hat is solvent once more, spent money lavishly. National Chairman Farley capped the climax when he picked up the telephone and said to the operator:

"Get me Claude Bowers at Madrid."

The operator was flabbergasted.

"Mr. Bowers is the American ambassador to Spain," Mr. Farley patiently explained. "It's a trans-Atlantic call. See how quickly you can put it through."

Then to reporters he explained:

"I want to see if Mr. Bowers heard the President's acceptance speech last night in Spain."

Gov. Landon Makes Ready to Chart Election Drive

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Estes Park, Colo., June 29.—[Special.]—Well rested after four days of riding and fishing, Gov. Alf M. Landon today turned to the consideration of politics in preparation for the arrival this week of at least two of his personal advisers.

Charles P. Taft, Landon's political adviser, and Ralph W. Robey, Columbia university economist, are expected to arrive here from Topeka either tomorrow or Wednesday. The governor said Representative William A. Ekwall of Oregon will stop here tomorrow to discuss details of the campaign on the west coast.

It was learned that W. B. Bell, chairman of the finance committee of the Republican party, will arrive here Friday morning to confer with Landon. Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, Republican convention keynoter, also is expected later in the week.

West Coast Tour Urged.

W. S. Rosecrans, Los Angeles delegate to the Republican convention, who is a prominent banker and rancher in California, greeted the governor when he drove into town for the press conference and urged Landon to visit the west coast during the coming campaign.

Mrs. Landon and the two youngest children, Nancy Jo, 3, and John Cobb, 2, accompanied the governor into town this morning. The family shopped in Estes Park while the governor posed for pictures and talked with newspaper men.

During the afternoon Gov. Landon and his daughter, Peggy Anne, 19, took a horseback ride through the mountains to Gem lake, Mrs. Landon cannot yet accompany the governor on long rides because of an appendectomy performed a year ago.

Rains Upset Fishing.

The governor, Mrs. Landon, and Peggy Anne planned to attend an outdoor steak fry given this evening on the shore of Mary's lake, near here, for visiting newspaper men.

Heavy rains yesterday and this morning have so riled the streams that the governor said he did not plan to do any trout fishing until the water has cleared up.

GOV. LA FOLLETTE DEMANDS 'PAY AS YOU GO' FOR U. S.

Davenport, Iowa, June 29.—[Special.]—A national "pay as you go" plan for governmental financing was urged today by Gov. Philip Lafollette of Wisconsin in a talk before 400 business men at a Rotary club luncheon.

"A pay-as-you-go policy forces governments to face facts," said Gov. La Follette. "We have followed that policy in Wisconsin for more than eighty years and have found it to be practicable and conducive to economy and efficiency in government. We in Wisconsin have no 'dead horses' to pay for. When our state raises a dollar to meet the problems of the depression, we have to dig down and bring up a dollar in cash. We cannot postpone or evade meeting the problems of unemployment by mortgaging the future."

The governor declared the budget of the individual citizen must first be balanced before the state or national budget can be balanced.

"It seems fundamental that we cannot have more by producing less," the governor said.

Gov. La Follette said there is more than 100 billion dollars' worth of wealth producing work waiting to be done in America, and 10 million unemployed persons eager to do it.

Progressives Plan Conference.

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—Senator Robert M. La Follette [Wis.] said today he expected to announce "within a month" the date and place for a national conference of Progressives to consider what action they will take in the coming presidential campaign. He said representatives from Farm-Labor and Progressive groups in all parts of the country would be asked to attend.

G. O. P. OFFICES HERE WILL MOVE TO NEW LOCATION TOMORROW

Republican headquarters in Chicago will be moved tomorrow from the Palmer house to the Railway Exchange building where until November they will occupy greatly increased space as the principal headquarters of John D. M. Hamilton, new chairman of the G. O. P. national committee.

The new location will provide approximately 150 rooms to head the many campaign divisions and bureaus which are to be laid out when Chairman Hamilton arrives here Thursday. His chief assistants are to be Harrison M. Spangler of Iowa, Arthur M. Curtis of Missouri and Charlton MacVeagh of New York. The main offices will occupy the third floor of the Railway Exchange. In addition the headquarters will occupy part of the fourth and all of the seventeenth floors.

"We'll be in high gear and ready to go at a moment's notice," said Spangler who has had charge of the Chicago headquarters up to this time.

Mayor Revokes License of Silver Slipper Tavern

Mayor Kelly yesterday revoked the liquor license of the Silver Slipper tavern, 1042 Leland avenue, of which Sam Marcus is proprietor. He acted upon the recommendation of the police department, which investigated after numerous complaints of disturbances in the place had been received by Capt. Patrick B. O'Connell of the Town Hall station. Informed upon his return to Chicago that other taverns had been found employing girls 14 to 16 years old as hostesses and entertainers, the mayor at once took action.

N. Y. ATTORNEYS LASH ROOSEVELT RECORD ON CIVIL SERVICE

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—The Lawyers Security league, 38 Park row, forwarded today to President Roosevelt an open letter criticizing the civil service record of his administration.

"It is an unfortunate truth that the civil service has not flourished in your administration," the letter says. "It is sufficient to point out that vast agencies of the government have been set up, such as the Home Owners Loan corporation, the Agricultural Adjustment administration, and the Works Progress administration, without the slightest regard for the civil service.

"Despite the existence of thousands of qualified eligibles on pending civil service lists not one of these has been called into service in these so-called temporary agencies. In addition, numerous permanent agencies have been created, but here, too, the civil service has been very largely neglected.

"These assertions are not based on hearsay and speculation, but result from the bitter experience of a great many of the 1,300 members of our organization, which is composed of lawyers practicing in the city of New York.

"Inquiry has revealed to us that the old rigmarole is about to be repeated in such new agencies as the Social Security board, where attorneys are to be excluded from civil service. We urge you to exert the influence of your high office to put a stop to these subterfuges once and for all."

POPE PIUS QUITS VATICAN CITY FOR SUMMER TODAY

VATICAN CITY, June 29.—(AP)—The infirmities of advanced age, combined with the approach of Rome's humid heat, will send Pope Pius XI off to his summer retreat at Castel Gandolfo tomorrow, many weeks earlier than usual.

For the first time the pope has followed the counsel of intimates. Previously he refused to leave the Vatican in time to escape the summer temperatures completely.

Prelates said the pontiff's decision is further evidence that he realizes he must take every precaution to conserve his strength. The pope was 79 years old May 31.

Three years ago he refused to leave the Vatican early, because, he said, all holy year visitors had a right to find him here.

He made two inspection trips to Castel Gandolfo in 1933, the first excursions outside metropolitan Rome he had taken since he was crowned.

Omit Tax on Roosevelt Acceptance Day Tickets

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—The treasury department has ruled that Democrats will not have to pay a federal tax on their Roosevelt "nominator" tickets. Department officials have determined that money thus expended was in the form of "contributions" rather than for tickets of admission, and therefore not taxable.

WOMEN FROM 25 STATES MEET TO BOOST LANDON

Toledo, O., June 29.—(AP)—Women delegates from 25 states, representing both Republicans and insurgent Democrats, tomorrow will organize a national coalition group to support the presidential candidacy of Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas.

Members said it appeared likely that Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith, Des Moines, Ia., would be offered the presidency of the organization. Mrs. Meredith is a Democrat, the owner of the magazine "Better Homes and Gardens," and wife of the secretary of agriculture in the Wilson cabinet.

An official name will be selected for the organization.

BORAH OBSERVES 71ST BIRTHDAY IN SILENCE ON RACE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—Still refusing to say whether he will support Gov. Alf Landon and Frank Knox for president and vice president, Senator William E. Borah, Idaho's veteran Republican insurgent, celebrated his 71st birthday today by cleaning up his office business and getting ready to leave for home tomorrow.

He asserted that his mind was not yet made up about running for reelection to the senate, but that he would make an announcement before the dealine for filing—July 11. This announcement, he added, would not necessarily include a statement of his attitude toward the Landon-Knox ticket.

Think He Will Run Again.

Intimate friends of the senator have little doubt that he will run for reëlection to the senate, where he has served continuously since 1907, on the Republican ticket, and finally indorse the Landon-Knox candidacies. However, he will do so, it is believed here, with reservations on the money question and with particular emphasis upon the enforcement of anti-monopoly laws and the maintenance of complete isolation from foreign entanglements.

Senator Borah was disappointed by Gov. Landon's interpretation of the Republican money plank to mean a return to the gold standard as soon as practicable, for he abhors the very mention of that term. However, he was satisfied with the money plank in the platform itself, which declares for a "sound currency to be preserved at all hazards," and opposed further devaluation of the dollar.

Interested in Sincerity.

Senator Borah has repeatedly declared that the sincerity and good faith with which a candidate will seek to fulfill platform pledges is of more importance than the platform itself, and his friends believe that, judged by this measure, there can be but one choice between President Roosevelt and Gov. Landon.

This is the opinion of Republican senators and Ezra R. Whitla, Republican national committeeman from Idaho, declared at Couer d'Alene today that he was "firmly convinced" that Senator Borah would support the Republican ticket. Whitla also predicted the reëlection of Senator Borah over New Dealer Ben C. Ross, governor of Idaho, by a 50,000 majority.

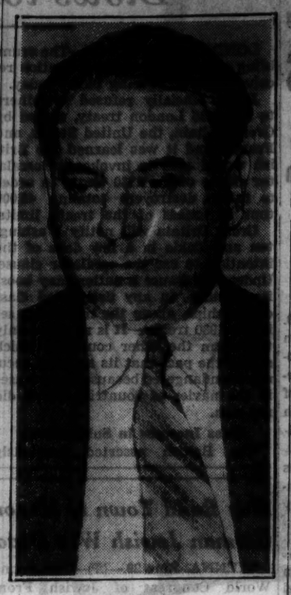
SHOOTS VISITOR



DR. MANDEL COHEN.

Acting Capt. William Byrne of the Hyde Park station declared yesterday that the mystery of the shooting Sunday night of Alex Polatsek, 45 years old, 11125 Watt avenue, by Dr. Mandel Cohen, 42 years old, 1374 Madison Park, an orthopedic surgeon, had not been cleared. Polatsek was wounded in both thighs when he called at the surgeon's combined office and home "to pay a social call."

Dr. Cohen, who disappeared immediately after the shooting, surrendered early yesterday at the police station and said he shot Polatsek, who was with two other men, in belief they planned to rob him. Confronted with the doctor, Polatsek declared Dr. Cohen had once befriended him and he could not understand why Cohen shot him.

Abraham Cohen, 5059 Ellis avenue, a brother of the doctor, told Acting Captain Byrne his brother had been nervous ever since Dr. Silber C. Peacock was murdered last January by a gang of young robbers. Dr. Cohen served overseas as a major in the medical corps. He is a staf member of the Englewood hospital.

Norman Thomas Ridicules U. S. Navy in Peace Talk

Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, ridiculed the recent naval maneuvers in the Pacific ocean in an address on pacifism before the Midwest Institute of International Relations at Northwestern university. The United States is spending more money on national defense than any other country in the world, Mr. Thomas declared, yet our country knows less than any other how to prepare for defense. United States Senator James P. Pope of Idaho will address the institute today, and tomorrow Secretary of Agriculture Wallace will speak.

CAMPAIGN COST SHEETS MUST BE FILED IN JULY

Washington, D. Senator Augustine Lonergan, the chairman, announced that questionnaires will go out early in July, to be followed by careful checks made against official expense reports required under the federal corrupt practices act, and with information obtained from other sources.

Rules regarding hearings and attendance of witnesses were also adopted at today's meeting, which was attended by the full committee composed of Senators Lonergan, Minton, Schwellenbach, Austin, and La Follette.

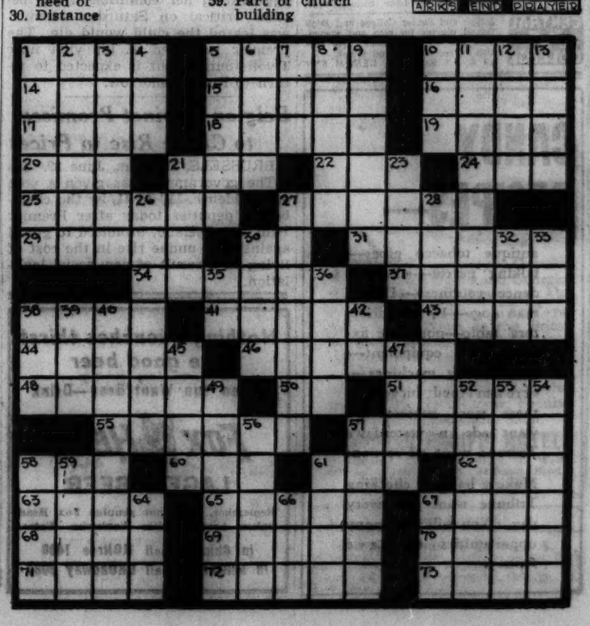
YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

FORESIGHT
by CALEB

THE world rewards foresight. The business man may be largely measured by his capacity for feeling out into the future. For every man who can chart a future course, there are ten thousand who can steer to it after it's charted.

All through the fabulous network of human relationships in which men have involved themselves, foresight is valuable. It spells the difference between recession and progress. It sets the leader apart from the follower.

In this regard, artists, poets, and captains of industry are akin. Anyone distinguishes the superiority of a diva's voice. But years earlier, there were few who would have caught the promise in the raw and untaught vocalization. Through the harsh and dissonant off-days, still someone had to vision the future—to have faith—to believe—to cling confidently to the golden possibility.

Maestros who have discovered and developed talent may frequently have had no greater gift for music and expression than lesser lights. But they have had foresight and fortitude—courage enough for themselves, and to encourage others.

The poet reaches into realms of the unreal. Instead of predicting the future his flights may be in any direction. But still he must have capacity for imagery—for interpreting feelings in words, as the business man must interpret them in actions. Great business acumen involves thought projection harnessed and economically directed. Great poesy involves thought projection unharnessed, in full flight, photographed in words.

The business man may evidence foresight either through an instinctive feel for the future or through using a scientific approach to his problems. By analysis and deliberate synthesis, he projects a practical future course based on the telltale past.

With each succeeding year, less may be safely left to chance in business. Not that all things are predictable. They aren't. We have had much experience in merchandising, and we know, for instance, that public sanction and approval of many things may not be safely predicted. But we also know that the stores which serve you best have reduced guessing to a minimum. Those stores are rewarded for foresight.

SCIENCE MUST BE VOICE OF PEOPLE, NAZI DECLARES

Heidelberg Honored on 550th Anniversary.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HEIDELBERG, Germany, June 29.—"The old idea of science based on a belief in the supremacy of an abstract intelligence is done for," declared Bernhard Rust, minister of culture, speaking today at the 550th anniversary celebration of Heidelberg university.

Professors from 23 foreign nations squirmed slightly when abstract intelligence was derided. Dean Lindsey Blayney of Carleton college, Northfield, Minn., paid tribute to Heidelberg on behalf of American universities. But, while many European delegates made the familiar Nazi salute when they reached the rostrum in the city hall, Blayney did not. A number of delegates from German universities likewise refrained from the salute.

2 Days of Goose Stepping.

After two days in which military bands and goose stepping, uniformed men held the center of the stage, scholars marched forth today in a glamorous procession in robes of all colors and cuts to listen to the official speeches of the rector of Heidelberg university, W. Groh, and the Nazi minister of culture.

On lookers were busy guessing and betting which of the gayly bedecked professors were men and which women, since the percentage of women professors taking part in the ceremonies is high.

Rust expounded his theory of the freedom of science, saying "It is truly free if it is an intellectual organ of the living force of the nation and of its fate."

By introducing a new national weltanschauung, or national philosophy, Rust holds the Nazis have provided the truly inspiring foundation for science in Germany.

"The task we set ourselves was too great for us to show a weak tolerance toward opponents who are enemies of self-confidence of the German nation," Rust explained.

Only Marxists Ousted.

The Nazi goal, he added, is to restore the faith of Germans in themselves, their future and their unity. He tried to convey the impression that only the Marxist professors opposing this rebirth were ousted from German universities, though most of the foreign official guests were aware that only a tiny group among the ousted professors could be accused of sympathizing with the Marxists.

Rust stressed the Nazi faith in theories of "blood, history, and the community" as opposed to abstract theories.

"We reject regimented science," he said, "but we shall not tolerate a political scholar who attempts to judge political deeds from an unpolitical plane. Nazism is so firmly convinced of the rightness of its fundamental discoveries in all branches of intellectual life that it feels it need not regiment science."

FINNS TO ELECT NEW DIET; REDS HIT IN CAMPAIGN

HELSINGFORS, Finland, June 29.—(AP)—Finland elects a new diet Wednesday and Thursday after a campaign marked by demands from bourgeois and Socialist parties alike that currents of communism and Fascism be strangled. Finland now has a so-called Fascist party, known as the National Patriotic league, with 15 seats in the diet. A national law prohibits a communist party.

Prevailing European unrest was reflected in the electioneering, with emphasis placed on national defense. Finland has retained a parliamentary government in contrast to the other Baltic states, Estonia, Lithuania, and Latvia.

Social-Democrats have the largest representation in the present diet with 78 members, but middle class parties form the actual majority. The present cabinet, in office for more than three years, is formed of bourgeois ministers with a progressive trend. The new diet meets Sept. 1.

ROME, June 29.—Anna Maria, Premier Mussolini's youngest daughter, was officially reported to be out of danger tonight after an illness of several days. The child became afflicted with infantile paralysis last week. Congestion of the lungs set in later, aggravating her condition which became critical on Saturday when it was feared the child would die. The premier remained at his villa near Tivoli tonight, but is expected to return to Rome tomorrow.

British and Japs Deal New Blows to Naval Treaties

LONDON, June 29.—(AP)—The crumbling structure of naval limitation received two staggering blows today.

Japan officially refused to adhere to the 1936 London treaty, signed by Great Britain, the United States, and France, and it was learned the British would shortly invoke the escalator clause of the 1930 treaty in order to retain destroyers totaling 40,000 tons in excess of the treaty limits.

Great Britain will notify Washington and Tokio in a few days of the intention to use the escalator clause. Under this clause a nation may boost its tonnage, in any designated class of warships, above the maximum set in the 1930 treaty. It is required only to inform the other countries which signed the pact that its national security is endangered because of increases in the navies of countries which did not sign.

Cites Increase in Submarines.

The British asserted previously that increased destroyer tonnage is necessary because nations which did not sign the 1930 treaty have built more than 200 submarines since it became effective.

The United States will benefit by Britain's action because all signers may increase destroyer tonnage on the same scale Britain does.

Observers said it was too early to judge the full effect of Japan's refusal to adhere to the new treaty.

14 Inch Limit in Danger.

It was agreed, however, that Japan's attitude jeopardizes and probably nullifies one of the main provisions of the treaty—the 14 inch gun limit on battleships. Unless Japan and Italy agree to smaller guns before April 1, 1937, 16 inch guns will continue to be legal.

Another clause which Japan's action probably nullifies calls for an exchange of naval building plans.

May Build Town to Honor German Jewish War Dead

VIENNA, June 29.—(AP)—The second World Congress of Jewish Front Fighters today considered a proposal to erect a model village in Palestine in memory of the 12,000 German Jews who died in the world war. The project was described as world Jewry's retort to the Nazis who ordered the elimination of Jewish names from German war memorials.

SHANGHAI, June 29.—The Gulf of Chihli and several hundred miles of Chinese coastline became "safe" for Japanese smuggling craft today when a fleet of Japanese destroyers headed by the Kiku from the naval base at Port Arthur began what the Japanese naval authorities described as "patrol duty in the Gulf of Chihli."

The action followed a conference of Japanese army, navy, and consular officers at Tientsin at which methods were discussed of preventing Chinese interference with Japanese cargo vessels transporting contraband merchandise to Chinese ports.

"To Prevent Incidents."

The Japanese did not mention the demand for the expulsion of Chinese armed craft from the Chinese coast north of the Shantung peninsula, but declared their intention to prevent further "incidents between Japanese ships and Chinese anti-smuggling customs cruisers."

[This was a reference to the action of Chinese customs cruisers last week in firing on and seizing two Japanese cargo vessels which the Chinese found carrying contraband goods.]

The Chinese are standing their ground, maintaining the legality of their action in firing on and seizing Japanese smugglers, but Chinese customs officials apologized for firing on and insulting the Japanese flag.

Commander Minoru Tajiri, resident officer at Tsingtao, upon instructions from Vice Admiral Koshiro Okawa, commander of the Japanese fleet, informed Chinese authorities that "Japan is determined to take measures considered adequate for future illegal activity against any Japanese vessel."

Bomb Canton Troops.

HONGKONG, June 29.—(AP)—Airmen of the Chinese central government in six planes showered bombs upon Kwangsi provincial troops near Wingchow today, said reports from Nanking. Trenches held by Kwangtung province troops in southern Klangsi province also were bombed in another action, the dispatches added.

[Kwangtung and Kwangsi provinces make up the southwest Canton régime, which has been threatening civil war upon the central government at Nanking.]

Striking at supporters of the central government, the southwest régime arrested ten persons at Canton, charging them with belonging to the Nanking "Fascist" movement.

LONDON, June 29.—(AP)—An appeal by Mrs. Charlotte Bryant, sentenced to be hanged for poisoning her husband, was dismissed by the Criminal court today. Mrs. Bryant, mother of five children, was convicted May 30. The prosecution charged the slaying resulted from her infatuation with an itinerant merchant.

MUZZLE BRITISH MINISTERS, FOES ADVISE BALDWIN

See Danger in Variety of Views on Policy.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 29.—An attack on Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin's ability to control the cabinet and condemnation of the government's foreign policy as weak and irresolute developed in the house of commons tonight.

The heaviest fire was directed at the speech of Alfred Duff Cooper, British war minister, in Paris last week in which he said: "Your frontiers are our frontiers." This was interpreted both here and in France as a demand for an Anglo-French alliance against danger from Germany.

However, the government won a vote of confidence, 284 to 136, in defeating the Labor motion to adjourn the house to permit a full dress debate on Cooper's speech and on the necessity for Baldwin to discipline cabinet ministers and curb isolated statements of foreign policy.

Baldwin Dodges Meeting.

Laborites, Liberals and not a few Conservatives raised the question of whether Cooper's speech was an official statement of government policy and if so why the war minister had been allowed by Baldwin to outline a policy differing from his own statements and those of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in last week's debates.

Baldwin dodged meeting today's onslaught of questions by prolonging his week-end stay in the country. Maj. Clement R. Attlee, Labor leader, referred to him as "Little Boy Blue, away sound asleep with sheep and hounds all over the place."

Sir John Simon, home minister, sprang to the defense asserting Cooper's speech was not a declaration of policy and was not in conflict with Baldwin's and Eden's statements. Winston Churchill, too, spoke in behalf of Cooper.

Country Uneasy.

The debate reflected the growing restiveness in the country during the present month over speeches of ministers outside the house which did not coincide with official statements of government policy.

Attlee said he did not object to an expression of friendly sentiments toward the French, but he objected to stressing the friendship of one country at the expense of another [Germany].

He said the ministers could not constitutionally make statements about high policy and then say they were not speaking on behalf of the government. He emanded that Baldwin make statements of policy in the house of commons and force his ministers to control their tongues.

Further attacks on Baldwin are expected later in the week. Tonight's debate clearly showed the intensified anti-war sentiment of the opposition. Certain Conservatives also showed fear that Reichfuehrer Hitler of Germany will be provoked longer in delaying his reply to the May 6 questionnaire for which both Great Britain and France are waiting anxiously to learn his stand on the Rhineland and Locarno crisis.

BOY BURIED ALIVE AT BEACH

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Ditch Collapses

Albert Westfallen Jr., 10 years old, 851 Leland avenue, was smothered to death yesterday when the side of a ditch, in which he was playing on the Lawrence avenue beach, collapsed.

Near by at the time was the boy's 3 year old sister, Arline. She sat down on the sand and wept until Works Progress administration workers, who were laboring some distance away, became aware of her presence and investigated. She was able to make the men understand that the boy was buried and they dug him out, but were unable to revive him.

The body was unidentified for several hours, the little girl being unable to tell his name or hers. Albert Westfallen Sr., father of the children, made the identification after reading of the fatal accident in a newspaper.

AUSTRIAN GUARD IDOL PROCLAIMS LOYALTY TO OTTO

Maj. Emil Fey Cheered by Veterans.

VIENNA, June 29.—(AP)—The tide of Austrian monarchist sentiment and propaganda reached new heights tonight following an open declaration of loyalty to Archduke Otto by Maj. Emil Fey, former vice chancellor and ousted head of the Vienna Heimwehr [home guard].

Fey referred to the Hapsburg pretender as the "kaiser of Austria" in a speech before the Veterans' association of the historic Vienna Deutschmeister regiment.

Pleases Legitimists.

Legitimists expressed pleasure at the declaration, which they said was unexpected. They regarded it as meaning the Heimwehr as well as the army will aid the monarchists' move to restore Otto.

"As we were loyal to Franz Josef and Karl, now we are loyal to Otto," Fey declared.

Fey holds the esteem of one faction of the Heimwehr, which is lukewarm toward Prince Ernst Ruediger von Starhemberg, who removed Fey from leadership of the Vienna branch of the organization.

The meeting's chairman was cheered enthusiastically when he said of Otto:

"We long for your physical presence just as you live in the hearts of Austrians."

Otto Sends Message.

The archduke sent a message to the veterans in which he said he accepted with joy all petitions by soldiers that he be their honorary patron.

"As the old Austrian army was mobilized for defense, so I hope the new army will be active only to repel aggressors."

Observers in some quarters immediately interpreted that phrase as an admonition to the little entente. Rumania, Yugo-Slavia, and Czechoslovakia, comprising the little entente, oppose Otto's restoration.

FRENCH TROOPS CALLED OUT AS ALGERIANS RIOT

PARIS, June 30 [Tuesday].—(AP)—Street fights and labor riots among French and native workers in Algeria brought troops and armed guards to three strike centers today.

A detachment of guards left Bona for the interior, where 400 striking native miners attacked a freight train late yesterday and exchanged shots with a police escort.

Troops were stationed on all streets leading to the Jewish quarter of Oran, following a clash between Nationalists and leftists, in which one person was fatally injured and a dozen others wounded.

MARIBOR, Jugo-Slavia, June 29.—(AP)—Twenty-five persons were arrested today for alleged participation in what police described as a plot to organize a communist putsch in Slovenia. The prisoners included a high school teacher who was said to be the leader of the alleged conspirators.

NEAR ALL TIME JUNE MARRIAGE LICENSE RECORD

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn last night predicted that this June will be a banner month of all time in the number of marriage licenses issued in Cook county. When the license bureau closed at 5 p. m. yesterday, 5,607 licenses had been issued this month, only 132 less than the record total of 5,739 in June, 1929. "There seems to be two reasons for the increase," said the county clerk. "First, the depression is lifting and, second, payment of the bonus was a great impetus toward marriage."

PALESTINE TOWN FINED $1,500 FOR ATTACK ON POLICE

JERUSALEM, June 29.—(AP)—Four Jews and three Briton constables were wounded today as Arabs continued their campaign against Jews and government forces. The disorders, now in their eleventh week, have cost the lives of more than 140 persons, according to unofficial estimates, including 41 Jews and 90 Arabs.

The constables were wounded during an Arab mob attack on the police station at Beisan. One of them was reported in a serious condition. Collective punishment of $1,500 was immediately imposed on the Arab town for the attack.

Arabs ambushed a bus caravan en route to colonies in the Tel Aviv district and wounded two Jewish drivers. Shalom Bronstein, volunteer watchman, was wounded during an attack on the Jewish colony of Zichron Yacob and a fourth Jew was shot during a fierce midnight attack by Arabs on the cooperative settlement of Mesilah. Troops repelled the attackers with machine guns.

FRENCH REDS FLAY FASCIST PLAN TO FORM NEW PARTY

Demand "Cross of Fire" Be Quickly Dissolved.

PARIS, June 29.—(AP)—Communists called today for speedy dissolution of Col. François de la Rocque's new rightest party, formed for "conquest and power" in uneasy France. Manifestations of political unrest continued, and strikers held their positions on scattered fronts.

Police dispersed another Nationalist demonstration at the rekindling of the flame at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, beneath the Arc de Triomphe.

Drenched by Firemen.

Twenty-five unemployed men occupied the town hall at Sausheim, a suburb of Mulhouse, and raised the tricolor and the Red flag. Firemen routed them by pouring streams of water from fire hoses through the windows of the building.

Verbal hostilities between rightists and leftists were due for a chamber of deputies airing tomorrow in debate on the government decree dissolving the Croix de Feu.

Announcement of De la Rocque's units.

plans for a new rightist party was ccuntered by organization of a "popular French party" by Jacques Doriot, former communist deputy. Communists also attacked De la Rocque's declaration he was prepared to take power "illegally" if necessary.

The general Confederation of Labor made official announcement its enrollment, following the recent strikes, was now approximately 3,500,000 members.

Yanks Turned Into Streets.

NICE, France, June 29.—(AP)—Three American tourists reported to the police today they were forced to spend last night in the open because of a lockout of hotel employés.

The two men who gave their names as Thomas O. Colwood, 32, and John C. Bryant, 40, of Lexington, Ky., were taken to the police station by gendarmes, who charged them with creating a public disturbance by singing in the streets. They were released when police said they declared they were forced to walk the streets because they were unable to find hotel rooms.

A third man who told police he was Andrew Miller, a lether manufacturer of Dayton, O., went to the station house to report he had lost a bunch of keys while sleeping out on the beach.

Mussolini Orders Bonus for Soldiers in Ethiopia

ROME, June 29.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini ordered a bonus today for soldiers and Black Shirts who served in the Ethiopian campaign. Privates will get 200 lire [about $15] and officers a month's pay. Il Duce also issued orders for the return of several army contingents from Ethiopia. The troops will be demobilized on their return and will be replaced in part by workers sent from Italy who have been organized in Africa into semi-military units.

GOV. HORNER'S GRUDGE FIGHT.

Gov. Horner has carried his political feud with Mayor Kelly to such an extreme of resentment that he has included the entire city of Chicago in it, although it is his home city and for years it gladly gave him what he wanted in judicial position. Mr. Horner may think that the Cook county Democratic organization treated him very badly when it told him he could not be renominated for governor. The event proved that he could be and, although the controling Democratic organization in the county carried it against the governor, many Chicagoans again voted for him in the primaries.

Now Mr. Horner, knowing that the city officials he does not like are facing a problem of human needs in a suddenly acute form, refuses not only to coöperate for a solution but, more than that, vetoes bills passed by the legislature which would enable the various communities to take over the responsibility of caring for dependent people with some chance of success. He is refusing to allow a distribution of the occupational tax receipts sufficient to meet the needs of these people.

That special tax in the beginning was a relief tax. That it was diverted to the general revenue of the state was due to the foolish optimism of the New Dealers who thought they could get rid of the depression in less than a year and a half. Mr. Horner is making a political record of abolishing the state property tax by taking the money originally intended for the relief of impoverished people of the state and he is building up a state reserve fund by ignoring the misery which is bound to occur where localities cannot find the money.

All this is in spite of the fact that a new relief tax on general property fairly comparable to the old general property tax of the state is to be levied. That is, the state now has a 3 cent tax on sales, the communities must assess a new relief tax, and still Cook county will be about a million and a half dollars a month short of meeting the expenses of relief, with the federal government doing nothing outside of the pay checks of the Works Progress administration.

It isn't the fault of the communities or of the dependent people that Gov. Horner and Mayor Kelly had different ideas as to the availability of the governor for renomination this year. Mr. Horner had the better part of that argument, but his success left him with so much bitterness that in continuing his factional fight against his party opponents he is willing to sacrifice his home city to make more trouble for men he doesn't like. If he doesn't see this thing in its true light it is certain that a great many other people will.

AGAIN, WHOSE HIGHWAYS?

The Voice of the People has heartily seconded a recent editorial contention of THE TRIBUNE—that the public should be able to "drive to Milwaukee" without spending a substantial part of the time weaving around caravans of intercity freight trucks. There were even suggestions that commercial road trafic should be forbidden by law, but that would be going to extremes. The discussion resolves itself into a single pertinent question — Why is truck transportation between large cities necessary when the highway parallels an efficient steam railroad? The answer is that the service of the latter is unsatisfactory on several counts. A little research will further disclose that dissatisfaction arises from clumsiness induced by rigid rules, regulations, and rates that may be altered only after nation-wide investigation. Generally so much time is consumed in weighing the merits and demerits of a new practice that the suggested improvement is outmoded before its application is authorized. The railway giant is badly afflicted with "lead in the pants."

Every manufacturer endeavors so to price his merchandise as to insure the widest possible sales and still produce a profit. The same principle, what the trafic will bear, applies to the sale of transportation. All freight rates had their origins in this economic law and formed a very delicate adjustment between cost of production and retail price. In recent years, however, the adoption of "scientific rate making" claptrap by the interstate commerce commission has so distorted the picture that much of the freight has been forced to desert the railway right of way and take to the public roads.

What is the cure for crowded highways? The politicians' answer has been more of the same poison that caused the original infection — to create a highway trucking industry through the motor carrier act. The merchant is to be offered the choice of two forms of transportation—one on the railway, the other on the highway—and the motorist be damned. As usual, congress is willing to sacrifice economy and efficiency in the interests of burocratic domination. The plan entirely overlooks the stubborn reality that a single freight carrier can do the whole job more cheaply on the mass movement principle, so the economic answer to the highway problem is to give the railways the opportunity so to adjust their charges that intercity trucking will be unprofitable. They can do it and vastly improve their financial condition at the same time.

Rail management must immediately modify its theories of transportation pricing. The principle of "what the trafic will bear" must continue as overlord, but the "price of handling by truck" and the "cost of private transportation" must be members of the cabinet. The railways now offer carload rates for basic or staple commodities and less than carload rates for small shipments. Highway transportation has introduced a new element, the truckload, which the rails must duplicate. Container cars offer the germ of an idea, but they must have a rate schedule all their own.

Patching the old system will not suffice. There must be a complete transformation, so radical in character as to catch the public fancy and dispel the thought that the railways are outmoded or senile. Chicago railways have made certain timid steps along the right lines, but they should follow with a determined assault over the entire front. Fear of the interstate commerce commission should be forgotten. The public will be solidly behind a plan that will at once produce better transportation and restore the highways to the motorist—which means all of us.

GALLANT INDUSTRY.

Recent announcements of heavy purchases of locomotives and freight cars by the Southern Pacific, the Wheeling and Lake Erie, the Northern Pacific, and a dozen other railroads should remind the public that the real forces of recovery, guided by private initiative, are commencing to assert themselves in spite of political interference that has amounted to persecution. As in the reconstruction years following the panics of 1873 and 1893 transportation will be an outstanding leader in the drive to end the depression.

Following the business collapse of 1929 railway gross earnings receded from a grand total of over six billion dollars per annum to a low level of three billion dollars in 1933. The result was a reduction of nearly three billions in purchases and employment, not only in railway ranks but also in the heavy industries. The railways are among the largest individual buyers of steel and, of course, the rolling stock companies are almost entirely dependent upon them. The jobless thus created were handed a pick or shovel by politics and told to dig a ditch that was frequently useless or to tear up what in many cases was a perfectly good pavement.

With gallant industry in the face of every discouragement and oppression doggedly producing Diesel engines, new types of airplanes, air conditioning systems, autos and trailers, there is an upturn in railway car loadings and consequently in railway gross earnings. This money in turn passes through the purchasing departments of the railways to produce work in locomotive and car shops and recall the mechanics and laborers to useful, lucrative, and congenial work.

PRIVATE YACHTS NEXT.

That planned economy is producing the more abundant life—for the planners—seems quite evident from a recent congressional survey of Washington's trafic problem. Perhaps the ownership of an automobile is no longer an indication of wealth, but "two cars in every garage" is certainly evidence of affluence. It will, therefore, be interesting to the taxpayer to learn from Washington's auto register that there is one car available for every 2.6 persons, by far the highest ratio in the world. Philadelphia, as an instance, boasts one machine for every 8.5 persons, Chicago one for every 7.15, and Pittsburgh one for every 9 residents. Detroit, the motor city, has 4.03 population for every motor car.

But even with this array of equipment available, the government employé apparently leaves his two cars at home for the use of wifey and children. Of course, he will not use public transportation—street cars and buses—they are not sufficiently snooty. He calls one of the 4,000 taxicabs that roam Washington streets—one for every 125 persons, which is another world's record. Boston, the capital's nearest rival in this respect, has one taxicab for every 500 persons.

Of the 165,000 individuals gainfully employed in Washington, 112,000 are on the federal pay roll. Apparently, the odd 53,000 use street cars and public buses, as the survey indicates that only 40% of Washingtonians enter the downtown section in public vehicles. For comparative purposes, 85% of the populations of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Chicago and other metropolitan areas are satisfied with the trolleys, subways or buses.

Burocracy is flourishing in Washington—the highest ranking city in the world for per capita expenditure in retail trade. This is one result of the addition of 50,000 names to the federal pay roll, and the country at large pays and pays and will continue to pay.

Editorial of the Day

A TRIBUTE TO THE SCOTCH.

[Brooklyn Eagle.]

European caricaturists and cartoonists long ago acquired the habit of using a kilted figure, often playing the bagpipes, as a symbol of Great Britain. Germans, Russians, Italians, and French still have recourse to the symbol on occasion. Only recently Le Rire, organ of the French Right, published a caricature of M. Herriot garbed in Highland panoply and piping a chant that ran, "All to England, all for England," while M. Blum was presented also appareled in kilts and piping a march that called upon his country to "fight for England."

If the substitution of Sandy McPherson for John Bull is uncomplimentary to the English, it should be flattering to the Scotch. Of all racial costumes the Highland array is perhaps the most picturesque. An English writer who was in Paris when the allied armies entered the city after Waterloo observed that the crowded streets acclaimed the Highlanders but remained silent when other troops went by. It could not have been the red coats, characteristic raiment of the hated English; it must have been the vari-colored tartans, the sporrans, the bare legs, and above all the weird music of the pipes.

There is no other music quite like that of the bagpipe. Many people who have had it inflicted upon them are glad that there isn't. Perhaps the continental artists who use the Scot with his pipes as a symbol for Britain think they have hit upon something that offends English sensibilities. But the English are, fortunately for themselves, not a touchy people.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

TOMORROW is the First of July, not the Fourth, but where they sell fireworks the Fourth begins on the First. Many an active, up and coming lad is able to blow off a finger or two or fill his face full of gunpowder long before the Fourth. I was such a one. A number of us small patriots years and years ago began firing a toy cannon at daybreak on the first day of July to get a good start for the Fourth. It was the second day of July, I think, when as cannoneer I was impressed with the idea that our cannon didn't give forth enough noise to notify people a half mile away that the glorious Declaration of Independence had been passed by congress and that all of us, even those benighted people living a half mile away, were free of the cursed English yoke. I filled that cannon half full of giant powder and shingle nails and wet grass for wadding. When the cannon was fired it exploded and blew the cannoneer full of shingle nails and small pieces of cannon besides setting fire to the barn. It was not exactly the "shot heard around the world" such as was fired at Lexington, but it was a success. I got two shingle nails in the ankle and a spanking, but I've never received a pension. And yet we young patriots were telling the world that America was free, Republics, as has been said before, are always ungrateful.

ON THE SEA.

Where now the petty voices that annoy,
The little men who fret the patient land?
And where are they who eagerly employ
Their days to rear proud palaces of sand?
Far, far away their palpitating cries—
For them the strife, for us the balm of sleep.
Whatever powers control the winds and seas,
Grant unto us forgetfulness of care,
Of raucous city streets. O healing breeze,
Blow through our thoughts, with us your cleanness share.
Inspire our hearts, our failing sight renew,
That we may see life whole, and see it true.

THE SUFFERINGS of the American tourists in France as the strikes spread are getting so terrible we may have to send relief ships to bring them home. A New York woman reports she has been unable to take champagne baths for several days and stories have leaked out of tourists not being able to get cigarets or Scotch whisky. The sufferings of the victims are said to be terrible. Let relief ships loaded with champagne, Scotch, cigarets, and other of the necessities of life be sent at once. Write to your congressman today.

I'M NOT GIVING any loud cheers for Mr. Roosevelt because he started the Democratic campaign only a few hours after the convention in Philadelphia adjourned. The later they start political campaigns with all their brass bands and spellbinders and uproar the better it suits me. I think Gov. Landon is doing a noble service to humanity in catching rainbow trout and holding off his acceptance of the nomination until the end of July. If I had my way I would set all the candidates catching rainbow trout until fifteen minutes before the polls opened in November. And if they couldn't present the burning issues of the day and save the country in a quarter of an hour they'd just be out of luck, that's all.

Or Damon, lad, and Pythias

When the damword thou dost find,
Pronounce it like a rational being
—instead of saying "wind."

MR. ZIONCHECK, the w. k. congressman from Seattle, is loose again. But hasn't congress adjourned and aren't they all loose again? How can the keepers pick out Zioncheck from the rest of 'em? If they talk to the constituents in many congressional districts there'll be a lot of people who will convince the keepers that their congressmen are worse than Zioncheck. Especially the loyal constituents who lost out on being postmaster and who didn't succeed in picking up any other nice jobs.

CHECK SKIN CANCER.

As a lad I read a story that impressed me greatly. The scene was laid in Holland, where tracts of fertile land had been wrested from the sea through the erection of huge dikes. A little Dutch boy walking beside one of these embankments espied a tiny break into which he promptly thrust his arm. After what seemed to him an interminable delay, help finally came and with it the repair of the dike. The lad was hailed as the savior of the region, as all well knew that, had the break not been discovered in time, a torrent of water would have inundated the fields.

The story of the Dutch lad is reënacted thousands of times every day through the coöperation of physicians and patients in the detection and removal of tiny tumors, moles, growths, and ulcers that constitute cell masses in what we call the precancerous stage. Many of us have known of cases of cancer of the skin — tiny areas which ulcerated and failed to heal as would an ordinary wound.

Let us consider some few of the many tumors to which the skin or the mucous membrane is susceptible. There is a peculiar condition known as leukoplakia, which sometimes occurs in the mouth and is characterized by whitish, patchy areas. Many authorities believe these thickened or furrowed lesions are well nigh as important as foul and jagged teeth in bringing about the development of cancer. The surface is glistening and may appear to change in color, much like an opal, when viewed in a good light. Lips, tongue, and cheeks are commonly affected, particularly in those who smoke excessively. Fortunately we have a means at hand which is usually effective for removal. Treatment includes avoiding all irritating foods and stopping the use of tobacco. The teeth should be maintained in excellent condition. If necessary, the thickened parts of the membrane may be burned away by means of electrocautery.

In older persons, usually those past 60, the skin about the temples, the cheek bones, and on the backs of the hands—in other words, the parts exposed to the weather—often exhibits flat or slightly raised blemishes. These may occur in groups, and vary in size from a pea to a 10 cent piece; in color from yellowish brown to dark gray. Sometimes they will undergo ulceration. In no case should these lesions be allowed to persist for longer than a few weeks without careful examination and proper treatment, particularly if they are increasing in size or have become sore.

In many instances workmen who are more or less constantly in contact with tars and oils, such as creosote, benzene, coal tar, lampblack, or aniline, develop thick, precancerous growths. Favorite sites are the hands, forearms, and face, and the danger signal lies in their enlarging or becoming fissured, furrowed, or cracked. Prompt surgical removal is indicated.

Years ago but little was known about the importance of colored [pigmented] moles. Today we understand how dangerous these affairs may become, particularly if subjected to irritation. The most vicious are the small blue-black or slate colored patches which may be but slightly raised above the surrounding tissue. Sometimes they are very tiny, but from some unknown cause may begin to grow suddenly. Most of them bleed easily when injured, and sometimes they will show fine projections of pigment cells extending into the adjacent normal skin. In such a situation we may be facing the spread of a cancerous tumor. There is a general but perfectly safe rule that moles located in any part of the body where they are subject to pressure, rubbing, or any sort of stimulation, should be removed. The amount of normal skin that must be included varies with the type. Surgery is usually the most effective method of eradication, although both X-ray and radium are powerful curative aids.

All in all we can say with reasonable certainty that skin cancer is the easiest cured of all forms, but it must be caught before dissemination occurs to deeper structures such as lymph channels or blood vessels. Of course, every blemish is not important, and there may be scores of skin discolorations or slight thickenings of no significance whatsoever. Nevertheless, if one of these areas begins to enlarge in an individual past 50 years of age, common safety demands an investigation.

TICK FEVER.

H. C. writes: I expect to spend my vacation in Wyoming and will be in a wooded region. What is the value of vaccine against Rocky mountain tick fever?

REPLY.

The Spencer-Parker tick vaccine is protective. It must be given properly and under aseptic precautions. Two injections of two cc. each are required. The favorite site is beneath the skin, one-third of the distance down the arm from the shoulder. One should not rub or scratch the point of the inoculation.

LUMP ON BACK.

E. L. writes: I have a small lump on the lower back which disappears at times. What causes this?

REPLY.

Probably a sebaceous cyst which discharges and then later refills. It is probably harmless. Should it increase in size or become infected seek skilled aid without delay.

THE CONSTITUTION

Q.—How many federal laws signed by President Roosevelt have been declared invalid.

A.—10 federal laws at this writing [April 14, 1936]. During the country's first 75 years, only 2 laws were held unconstitutional.

Q.—Is the President sworn to preserve the constitution?

A.—By the presidential oath: "will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

TO THE PEOPLE OF AMERICA

Executive decisions are made by ONE president.

Judicial decisions are made by a majority of FIVE out of nine justices.

New Dealers demand a two-thirds vote of the Supreme court.

But they have ABOLISHED the two-thirds vote for nomination.

They have adopted MAJORITY rule.

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., June 30, 1787.—In convention. The motion of Mr. Elsworth of Connecticut resumed for allowing each state an equal vote in the second branch. Mr. Wilson of Pennsylvania did not expect such a motion after the establishment of the contrary principle in the first branch. The gentleman from Connecticut had pronounced that if the motion should not be acceded to, of all the states north of Pennsylvania only one would agree to any general government. He hoped the alarms exceeded the cause. But should the deplored event happen it would neither stagger his sentiments nor his duty. If the minority of the people of America refuse to coalesce with the majority on just and proper principles, if a separation must take place, it could never happen on better grounds. The votes of yesterday against the just principle of representation were as 22 to 90 of the people of America. Can we forget for whom we are forming a government? Is it for men or for imaginary beings called states?

"When a Broad Table Is to Be Made."

Mr. Elsworth: The capital objection of Mr. Wilson "that the minority will rule the majority" is not true. The power is given to the few to save them from being destroyed by the many. If an equality of votes had been given to them in both branches the objection might have had weight. Mr. Madison of Virginia reminded Mr. Elsworth of the Lycian confederacy in which the component members had votes proportioned to their importance and which Montesquieu recommends as the fittest model for that form of government. In reply to the appeal of Mr. Elsworth to the faith plighted in the existing federal compact he [Mr. Madison] remarked that the party claiming from others adherence to a common engagement ought at least itself be guiltless of a violation. Of all the states Connecticut was perhaps least able to urge this plea. The legislature of that state had by a pretty recent vote positively refused to pass a law for complying with the requisitions of congress and had transmitted a copy of the vote to congress.

He [Mr. Madison] admitted that every peculiar interest, whether in any class of citizens or any description of states, ought to be secured as far as possible. But he contended that the states were divided into different interests not by their difference of size but by other circumstances, the most material of which resulted partly from climate but principally from the effects of their having or not having slaves. These two causes concurred in forming the great division of interests in the United States. It did not lie between the large and small states. It lay between the northern and southern, and if any defensive power were necessary it ought to be mutually given to these two interests. He was so strongly impressed by this important truth that he had been casting about in his mind for some expedient that would answer the purpose.

Dr. Franklin: The diversity of opinions turns on two points. If a proportional representation takes place the small states contend that their liberties will be in danger. If an equality of votes is to be put in its place the large states say their money will be in danger. When a broad table is to be made and the edges of the planks do not fit the artist takes a little from both and makes a good joint. In like manner both sides must part with some of their demands in order that they may join in some accommodating proposition.

FROM A NEW DEAL MARTYR.

York, Pa., June 26.—Don't you want to help me remind voters that all this talk about the New Deal menace to liberty is not just an imaginary scare brought out for campaign purposes? For eighteen days the New Dealers had me in the York county jail because I defied the NRA. You may be next! They may get you because you raise and sell too many potatoes—or because you buy your potatoes in bags without tax stamps on them. True, the potato control act was repealed when it became certain that the Supreme court would throw it out the window. But, if the voters are foolish enough to give those New Dealers another term, both the court and the congress may go out the window. Better vote for liberty while you have the liberty of voting. Next time, Dictator Roosevelt, like Hitler, may not allow opposition names on the ballot. I solicit contributions to be used in paying for anti-New Deal efforts.

FRED PERKINS.

FED UP.

Chicago, June 26.—The twin spectacles of the Republican and Democratic conventions are enough to nauseate any person who considers dignity and calm judgment as necessary adjuncts of government. There is considerably more seriousness of purpose at the average dog race than is to be found at these conventions of so-called patriots.

The Democratic conclave was much worse than the Republicans' effort, but neither proceedings offered much in the way of substantiation of the theory that the human race has progressed far beyond the limits of the jungle. The average industrial sales convention, where the delegates assemble frankly to get gloriously tight, is a model of restraint and good taste compared to these meetings of patriots on whose decisions depend the next four years of our country's history.

ABOUT A TRAFIC LIGHT.

The "I Gotta Drag" special stoplight at the entrance to the Saddle and Cycle club on Foster avenue is a personal affront to every motorist who passes.

I have passed that entrance twice and sometimes four times a day every day for a year, and in all that time have seen only one car drive in, and not one drive out.

H. S. R.

CHOICE GEMS.

Chicago, June 25.—We didn't listen to the very end of Senator Robinson's long, long oration, but so much as we heard was in nowise calculated to charm any birdies off the bough, eliciting the faintest applause from the New Dealers sitting in. The following choice gems were doubtless inserted for comic relief:

"We have balanced the budget except as to extraordinary expenditures."

"The Roosevelt administration has faithfully complied with the spirit of the Chicago platform promises." READER.

POSTAL SERVICE.

Holland, Mich., June 25.—May I compliment you on the editorial, "A Victory for the Commissars," and suggest that it was worthy of printing on the front page? Your front page editorials during the Republican convention were excellent and no doubt contributed toward the high morale evident during the convention.

I've been subscribing for THE TRIBUNE for years, but recently have had to change to newsboy delivery instead of getting it by mail, because in this year of our Democratic administration our mail service is growing worse and worse. It costs ten instead of five dollars a year this way, but, after all, one wants a morning paper before noon. If I should happen to want to take a Detroit paper by mail I would not receive it until the following afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock. Before Farley's régime all such mail, from east and west, was delivered at 10 in the morning. Just one more of the annoying details of life under Roosevelt. Please keep up your fight and let your readers know whether we can do anything constructive to help in the cause. ANNE VISSCHER.

GRATEFUL.

Chicago, June 25.—It seems only fitting that a few words of praise and commendation be given to Mr. Ernest Kruetgen and the employés of the Chicago postoffice. The additional time and energy put forth by them in their effort to deliver the bonus bonds on schedule and the special Tuesday night service extended by the postmen in delivering to veterans employed during the day, were all features of this tremendous task which should not be ignored.

DOWER INTEREST.

Chicago, June 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am the owner of a piece of real estate property which I wish to leave to my niece and have so arranged in my will; that is, not specified that property particularly. This niece is married and [1] it is not my wish that her husband shall have any part in it. Please advise what the law is in the circumstances and [2] whether it is wise and sufficient to leave a will. E. E.

1. Her husband will acquire a dower interest in her real estate, if that is what you mean to ask.

2. Depends on your desires and on other facts that are not before us.

U. S. ARMY TESTS DIESEL MOTORS IN SPEEDY TANKS

Predict Replacement of Gasoline Units.

Moline, Ill., June 29.—[Special.]—Diesel motors will replace gasoline power in United States army tanks, Brig. Gen. H. W. Schull of Washington, D. C., assistant chief of ordnance, predicted today during his inspection tour of Rock Island arsenal. He said he cannot forecast how soon the change will take place.

Tests of high speed tanks manufactured at Rock Island arsenal are being continued. In one of the fast tanks a Diesel engine was installed several months ago. Immediately after installation a test run was made between Dallas, Texas, and Rock Island. Thereafter the Diesel-powered tank was taken to Aberdeen, Md., where testing continued on the government proving grounds.

Tests Satisfactory.

Thus far, Gen. Schull said, tests have been satisfactory. He substantiated previous reports that tank manufacture figures at Rock Island arsenal during the new fiscal year starting July 1 will be as high as, and probably higher than during the year now ending. He did not state the amount in dollars to be spent on tank manufacture, but appropriations made by the last congress for the purpose assure Rock Island arsenal of continued employment in that type of manufacture, he said.

In his opinion mechanization of the cavalry is preceding as rapidly as has been expected. And will go on more rapidly during the coming year because much of the experimental work is out of the way.

Will Be Used in Maneuvers.

"Concentration of tanks from Rock Island arsenal will take place at several army camps for maneuvers during the summer months and in some case approximately forty tanks will be in use," he said. Many of these are already in the field. Gen. Schull said that maintenance of the mechanized equipment is proving to be a lesser problem than at first anticipated.

In company with Col. A. G. Gillespie, arsenal commandant, Gen. Schull made an inspection tour at the arsenal this morning.

Thrills Spectators

Resplendent in a ten gallon white hat, white shirt, and white riding pants, Tom Mix yesterday opened his circus for a ten day run at the Coliseum. His spirited riding, rope throwing, and pistol shooting thrilled spectators, who showed almost as much interest in his celebrated horse, Tony Jr.

Joy Meyers, an aerialist, suffered a sprained leg in an 18 foot fall at the afternoon show, but is expected to be back at work today. Mix's sister-in-law, Irma Ward, a veteran aerialist, is also a headliner. Alfredo Codona, peer of the aerial acrobats until an accident two years ago, is appearing with the show as an assistant equestrienne director.

Mix was guest of honor last night at a dinner at the Medinah club given by Goldblatt Brothers, who are sponsors of the show. Later the brothers Goldblatt, Louis and Joseph, took their guests to watch the evening performance.

POLISH JEWS TO STRIKE; PROTEST STIFF JAIL TERMS

WARSAW, June 29.—(AP)—Jews made ready tonight to hold a nationwide general strike tomorrow in protest against the decision of the Radom district court sentencing 11 Jews to varying terms in prison because of disorders in Przytyk March 9.

Leaders of the movement assert the murderers of two Jews went unpunished, while a Jew was sentenced for the death of a Christian. They also point out that Jewish defendants drew the longest prison terms.

ANOTHER PLEADS GUILTY IN HAMM KIDNAPING CASE

St. Paul, Minn., June 29.—[Special.]—Charles Fitzgerald of Los Angeles, pleaded guilty today when he was arraigned in federal court on charges of participating in the $100,000 kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., wealthy St. Paul brewer, in June, 1933.

Fitzgerald, known as "Big Fitz" and who was indicted as a participant in the actual seizure of the brewing company head, will be sentenced on July 7.

His guilty plea reduced to three the number who will stand trial for the Hamm abduction on July 14. They are Alvin Karpis, former public enemy No. 1; Edmund Bartholmey, former Bensenville, Ill., postmaster, in whose home Hamm was alleged to have been held, and John Peifer, former St. Paul night club operator, who was named as the "finger man" in the case.

RADICAL YOUTH OF METHODISM FACE SHOWDOWN

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The issue of radical youth leadership by staf members of the board of education of the Methodist Episcopal church will come to a head today when that board meets for the first time since its election in May at general conference in Columbus, O. The board will convene at the Methodist Book concern, 740 Rush street.

The chief debate is expected on the reappointment of the Rev. Owen M. Geer and the Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick as secretaries in charge of Epworth league literature and activities. After the virtually unanimous reelection of the Rev. Frederick C. Eiselen at the Columbus meeting as executive head of the board it was announced that Dr. Eiselen asked the two secretaries not to seek reappointment at today's meeting.

Figures at Pink Meetings.

This request was followed by vigorous protests from radical pastors and the section of the religious press described by the Conference of Methodist laymen as being socialistic. Messrs. Kirkpatrick and Geer set up nearly 2 years ago in Evanston the national Methodist Youth conference, which passed resolutions labeled by conservative Methodists as socialistic if not actually communistic. They were prominent also early this year in the Evanston meeting of the Methodist Federation for Social Service, which voted to align itself with the American section of "the red front" against war and fascism.

Bishop Edgar Blake of Detroit, former president of the board of education, will not be present at board sessions. The bishops of the church, at their Columbus meeting, failed to reseat Bishop Blake as a member of the education board. Members of the Conference of Methodist laymen accused the Detroit bishop of leftist leanings.

Bishop H. L. Smith to Preside.

It is understood that Bishop H. Lester Smith of Cincinnati, O., first vice president of the board, will preside at board sessions until a successor to Bishop Blake is chosen.

Literature distributed by the Conference of Methodist laymen stated that Bishop Blake was associated with Earl Browder, communist candidate for president, at a national anti-Fascist meeting early this year at Cleveland, O. Henry S. Henschen, president of the laymen's conference, in a circular letter, pointed to the unseating of Bishop Blake as a conservative victory.

Bishops, pastors, prominent laymen of the country make up the board of education.

Loeb Slayer Sent to Prison Factory; Out of Solitary

James Day, 21 years old, who was freed Saturday from solitary confinement at the Joliet penitentiary after three weeks' confinement following his acquittal for the murder of Richard Loeb, went to work yesterday in the prison fiber factory. Day is serving a one to ten year term for larceny. He has applied for hearing for parole.

BLACK LEGION'S GUNNER PLEADS GUILTY IN DEATH

Will Get Life; Testifies Against Nine Others.

Detroit, Mich., June 29.—[Special.]—Dayton Dean today pleaded guilty to the Black Legion kidnaping and murder of Charles A. Poole. His plea makes a sentence of life imprisonment mandatory. This will be passed as soon as probation officers have reported on his record and mental state, a process that usually requires a week.

The trigger man, whose testimony has implicated 36 fellow members of the terrorist society in violent crimes, spent most of the morning and part of the afternoon as the state's star witness against nine others in recorder's court, then was led before Judge Joseph A. Moynihan in Circuit court.

The plea of guilty was not unexpected. Nearly a month ago Dean took the stand voluntarily and told in detail how he shot Poole to death May 12 following a meeting of the Black Legion at which it was reported that Poole had been beating his wife. His story involved 12 others, and since then he has volunteered much other information involving some of the original 12 and others.

CAPONE EX-AID HELD TO JURY IN FRAUD ON COURT

CRIMINAL COURT.

Fred Mitchell, embezzlement, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary by Judge Robert C. O'Connell.

John Gordon Carter and Albert Fenillo, robbery, sentenced to one to ten years each in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph Burke.

Max Johnson and Russell Johnson, murder, sentenced to life imprisonment each by Judge Cornelius Harrington.

Nick Juffra, former head of Al Capone's illicit beer delivery service, was held to the grand jury in $5,000 bail by Municipal Judge Charles S. Dougherty yesterday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. The charge grew out of Juffra's alleged participation in a $9,451 swindle in the office of John E. Conroy, clerk of the Circuit court, which was revealed Thursday.

The money involved was insurance on the life of Weir Williams, who committed suicide a year ago. It was held in escrow pending settlement of a court fight for it between Williams' divorced wife, Beryl, and his father, Carl S. Williams of Evanston. The Illinois Supreme court held that the money belonged to the father, but when he called for it he found that two men posing as lawyers for the principals had collected the money on Jan. 7 by means of a court order fraudulently obtained.

To prevent future similar frauds, Chief Justice Walter J. La Buy of the Circuit court yesterday ordered that money in the court's custody be paid only in the presence of the litigants involved and their lawyers.

By resisting this internal tire heat, the amazing Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating. It keeps blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

Equip your car with Goodrich Silvertowns like thousands of others have done who believe in "safe tires for safe motoring." Remember Silvertowns cost not a penny more than other standard tires.

AMAZING HALF & HALF TEST PROVES NEW GOODRICH TUBE TOUGHER, LONGER-LASTING!

● Four leading makes of tubes were cut in half. To each half we spliced half of a Goodrich Gold & Black Tube. These spliced tubes were put in tires on test cars and caused to go flat at 40 miles per hour. On removing tubes, the Gold & Black sections were unharmed; the other sections ripped to shreds.

HERE'S WHY: Goodrich Gold & Black Tubes are the only tubes especially built for today's high-speed operating conditions. Made of extra-tough black tear-resisting rubber and reinforced with special golden shield to resist rim chafing and cutting. No extra cost. Put Gold & Black Tubes in all your tires.

ROGERS ESTATE SUIT HEARINGS TO START TODAY

Last Wife Contests Will of Oil Millionaire.

Riverhead, N. Y., June 29.—[Special.]—Hearings in the first litigation over the estate of Col. H. H. Rogers will start here tomorrow and if the action is followed by other threatened claims and counter claims by heirs, the cases may go on indefinitely.

The litigation is based on the disposal of the personal estate of Col. Rogers, estimated at more than 13 million dollars, and of a trust fund created by his father of more than 9 million dollars. Both men were Standard Oil millionaires. Federal and state tax collectors will take approximately 13 million dollars of the two estates.

One of the actions coming up tomorrow is brought by the last wife of Col. Rogers, Mrs. Pauline V. Dresser Rogers. He married her in 1933, and a few months later, the day he made his will, she signed a waiver of her dower rights. She is dissatisfied with the provisions made for her in the will and contends she did not understand what she was doing in signing the waiver.

Will Provides Large Income.

The will gives her a large income but does not enable her to dispose of it when she dies. It provides that most of the two estates is to be placed in trust and the income paid in equal shares to the last Mrs. Rogers, to a daughter of the colonel, Mrs. Millicent Rogers Balcom, and to her son, Peter Salm. The boy, born of the first of the daughter's three marriages, was the colonel's favorite grandchild.

The boy also will get a share of the last Mrs. Rogers' income when she dies, unless the will is broken. His mother's share will go to two children of her second marriage, Aruro H. P. Ramos and Paul J. Ramos.

Seeks Estate for Son.

Mrs. Balcom and a lawyer, as guardians of Peter Salm, have an action coming up tomorrow at the same time Mrs. Rogers' action is called. They want to take possession for the boy of Col. Rogers' estate, the Port of Missing Men.

Everybody concerned, including executors, guardians for the children, and members of the family, has hired at least one lawyer.

SNAKES STRIKE FOR COURT IN TORTURE DEATH

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—(AP)—A rattlesnake which the state charges that Robert S. James used in slaying his seventh wife, Mary, struck repeatedly at its glass cage in Superior court today while a snake expert testified concerning its deadliness.

The defendant, a stocky, red-haired barber, stared at the serpent and its companion, only a few feet away from him. When court recessed at noon he said to his attorney:

A balif stood beside him as he peered into the cage containing the reptiles. Their evil-looking heads thudded against the glass.

James paled visibly.

The snakes are those which Charles Hope, ex-sailor, testified he purchased for the defendant. He saw James thrust the bared leg of his wife into a box holding one snake, he said, and later helped him carry her body and toss it into a fish pond after James drowned her in a bath tub.

The state charges James murdered his seventh wife last Aug. 4 to collect $20,000 insurance.

Women in the courtroom gasped and recoiled when the snakes were brought in. Lois Wright, 21 year old niece of James, became hysterical.

The snake expert, Ronald Kirby, said snakes are able to register hits on the objects of their attacks more than three-quarters of their length away.

REPORT EX-WIFE WILL RETURN TO PROF. LEONARD

Madison, Wis., June 29.—(AP)—Friends of Grace Golden, who on June 3 obtained a divorce from Prof. William Ellery Leonard, eccentric University of Wisconsin poet, expressed belief today that reports of a reconciliation were well founded.

Word that Miss Golden was returning to Madison, seeking anew a sanctuary in the white haired writer's phobic prison, came on the first anniversary of their marriage. The time of her expected arrival was not disclosed.

The 28 year old third wife of Prof. Leonard, who has a distance phobia which prevents him from leaving an area of a few blocks in the university district, left the city immediately after Judge A. C. Hoppman granted her a divorce on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Prof. Leonard did not contest the action in which Miss Golden won $4,400 and the right to use her maiden name.

YOUNG ELOPERS, $15,000 RICHER, ON WAY HOME

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—William Moegelin, 17, and his 16 year old bride, who was Florence Seifert before the youngsters decided last April to get married and see the world, are on their way back to Brooklyn in a new car and with a bank balance of nearly $15,000.

The couple, high school students, withdrew their joint savings of $150 last spring and started hitch-hiking west. In Chicago they halted long enough to get married, then thumbed their way to Denver, where William got a job in a grocery store.

One evening the store owner gave William two tickets to a theater. That night was "bank night" and a $25,000 residence went to the lucky ticket holder, who was William. They sold the house for $15,000, bought the car, and started home. All will be forgiven, their parents said.

'FLYING HEELS' FOR UPPER AIR FLIGHTS FOUND

Dayton, O., June 29.—(AP)—"Flying heels" for airplanes in the stratosphere were announced today at the material division of the United States army corps at Wright field.

The "heels" use the kick in the engine exhaust through a supercharger to drive planes in the stratosphere. They enable United States army planes to out-perform any others in the world at high altitudes.

The supercharger is a small ferris wheel, driven on the turbine principle, by jets of exhaust gas. It attains the speed of 40,000 revolutions a minute under the impact of exhaust gases striking tiny vanes.

At that velocity the wheel is a centrifugal air pump, which compresses air for the engine carburetor. In the stratosphere this supercharger compresses the air to sea level density.

John H. Leslie's $200,000 Left Chiefly to Family

Judge Martin C. Decker of the Lake county Probate court at Waukegan admitted to probate yesterday the will of John H. Leslie, retired broker of Antioch. Except for a $10,000 bequest to the Calvary Baptist church of Chicago, the $200,000 estate is divided among his widow, Mrs. Flora C. Leslie, and four children, John W., president of the Signode Steel Strapping company; Eleanor, Mrs. Alma Wilson, and Mrs. Jean Stephens. Mr. Leslie died May 30.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

It has always seemed odd that Fred Waring should choose a number called "Sleep" as the theme song for his very peppy radio show. Perhaps he would be willing to lend this soporific ditty to NBC today for a program that is to be offered to sheep counters at 5:35 o'clock over WMAQ. At that hour Paula Linde Ayers, originator of the "lullaby cure" and "musical therapy," will attempt to lull listeners to unconsciousness through her singing.

"It's an odd hour for making the test and it is to be hoped that homeward bound motorists do not fall under her spell. When she gave her audition last Friday several NBC executives dropped off after the second number, it is said.

A few minutes after Ethel Campbell of Horace Heidt's singing Campbell sisters became the bride of J. W. Lockhart, an educator of Merriton, Ont., here Sunday she received a telegram telling of the grave illness of her father near Toronto. The sisters sped to Canada, but he died before they reached him.

Making his bow as a "news" commentator on WBBM yesterday morning Truman Bradley touched on the home life of the Dionne quints, Clark Gable's new contract, Greta Garbo's influence on fashions, Clarence Chamberlin's new bride, a "modern" love story and some talk about Monday being wash day. [Sponsor makes soap flakes.] Obviously such news appeals mainly to women. Bradley, well known as an announcer, has a good voice and pleasant microphone personality. He might develop a big following, as have Boake Carter and some of the other editorialists, if his material had a more general appeal.

John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, is to broadcast an address from the Palmer house at 9 o'clock Thursday evening. . . . Joe Louis will explain everything when he appears as a guest of Frank Fay Friday evening. . . . Martha Raye, who sang hi-de-ho ditties over W-G-N last fall, has a long movie contract with Paramount and is appearing with Bing Crosby in his latest, "Rhythm on the Range." . . . Don't be surprised if Buddy Rogers becomes the leader of the Chicago band that Jack Hylton is leaving behind. . . . Milton Rettenberg is the Singing Lady's new pianist in New York. He replaced Allan Grant, who remained here when Ireene Wicker moved east last week-end.

Wendell Hall will return to NBC at 11 next Monday morning. The red headed music maker will be heard each week day. . . . Ted Weems is to bring his music to the Chicago theater Friday. With him will be Perry Como, the young singer who has become popular this season. A year ago he was a small town barber. . . . Once strongly prejudiced against radio, former Kaiser Wilhelm has become a radio fan. He installed a receiver at Doorn for King George's funeral broadcast and has been using it regularly since.

The new rule is: To be good
It has to come from Hollywood.

George S. Furnald, Native of St. Charles, Dies at 85

George Savage Furnald, 85 years old, of St. Charles, died Sunday in the Community hospital at Geneva after a long illness. Mr. Furnald was born in St. Charles and grew up there. As a young man he moved to Iowa and lived in that state for thirty years. He returned in 1908 and had been continuously a resident of St. Charles since. His widow survives. Funeral services will be held in the St. Charles Congregational church at 2 p. m. today.

Dr. Emil E. Fischer, 79, Dies; Cicero Veterinarian

Dr. Emil E. Fischer, 79 years old, 2818 South 60th court, Cicero, pioneer veterinarian who had practiced in the west suburbs more than 30 years, died Sunday in the Berwyn hospital following an operation. Dr. Fischer, a native of Germany, had lived in the Chicago area for a half century. Two daughters survive. Funeral services will be held at 2307 South 52d avenue, Cicero, at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery at Dolton, Ill.

BRITAIN TO BAR ADS FROM RADIO 10 YEARS MORE

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, June 29.—Direct advertising and sponsored programs in British radio broadcasting are to be strictly forbidden for at least ten years more the government announced today.

"Complete exclusion of advertisements from British Broadcasting corporation programs is widely approved," declared Postmaster General C. G. Tryon in an official memorandum accepting most of the recent recommendations by Lord Ullswater's committee of inquiry. The government also agreed "to take all steps within its power" to prevent broadcasting from foreign stations of advertising programs intended for British listeners.

Broadcasting in Britain is made possible by a license of 10 shillings [about $2.50] paid annually by every owner of a radio receiving set. The revenue from this tax is so great that the government will receive 1,050,000 pounds [$5,250,000] from the British Broadcasting corporation during 1936.

WAGON SPOKES USED TO PUNISH BOYS, SAYS JURY

Nashville, Tenn., June 29.—(AP)—Tales of wagon spoke beatings and use of the lash by drunken guards came today from a grand jury investigation of the state reform school for boys.

In its formal report the grand jury charged Supt. G. Newt Choate "either is incompetent or indifferent," and added he is "unfit to carry on the great humanitarian work of the office he now holds."

Picking 20 boys at random, the jurors said they found "most every one of them had scars and lacerations" and added:

"Boy after boy testified one or more of the guards had been drunk on duty and were persistent in whipping them at such times," the jury said.

Choate, the report continued, denied knowledge of "anything improper going on," and "continually insisted that the institution was run as one 'big happy family.'" Since Saturday 26 boys have escaped.

EFFECTS OF LATE CHAS. DICKINSON SOLD AT AUCTION

The household furnishings and personal effects of Charles Dickinson, pioneer Chicago aviator who died last September, were sold at auction on a Probate court order yesterday. The sale, held in the Werner Brothers-Kennelley company warehouse at 1750 North Clark street, brought $3,000 from furnishings estimated to have cost more than $25,000 a quarter of a century ago. They had been in storage since Dickinson closed his home at 603 North Dearborn street in 1911 following the death of his wife. Mr. Dickinson, who was 77 years old when he died in New York City, began flying in 1910. His sister, Dr. Frances Dickinson, executrix of the estate, said all articles pertaining to aviation were saved for a contemplated Chicago museum of aviation.

Funeral Held in Evanston for Prof. Clarion D. Hardy

Funeral services were held in the First Methodist church of Evanston yesterday for Clarion De Witt Hardy, 2111 Sherman avenue, Evanston, professor of public speaking and debate at Northwestern university since 1913. Prof. Hardy died at the age of 58 Saturday in the Evanston hospital after an illness of about a month. University officials disclosed yesterday that Owen L. Coon, 150 Park avenue, Glencoe, a member of the board of trustees of the university and a former student of Prof. Hardy, had established eight forensic scholarships a year ago in honor of Prof. Hardy. Mr. Coon, officials said, had made plans recently to increase the scholarships to ten.

Probe Death of Boy Found Injured in a Parking Lot

Police were investigating the death last night, under peculiar circumstances, of Joseph Bartuca, 12 years old, 3153 Princeton avenue. The boy was found unconscious in a parking lot at 3409 Shields avenue, where White Sox ball players customarily leave their cars, and died after he had been taken to the Mercy hospital. Apparently he was injured when a heavy iron gate fell from its hinges as he was crawling under it.

Miss Peggy Hambleton to Become Bride

Ceremony to Take Place on Thursday.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. FRANCIS STANLEY RICKCORDS announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their sister, Miss Margaret Hambleton, to John Carey Murphy. This is the formal announcement that we are asked to make. It will come as a surprise to all but a few of Miss Hambleton's most intimate friends, for the popular Miss Hambleton and the young Connecticut man who has lived here for about three years had planned to keep their plans secret and not to make any formal announcement until after the wedding, which is to take place Thursday.

But such a secret is hard to keep, so yesterday they decided to let Mr. and Mrs. Rickcords announce it.

Miss Hambleton is one of the most popular young women in social circles and is interested in all the arts.

Mr. Murphy has been devoted to her ever since he came to Chicago. When he brings his bride back from their wedding trip they will live in the apartment in Bellevue place in which he has lived as a bachelor.

The wedding is to be a quiet one at 5:30 o'clock at the Rickcords home, 1530 State parkway, where Miss Hambleton has lived since the death of her mother, Mrs. Earl L. Hambleton, several years ago.

The Rev. Duncan Browne of St. James' Episcopal church will read the ceremony in the presence of the immediate family. The bride will be unattended and Shepard Vogelgesang will act as best man for Mr. Murphy. Miss Hambleton has another sister, Mrs. Berrien Eaton of Detroit, who is coming over for the wedding.

Two Engagements Are Announced.

The last day of June brings two weddings and the announcements of two engagements. Miss Mary de Coningh and Miss Charlotte Fleming are today's brides, and Miss Charlotte Gardner Robertson and Miss Barbara Meaker are the brides-to-be.

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Smith of 1142 South Michigan avenue are announcing the engagement of Mrs. Smith's daughter, Miss Robertson, to James Lindsay Rose of Indianapolis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rose of Oak Park. The engagement does not come as a surprise to the friends of Miss Robertson and Mr. Rose, for he has been a constant suitor during the last year. The wedding is to take place here the middle part of August,

Betty Ashcraft Is Bride

MR. AND MRS. DOUGLAS K. HUNTRESS.

Blue-White Color Scheme for Wedding

Like so many of the season's brides, Miss Betty Ashcraft, who yesterday was married to Douglas K. Huntress, wore a simple but lovely gown of white mousseline de soie. It was made with an unusual treatment of the train, which was exceptionally long and fell directly from the waist. A long veil of tulle billowed the length of the train, and a halo edged in seed pearls and orange blossoms held the veil to her blonde curls. She carried gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bride was all in traditional white and her attendants wore pale blue organdy dresses and carried white asters and baby's breath that had been flown here from California, making it one of the first blue and white weddings of the season. Easter lilies and candles were used to decorate St. Chrysostom's church, where the ceremony was read at 4:30 o'clock, and Easter lilies and blue delphiniums were used in the ballroom of the Woman's Athletic club, where a reception was held at 5 o'clock.

In keeping with the color scheme the gowns of Mrs. Raymond M. Ashcraft, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Marjorie G. Huntress of Washington, D. C., mother of the bridegroom, were of navy blue gowns, and they had orchid corsages. The bridegroom's father, Carroll B. Huntress of Washington, also was present at the wedding.

The bride's attendants included the bridegroom's sister, Miss Marion Huntress, as maid of honor, and Miss Virginia Ashcraft, cousin of the bride; Miss Mary Young, Miss Beatrice Norton, Miss Dorothy Glidden, Miss Suzanne Fitch of Biltmore Forest, N. C., and Mrs. George P. Braun Jr. as bridesmaids.

The bridegroom's elder brother, Jack Huntress, and a younger brother, Benton Huntress, both came from Washington to serve as best man and usher, respectively.

Club Crowded for First Day at Arlington

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

The morning rain and the threatening skies of the early afternoon may have kept some of the grandstand racing fans away from the Arlington Park Jocky club opening yesterday, but they did not prevent members and guests from crowding the Post and Paddock club.

The unfavorable weather did make almost every woman wear tweeds instead of cottons or silks, though, and the few who were wearing tight dresses covered them with top coats as a protection from the occasional rain drops and the chilly breezes. By midafternoon the sun was shining, but the thermometer remained low enough to make a coat a necessity.

Even if the women weren't in their best spectator sport clothes, the park itself was all dressed up for its eighth opening and the rain made it look even fresher and lovelier than it would have been without it.

The grass was green and velvety, the petunias, geraniums and roses fresh looking after their bath, and even the country air seemed sweeter.

One of the bright spots was Mrs. Austin H. Niblack's scarlet oiled silk raincoat and umbrella. Under the coat she wore a tweed suit in blue, brown and white. She was with her sister, Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm, smart in brown tailleur, and their father, Edward A. Cudahy.

One of the largest luncheon parties at the Post and Paddock was one given by Laurance H. Armour, president of the club, and Mrs. Armour, who was effectively gowned in black and white. Her white hat of Chinese coolie inspiration had a fine black veil on it and her black patent lether shoes were polka dotted in white. Among the Armours' guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. McCulloch, the Charles F. Glores, the I. Newton Perrys, Dr. Glenn Frank and Mrs. Frank, and the George A. McKinlocks. Mrs. McKinlock wore all white except for her large straw hat, which was of soft green.

She's cool and comfortable—and relaxed, all with the aid of a marvelous friction lotion, delicately perfumed, that is both a quick freshener and a delightful rub-down lotion for use after the bath.

One of our summer loves is a champagnish friction lotion; it might be a hundred in the shade but using this lotion will make the world seem a paradise of madcap breezes, nice people, and long, cool drinks. We told you about this once before, but there never will be a better moment to remind you of it again.

Does it sound expensive? It isn't. Lord knows how they do it at the price. It's a lovely heat defeater—cooling, stimulating, and exquisitely, but delicately, perfumed. The scent of it is a large part of its charm for us—just the least bit lemonish.

After the bath just try this for a rub down; it feels cool and bubbly against the skin and in some mysterious fashion it leaves the flesh glowing, and the spirits, too. You may have felt before that you hadn't a friend in the world; after your rub down you could find excuses for even a crook who swiped your life savings. Rose colored glasses aren't in it with this friction lotion.

And if you haven't time for a bath, if you're traveling or if you must duck right from your desk to the dinner table, you can use this same lotion as a quick freshener; you'll find it as invigorating as a cold shower—and much easier to take!

We've recommended this to tired business women, who rave about it. Just last week one reported that using it had saved her sanity after a mad, bad day. It seems to soothe jumpy nerves and to court relaxation when used for light, restful massage. Do look it up if you want to lick life and lethargy. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Hans Lange Named Guest Conductor for 3 Ravinia Concerts

Hans Lange of the New York Philharmonic orchestra will appear as guest conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra on July 9, 10, 11, and 12 at Ravinia park, it was announced yesterday by the festival committee. The change of plan was the result of the illness of Richard Hageman, who was originally booked for these four programs. Lange will perform the four Brahms symphonies, one each day.

The first three concerts of the Ravinia festival [this Friday and Saturday night and Sunday afternoon] will be in charge of Ernest Ansermet, Swiss conductor, who is to arrive in Chicago this morning to start work on preliminary details. The Sunday night program will be directed by Rudolph Ganz, resident pianist, composer, and teacher, formerly conductor of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra.

Chinese Coats Thrill Seekers of Daring Garb

Offered in Jade Green, Rose Quartz and Mauve.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

All the whimsies get out for the summer season. From flippant headgear, still more frivolous hosiery, strange, almost goofy buttons, trick frocks that look like pinafores, summer wardrobes are anything but serious. If you refuse to take the clothes collecting fever with anything but chuckles and fun, this is your summer to indulge your every fancy.

The newest excitement is the fun of wearing odd coats, coats for cotton afternoon dresses, for linen sports clothes and for all the fluttering youthful cotton dance dresses and evening gowns. Such a wizard with shears, pins, and dizzy new selections of materials as Schiaparelli, the famous French designer, presents the high collared Chinese looking coats of flowered and paisley print chintz.

They are exact copies of coolie coats, with the single covered button to hold the upstanding collar at the throat line, the medium loose sleeves, and the deep side slits. The patterns and colors are exquisite, a mauve, a jade green, and a rose quartz tone. The linings are soft to harmonize with the deepest color in the outside print.

Next come the mattress ticking coats, cut with all the inimitable dash and swank this designer knows. The blue and red affair is a knockout, the blue and white a good second choice. The sleeves are short and flare to repeat the smart, snappy flare of the peplum skirt that almost reaches the knees, the waistline is small and accented by the flared peplum.

For a belt and trim, upholstery braid is used in red, tied twice in front; on the blue and white striped number, old blue braid of the same kind. They are new, decidedly different, and amusingly daring after all the regulation silks, pastel wools, and quilted models that every one wears.

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. McDonald Jr. planned to go to California for a vacation recently their car was shipped west, and before the car was shipped the battery was fully charged. When the car was taken off the freight car in California the battery was dead and the car would not start. The radio was turned on, and they immediately suspected some hobos had been entertaining themselves on the trip across the country. Their suspicion was confirmed when Mrs. McDonald found a note, scribbled on the margin of a newspaper, that read:

PERHAPS you have seen the Zuloaga in gallery No. 40 at the Art institute, a large canvas of the Spanish actress Consuelo. She wears a full, wine colored skirt and a cream lace mantilla. A fan is in her hand, and a little brown and white terrier sits expectantly at her feet. Consuelo's eyes are full and dark and moist, and there is a faint suggestion of red at the tip of her nose. Thus a visitor one day recently regarded the picture a few minutes, then turned to a guard and inquired, "Have you ever heard her sneeze?"

"No, madam," said the guard, showing no surprise, in the tradition of Art institute guards.

"Well, every time I come through Chicago I hurry over to see this portrait," the woman said. "I always hope to get here when she sneezes, for if she hasn't a real case of hay fever I never saw one!"

SHERIDAN ROAD

By Helen Topping Miller

SYNOPSIS.

Eden Faraday, young secretary, opens the door of a taxi and finds a man murdered. She is taken to the police station, where she meets Jack Garnett, newspaper cameraman, and Owen Field, assistant district attorney, who arranges her release. Eden had been mistaken for Gracie Lincoln, a gunman's widow. The man murdered was a notorious gangster, Grappi. Eden's mother, Bridget Faraday, sells gowns and is in love with suave Sidney Creighton. Eden and her spoiled young sister, Robin, and brother, Coburn, depend on their peppery grandmother. Because of rumor that Eden can identify the murderers Owen Field has her guarded. An attempt is made to kidnap Eden, but Field and his men rescue her. Field takes her to his mother's home, where she is kept secluded. Jack Garnett climbs roofs to talk to her from her window, and enlists her help in solving the mystery. Raquel Rusak, an older woman, is trying to force Coburn Faraday to marry her. While at a roadhouse with Raquel, Coburn sees his sister, Robin, come in with Sidney Creighton. Eden is brought home by Owen Field after the inquest. She goes with Garnett to see Gracie Lincoln, now married to Clint Jarvis, a taxi driver.

INSTALMENT XIV.

A SINISTER ATMOSPHERE.

On one side was the ghostly glimmer of a cemetery. On the other a stretch of black wood looked lurking and sinister.

"I spent a cold day up in a tree out here last fall," Garnett said, "waiting to get some shots of Sol Bodenski's funeral. After I'd stuck there for four hours they changed their plans and decided to cremate Sol. A lot of his friends had got nervous about showing themselves in daylight."

"You know a great many weird characters, don't you?"

"It's part of my job to know them. I get along with most of them because I never throw them down. Some of them duck the camera and some of them are vain and start posing right away. Men are vainer than women, too, though they'd deny it."

"Just what do you know about women?"

"I have four sisters—does that qualify me? Three older and one younger. The young one's a brat. But the others are trumps. Mary runs a house and three kids, never loses her temper or burns the toast. She's the kind who shut doors without a sound, knows where the pain is when you're sick and does something about it. Whitty isn't so practical but she makes money—and Dale's a radio singer and an all-round grand girl. I learned about women from them."

"No mother?" Eden asked gently.

"No mother—since I was six and Winona two."

"And no grandmother?"

"We got along. Being alone puts fight into you. You get over being afraid—of anything."

They left the suburban road and turned at length into a narrow

On the mantel were a black glass elephant and an iron bulldog.

graveled way running between scrub oak thickets. There were no lights visible anywhere. Once a rabbit with blazing eyes like emeralds leaped out of their way. A lank dog slunk into the bushes, tail clamped. Eden shrank into herself farther and farther. She was an urban soul; she had lived always among lights and people and this furtive, lonely darkness made her pores tighten and her nerves grow tense.

Then, after a mile or so, they glimpsed a light. It was far back in what appeared to be a field. Garnett got down, left the motor running and opened a wooden gate. When the car was driven through he closed it again. They came presently into the yard of a green bungalow with a squat windmill looming over it, a place that looked like any country workman's modest home.

Garnett knocked at the kitchen door. It was opened by a middle aged woman who peered through steel spectacles and asked sharply, "Who is it?"

"It's Jack Garnett, Mrs. Jarvis. I've brought Miss Faraday to see Clint."

"O sure—come along in. G'd evening." The woman jerked her head at Eden in embarrassed curtness. She had a motherly figure, but her eyes were cautious and mouth hard. "They're upstairs. You set in there and I'll call Clint; I guess the fire ain't out yet."

The front room they entered was naively elegant; with cheap velveteen draperies and an imitation oriental. Every chair held a round pillow trimmed with lace, and on the mantel above the coal stove were a black glass elephant, an iron bulldog on a leather leash, two pairs of candlesticks holding pink glass tapers, a photograph of a dark haired girl with bold eyes and too much décolleté, and a sacred picture framed in shells.

Eden sat down and unbuttoned her coat. Garnett stood still in the middle of the room. The place was stuffy. Steps thudded down the stairs. A door swung oper. and a young man without a coat came in.

"Hello, Clint."

"Hello, Jack."

"Miss Faraday—Clint Jarvis."

"How do you do," Eden said, calmly, wondering what this boyish, rather loutish looking young man with the ingratiating eyes could want with her.

He was heavy in the shoulders, a little stooped, not too intelligent, but with a bright, eager look and none of the hardness or furtiveness she had expected. His handclasp was quick and warm.

"I guess you think I was pretty fresh—asking Jack to bring you away out here," he apologized, "but the both of us are in this jam and Jack figured maybe we could somehow help each other out."

"You tell her about it, Clint." Garnett perched on the edge of a chair and lit a cigaret. "I haven't told her a thing."

Clint's brow creased and his mouth twisted unhappily for an instant. Obviously, expression was difficult for him. He was, Eden thought, of the type that confusion and despair turns into criminals.

"Understand," he began hoarsely, "I can't tell you everything—no names or nothing. It would only be worse for you if I did. I hadn't ought to be in this business at all—but the way it was, I got into a little whisky trouble and they give me six months, see? And once you're in, the cops have got it in for you. Then I married Gracie—and she'd been married to Vick and he got killed and all that business was in the papers. But understand—Grace is out of this. She don't know a thing. She liked to had a fit when she saw in the papers——"

"Go on—leave all that out," Garnett prompted quietly.

"Well, after I got out I was broke—but I had a chance to get this taxicab—and you know how it is—if you want to do business you got to square the right people. That's where the trouble commenced. This fellow—you know who I'm talking about, Jack—offered to fix up everything for me with the big shots and I was mug enough to let him do it. I didn't have the money, see—and he'd known Grace and Vick—so I let him square me and keep the mob off me—and you know how that would turn out! He owned me after that!"

Eden nodded. There was, somehow, a curious tautness in the air, as though some one had spoken a word of doom, as though a sinister step had been heard somewhere. She seemed to be feeling again those crushing fingers on her lips—only now they were somehow on her throat.

"Yes, I understand," she said.

Clint shifted in his chair. His voice sank. A cord in his throat quivered.

"So—that night, you know—when this fellow tells me to come to the corner of the Boulevard and pick him up there—at 2 o'clock in the morning—I gotta go, see? And, like a sap, I went. I'd ought to have driven my cab straight out into Lake Michigan, but instead I go to this corner and in a minute I see two of 'em get out of Peroni's cab up the street a little ways and come walking along and they get into mine."

"Peroni?"

"You remember him, I guess. He got pinched when you did. It was him opened the door for you—he's in jail yet and glad to be there, I guess. But me—I drove those two fellows to a place where their car was waiting—I was just a taxi driver answering a call—but I drove 'em and the cops would make plenty of it. These double-crossers I'm telling you about would let me burn to save their own hides—that's the kind of rats they are. Now, this was what me and Jack figured, when he told me your folks were friends of Martin Burke. I thought——"

Chicken Salad Makes Bow in Clever Guises

BY MARY MEADE.

A ha! We fooled you that time! You thought you were diving into some sort of chocolate eclair or cream puff with your fork, didn't you? And what did you find but nice, cold, chicken salad tucked away under the cover of that pastry shell! Wasn't it fun?

That's an idea for picnics, too. Only, instead of cream puff shells, we'll use rolls, the long kind. We'll slice off the tops lengthwise and scoop out the interiors, saving the crums, part of them for the salad and part for use in casserole dishes later on. And we'll stuff the rolls with chicken salad, maybe buttering them inside first. On goes the lid, a couple of wood pins holding it in place. Waxed paper for each roll, and we're off for a picnic with a new kind of chicken salad sandwich.

Chicken salad long has been a popular guest at luncheons and buffet suppers. But, to avoid the ordinary, the hostess must serve her salad in some new way, garnish it uniquely, or use an entirely different recipe. We've found an entirely different recipe for you!

Chicken Salad in Sherry Aspic.

1½ cups cooked or canned chicken, diced
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup cooked or canned peas
3½ cups clear chicken stock
1½ tablespoons granulated gelatin
2 tablespoons minced carrot
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup minced celery
1 sprig parsley
½ bay leaf
2 whole cloves
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons sherry wine

Mix diced chicken, celery and peas, and add to the aspic, which is made in the following manner: Soften the gelatin in ½ cup of the cold stock. Cook the rest of the stock, the minced vegetables, and seasonings together for 20 minutes. Strain out the vegetables. Add to the stock the softened gelatin, the egg whites which have been slightly beaten, and the lemon juice. Place on the stove, and beat the mixture with a whisk until the boiling point is reached. Set the pan aside where it will remain hot, but not boil, for 20 minutes. Strain through fine cheesecloth, and add sherry. When chicken, peas, and celery have been added to the aspic, place it in individual ring moulds, rinsed with cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve on shredded lettuce beds with mayonnaise. If desired, the mayonnaise may be slightly flavored with wine, 2 tablespoons to a cup, with the addition of ½ tablespoon lemon juice.

We realize that this is quite a complicated recipe, that is, that there are many ingredients, and that the salad probably will take some time to prepare, so for those of you who would like to make chicken salad in a less elaborate manner, we suggest the following recipe.

Chicken-Olive Salad.

[6 to 8 servings.]
2 cups diced chicken
½ cup chopped stuffed olives
1 cup chopped celery
2-3 cup chopped endive
½ cup mayonnaise
½ teaspoon salt

Mix all ingredients lightly in salad bowl. Serve on endive. Lettuce may be used instead of the endive. Garnish with whole, stuffed olives.

Four Star Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Different from the usual run of pieced star patterns, "Four Star Block" offers a group of four stars which are surrounded by another group of four stars. The design apparently is most complicated. But to piece the block is to make one of the most interesting and simple of quilt patterns. A combination of printed and plain material is used when the pattern is set together as an all-over design. The combination of materials gives the quilt the quaint and mellow charm of age.

Miss Peggy Hambleton to Become Bride

Ceremony to Take Place on Thursday.

shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Rose return from California.

Miss Robertson and her fiancé will make definite wedding plans this week-end when both will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Smith at their summer home in Harbor Point. Miss Robertson attended the University School for Girls and is a graduate of Northwestern university. Mr. Rose went to war as soon as he had finished his preparatory work, and never went to college. He will take his bride to Indianapolis to make their home next September.

Miss Meaker's engagement to Edwin Francis Walker Jr. is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wesley Meaker of 419 Lee street, Evanston. Mr. Walker is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Francis Walker of Pasadena, Cal., and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight H. Perkins [Lucy Fitch Perkins, author of the "Twin" books], with whom he has been making his home here for the last six years.

Miss Meaker was graduated from Connecticut college in 1934, and attended the Graduate Teachers' College of Winnetka the following year. She just has returned from Buffalo, N. Y., where she has been teaching at the Park school.

Mr. Walker is a graduate of Pomona college in California. No plans have been made for the wedding.

Smyth De Coningh Nuptials at Home.

Miss de Coningh, daughter of Mrs. Frederic de Coningh, and Henry DeWolf Smyth will be married at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in Mrs. de Coningh's apartment at 219 Lake Shore drive. Miss Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Fleming, will be married at the same hour at the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest, to Norman Lee Cram. A reception will follow in the gardens of the Flemings' Lake Forest home.

Dr. Duncan Browne of St. James' Episcopal church will read the Smyth-De Coningh ceremony in the presence of the immediate families, and the same group will remain to partake of a high tea afterward. Mr. Smyth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Smyth of Princeton, N. Y., will be attended by his brother, Charles Smyth, as best man. Miss de Coningh will be unattended.

After a wedding trip in the Canadian Rockies and Glacier National park Mr. Smyth and his bride will be at home next September in Princeton, where he is chairman of the physics department at Princeton university.

Miss Fleming to Wear Mother's Wedding Gown.

The Cram-Fleming wedding and reception will be among the prettiest of the summer, for the bridesmaids are being dressed to complement the view of the gardens that the guests will have as they walk down the outdoor receiving line, and the bride is wearing her mother's wedding gown. Of course, if it is a rainy afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming, their daughter and son-in-law, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Lanfear Cram, who are here from New York, will receive indoors in the living room.

The bride is to have one of her sisters, Miss Josephine Fleming, as maid of honor, while another sister, Miss Lily Fleming will be one of the two bridesmaids, and the youngest sister, Jean Alice, will attend as flower girl. Miss Ruth Abells will be the other bridesmaid.

Ambrose Cram Jr. of New York will be his brother's best man, and ushering will be Prentice Browning, George Keller, William Wieboldt, and Edward Watermulder. The Rev. A. Brant Noble, Episcopal chaplain at Yale university, where the bridegroom studied, has come west to officiate at the wedding. Mrs. Noble accompanied him.

Mr. Cram will take his bride west on their honeymoon, and when they return they will be at home on Chicago's near north side.

N. U. Abolishes Deans of Men and Women; Substitutes Board

Northwestern university has abolished the offices of deans of men and of women, and in their stead has created a board of personnel administration to help students to solve their problems, Walter Dill Scott, president, announced yesterday. The members of the board, of which Elias Lyman is chairman, will devote their full time to counseling the students.

President Scott declared that the new board is a movement away from the growing tendency to "departmentalize" the giving of advice to students.

"The primary function of a college training," President Scott said, "is to produce changes in the behavior and thinking of students. To that end universities are increasing their facilities to provide for the individual needs of students in the problems arising outside of the classroom."

Under the new system, a student seeking advice is sent directly to the board member best qualified to advise him.

Chicagoans Win American Whist League Tournament

Robert S. Rubel and Miss Allyne Paris, both of Chicago, won the national contract pair championship sponsored by the American Whist league, played in the Stevens hotel Sunday and yesterday. Their score was 604½ points. The second team, composed of Robert W. Halpin and M. S. Reilly, scored 586½. All the five leading teams were composed of Chicagoans. Oswald Jacoby of New York, paired with Louis J. Haddad of Chicago, finished seventh.

Summer Fashions Require That Back Be Attractive

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I was looking over a large pile of pictures the other day expecting to find a number of photos of backs, one of which I might use for illustration. My search led me to the conclusion that if you have a beautiful back, you have an unusual asset. Understand, my picture pile consisted of photographs of professional beauties, among whom one would expect a fair percentage of especially attractive backs.

Maybe you say: "What of it?" And that's what I'd say, too, if girls didn't go in for public back exposure the way they do currently in evening clothes, in backless sports things, and in bathing suits. Then it becomes a problem of how not to offend the eye of the beholder.

One can't talk about backs without immediately hopping onto the time-worn subject of posture. Posture makes and breaks the good back. An unusually beautiful back may have additional qualities, such as finely grained skin smooth as satin, or it may be dimpled without an extra bit of fatty tissue. It may have feminine lines as opposed to the often square-built athletic back. However, if you have the back that good posture contributes, you'll do.

Take any beach, night club, or formal dinner table scene, where backs are not concealed, and you almost can count on your one hand the backs that bear exposure gracefully. Indeed, you may run into some fairly revolting sights when the backless costume greets the eye. The extraordinarily fat back, perhaps, caps the climax of ugliness, unless the mottled, blemished, and sometimes startlingly bony one gets the vote.

Today it is suggested that you interview yourself on this back question. You may not be familiar with the picture you present, which doesn't matter so much if you are willing to keep it covered. But if you are going in for back exposure, you owe your public at least a passable back. And it might be said that remodeling the back is just about the easiest feature there is to remodel once you've set your mind to better posture. Tomorrow I'll tell you how.

Good Morning!

This "Early to Bed" is a simple thing—but cute!

Shortly after the picture opens Tessie Weeks is rushed into matrimony by Mr. Beatty—who has courted her for 20 years.

You: "'Rushed'—did you say!"

Me: [Or I—if you prefer]—"Yes. Because after 15 years of 'going together' and five of being engaged, Miss Weeks suddenly declares she's sick and tired of waiting to become a bride. It shall, therefore be marriage at once—or no marriage at all."

Which panics Mr. Beatty. In 20 years you can get awfully used to a woman, you know. So, Mr. Beatty leaps into action—without telling Miss Weeks the AWFUL SECRET which has deterred him from leaping before....

Now, for 26 years he has been a mere clerk in Burgess Frisbie's eye glass factory—and Mr. Frisbie is a chap who doesn't believe in vacations. BUT—

The boss offers a month's vacation and a $1,000 bonus to any member of his sales staf who shall succeed in securing a certain order from one Horace Stanton—who is taking a cure at a fashionable health resort on a lake with a jawbreaker of a name that I shan't even try to spell here.

The Beatty honeymoon—which was to have been at Niagara—becomes a hectic affair at aforementioned resort. Robbery, murder and Mr. Beatty's AWFUL SECRET keep the action fires burning. Mr. Beatty, of course, eventually becomes a hero and secures not only an order but a new job—despite perpetual gumming up of the works by his well meaning and adoring but O so dumb and tactless! spouse.

The co-stars delight, as usual, and an A1 cast and smart director help to keep you happy.

Visit to Europe Wins Anna Sten for Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., June 28.—[Special.]—It's a changed Anna Sten who has come back to Hollywood to make American films. In place of the slightly somber, throaty voiced, reserved young woman with the heavy walk and somewhat disarrayed hair who broke her contract with Sam Goldwyn and "escaped" from Hollywood about two years ago, a vivacious, blonde, smiling, lively young woman has come back from a stage tour and a couple of pictures in Europe.

She speaks English more quickly and as if she does not resent having to employ the language and even has learned some of the less involved slang cracks.

In place of playing card games with only close friends and sometimes with the servants, Miss Sten has installed handball, badminton and ping-pong facilities at the beach place she and her husband, Dr. Eugene Frenke, are living in at Santa Monica, and Dr. Frenke even bought her a motor boat in which she cruises up and down the Santa Monica waterfront.

Miss Sten isn't the first girl who came back from Europe, after having shaken Hollywood's dust off her slippers, to proclaim America as the one and only place to be. But for persons who remembered some of her remarks uttered in 1934, it was interesting to hear Miss Sten say: "My family is here. My friends are here. The sun shines here. It is a beautiful country and I should like to call it my home."

Her husband, Dr. Frenke, who directed several pictures for Universal here, will produce and direct his wife's coming venture.

When Marlene Dietrich leaves New York July 6 to make pictures in England she will take her personal hairdresser, Nellie Manley, as well as her chauffeur, Ernest Bridges, with her. Daughter Marie Sieber, 11, goes along too. She will go to school in Switzerland.

Hunts 100 Real Baseball Fans for Cub Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

When we were having a party out at Wrigley field last year, you boys and girls all voted Gabby Hartnett your favorite Cub player. Is he still the top?

You'll have a chance to see him and probably all your other Cub heroes Thursday, July 9, if you're a real baseball fan. As I told you yesterday I have 100 tickets for the Cubs-Brooklyn game on that date and I'm looking for 50 boys and 50 girls to use 'em.

If you think you'd like to come, write a letter and tell me so. If you prove to me that you really deserve an invitation to this party, and remember to observe the few simple rules which we've set, you may see your name listed among the winners in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

The rules are: Each boy or girl must write his or her own letter—those written by mothers or big brothers will not be considered. Your letter must tell me your name, address, and age, and reach me by next Thursday, July 2, when all will be judged and the lucky boys and girls selected.

Mail should be addressed to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Now a word to the youngsters who were listed as winners for our first big party of the year, which takes place on Thursday, at Comiskey park. If your name was printed in my column in last Sunday's TRIBUNE you should have received a personal invitation by this time. If you haven't, please let me know immediately.

Post and Paddock Scene of Luncheons.

George A. Ranney and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers. Mrs. John Hertz, whose Count Arthur won the fourth race, wore a gray tailored suit and a small white hat, and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Levy of New York, was smart in white with a topcoat of brown and dubonnet red with a hat of the same red. Mrs. Warren Wright, whose Pharosay placed in the fifth race, was in blue. She was a luncheon hostess and among her guests were Mrs. Otto Lehmann, Mrs. H. Teller Archibald, Mrs. Hertz and Mrs. Levy.

One of the prettiest young women sitting on the terrace of the Post and Paddock was Mrs. John Hurley, whose gay frock was only partially hidden by her pale blue coat. The frock was printed in huge flowers with bright blue predominating against a pale blue background, and there was a touch of the same bright blue on her large leghorn hat. With her was her sister-in-law, Mrs. William A. Ryan, whose printed frock was flowered in a small design against a black background.

Sitting near them was another lovely looking young woman, Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley Jr., and her mother, Mrs. Benjamin L. Behr. Mrs. Stanley was wearing a white hat with gray blue tweeds. Miss Carlotta Lagorio was stunning, as always, in a white linen suit, a tiny white linen hat and a bright green blouse.

Mrs. Press Hodgkins' dress and turban were of salmon pink material and her coat was white. Mrs. Stanley Field was another who wore a dress and turban to match, but hers were of brown wool. Her short knife plaited cape was of the same soft material and the outfit was one of the smartest seen at the park. Miss Betty Kellogg also wore a gown and turban to match; they were of tomato red.

Mrs. Howard Linn was one of the many smartly clad women who had chosen black and white for her ensemble. Her suit was black and her tunic blouse and the brim of her sailor hat, which was held in place on her glistening white curls by a wide black band, were of white piqué flecked with black. The crown of her hat was of black. Mrs. Morrill Hubbard was all in black except for a white rubber raincoat.

Mrs. Phelps Dunham's black dress was enlivened by a three-quarter length swagger coat of a bright gold color. Her shiny black straw hat was trimmed with a tiny bunch of field flowers. Mrs. Richard H. Fleming was smart in gray blue tweeds that buttoned right up to her chin and her sister, Mrs. Richard Simmons, was in navy blue with a huge collar of taupe fox. Their mother, Mrs. Benjamin H. Marshall, was in black, with a deep pink camellia pinned on her left lapel.

Rhea Seeger to Talk.

Miss Rhea Seeger, fashion editor of THE TRIBUNE, will speak at a meeting of the Chicago Woman's club on Wednesday morning, July 8. Mrs. George H. Lamberton, chairman of the summer activities committee of the club, will introduce Miss Seeger.

Buttons Are Chic Trimming

JUNIOR GIRL'S SPORTS DRESS.

Fashion designers have been sponsoring buttons for summer wear, and they do splendid duty in this sports frock with sun back and separate cape. The neckline is squared, and the bodice is trimmed with buttons just below the neckline. These buttons also serve to fasten the generously long cape which converts this active sports dress into a street or spectator frock.

Slim young figures appear exceedingly attractive in this simple model which is ideal for the many varieties of games which the outdoors offers during the summer. This frock may be worn for golf, tennis, hiking, and the beach. It will be lovely attire for deck games, in case you're going cruising. And if your favorite beau suggests two seats in the grand stand for baseball next week make up this dress for the event and be certain that you will be smartly attired as well as cool, because the cape will hide the sun back yet not be uncomfortably warm.

Style No. 3125 is designed for sizes 11 ,13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material for both dress and cape.

According to CULBERTSON

THE LOWLY DEUCE.

The universal feeling among bridge players about low cards seems to be that they are dirty little weeds in an otherwise lovely garden. Not being strong on horticulture I am not prepared to discuss weeds with authority, but I wouldn't be at all surprised to learn that they serve a useful purpose. I know that low cards often are life savers at the bridge table, fulfilling a multiplicity of duties.

Some of the finest plays I have seen depended entirely on the presence of a deuce or three in the hand. The mere fact that most players hold these cards in cold contempt does not detract from their intrinsic worth. What could East have done in today's hand without a certain deuce?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

West made the orthodox opening of his fourth highest heart; East's queen was allowed to hold, and declarer won the heart return with the ace. The jack of diamonds next was led and finessed, East properly holding up his king.

Another diamond was led to dummy's queen and, this time, East won, returning his last heart. Declarer won and decided to sound out the club situation. He led the ace, king, and queen, and had East played automatically to these three cards his goose would have been cooked! He would have been caught flat-footed with a fourth round club winner. Declarer would have put him on lead with a club and he could not possibly have exited from his hand without giving dummy, with its three winning diamonds, the lead. Foreseeing this danger, East deliberately jettisoned his club stopper by following with high clubs instead of the deuce! By so doing he established declarer's fourth and fifth clubs, but that was inconsequential, inasmuch as the total number of tricks that declarer could win thus were limited to eight. Because there was nothing else to do declarer cashed his clubs and then led up to dummy's spade king. He was not greatly surprised [considering East's club unblock] when West put up the jack and the king lost to the ace in East's hand. A spade return to West's queen clinched victory for the defenders.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: My right hand opponent, not vulnerable, opened the bidding as dealer with a bid of four spades. I was vulnerable, and my hand was: ♠ J 6 2 ♥ A Q 3 ♦ A K 6 ♣ 10 9 7 6

I doubled. The bidder's partner redoubled and the contract was made with an overtrick. My partner was critical of my double. Was I wrong?

Answer: No, you were not wrong. Your double was quite justified. Obviously, your opponents must have had extraordinarily "fitting" hands. Possibly your partner, who also must have had a "freak hand," should have taken out the double.

Fireworks Are a Peril to the Young Child

There Is No Such Thing as a "Safe" Explosive.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

In a recent study made of accidents resulting from the use of fireworks for Fourth of July celebrations, some illuminating facts were revealed. They illustrate what happens when children, and older boys and girls set off fireworks recklessly—or are allowed to handle them at all, for that matter. What has astonished me more than anything has been the nonchalance of parents where their small children were concerned.

First, the startling fact that among the casualties of our celebrations were large numbers of infants and children too young to have any notion of what they were celebrating. Thus, in last year's Fourth of July celebration, 817 children between the ages of 1 and 10 years were injured, and thirteen youngsters of this age were killed.

In the 1 to 5 year group nine were killed and 146 injured.

"Six more children between the ages of 10 and 15 gave up their lives in the celebration of the Fourth of July, and 797 in that age group were injured."

Another part of this study is of interest:

"Fireworks accidents," the report says, "remind one of war injuries, and for two reasons: One, because of the growing practice of hurling fireworks at persons, especially in passing automobiles.

"The other reason is that so many of these reports state that the victim supposed the firecracker was no longer ignited, and therefore returned for it. The frequency with which severe explosions followed reminds one of the reports for years after the world war of peasants in France being injured by picking up unexploded bombs in the fields."

There is one more point—the one concerning harmless fireworks. The report says:

"The study already has borne out our earlier conviction that there is no such thing as harmless fireworks. Almost every kind of fireworks was reported as responsible for injury or death. It showed that the common firecracker is in the aggregtae the most dangerous of all fireworks, probably because it is used in larger quantities than any other item. More than 2,000 of the 3,000 casualties in this study were caused by firecrackers. The study shows that even the so-called 'harmless sparkler,' which is frequently recommended for use in the home, can be deadly. Sparklers caused ninety casualties last Fourth of July, including at least four fatalities."

"Care of the Baby in Summer" is the name of a leaflet which is sent out on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

WISCONSIN HIGH COURT UPHOLDS TRADE CODE TAX

Rules Business Must Pay Control Costs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., June 29.—[Special.]—Acting on original arguments presented last week, the state Supreme court today sustained the assessment provision of the 1935 Wisconsin recovery act. Under that law ten codes of fair competition are operating. The decision was six to one, Justice Edward T. Fairchild dissenting.

In effect, the entire act was at stake, since the trade practice commission, administering agency for the codes, would collapse without the right to assess fees. The controversy went directly to the high court on petition of the commission after the Wisconsin Contractors, Inc., had notified its 500 members they need not pay the assessments because they constituted an unconstitutional levy.

Holds Power Legally Granted.

Without passing on validity of the law itself, the court held that the legislature was constitutionally empowered both to assess industry for its own regulation and to delegate such authority to an administrative agency.

In part, the opinion, written by Justice George B. Nelson, said:

"If the exaction [code fees] is in the aid of regulation and for the purpose of eradicating abuses, in the interests of public welfare, and bears a reasonable relation to the end sought, there can be no serious question as to the power of the legislature to impose it."

The decision ended months of heated controversy and point blank refusal to pay the fees, particularly in codes regulating the building, tavern, and barber industries.

Upholds Picketing Plants.

In another important decision, the Supreme court, dividing four to three, sustained the constitutionality of the Wisconsin labor code. The interpretation was sufficiently liberal to permit organized labor to picket a plant in an effort to force employers to unionize their workers.

The court's majority opinion, written by Justice John D. Wickhem, upheld the right to picket even where no dispute exists between employer and employés.

"It is our view," Justice Wickham wrote, "that the language of the abor code is plain and unambiguous and does not exact as a prerequisite to a labor dispute that there be a controversy between employer and employés."

Justices Chester A. Forler, Fairchild and Nelson dissented in that case. In his dissenting opinion, Justice Fairchild said he did not believe the legislature intended to permit coercion of workers to join labor unions any more than it wanted to force employers to prohibit unions.

How Case Started.

The picketing case reached the Supreme court on an appeal by the American Furniture company, Milwaukee, whose seventeen workers refused to join the chauffeurs, teamsters, and other local unions. The unions picketed the plant. The company sought an injunction on grounds that its workers, and not the management, were opposed to unionization.

KILLED BY TRAIN

An inquest will be held today into the death of Samuel Grabiner, 80 years old, 7028 East End avenue, father of Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Chicago White Sox baseball team. The elder Grabiner was killed yesterday by a west bound Illinois Central suburban train at East 71st street and Stony Island avenue.

According to Paul Cardinael, 7051 Harper avenue, a witness, Grabiner alighted from a bus, crawled under lowered gates at the crossing, and was struck by the front end of the second car of the train. In addition to Harry Grabiner, he is survived by his widow, two sons, Joseph and Saul; three daughters, Mrs. Etta Wolfe, Mrs. Harry Stein, and Mrs. Fannie Simons, and a granddaughter, June Travis, motion picture actress.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 7206 Stony Island avenue. Burial will be in Jewish Waldheim cemetery.

TEACHERS READY TO BATTLE FOR THEIR FREEDOM

Portland, Ore., June 29.—(AP)—The National Education association, ready to make a fight for academic freedom, was told by its keynoter today that educating America's children is a task set in a scene "both terrifying and inspiring."

The association's committee on academic freedom meanwhile released a report declaring "teachers must feel free in their teaching" and declaring "it is futile to expect independent, judicious, and courageous minds to be developed in students . . . by timid and submissive teachers."

The report, issued by Dr. Henry L. Smith, education school dean at Indiana university, will be presented to the association.

The keynote address was given by Dr. Frederick M. Hunter, chancellor of Oregon's higher education system, shortly after the association's legislative commission voted to ask repeal of the congressional ban on teaching of communism in the District of Columbia public schools.

The clause, written into a national appropriation bill, requires Washington, D. C., teachers to take an oath before receiving pay checks that they have neither taught nor advocated communism.

Some committee members at the National Education association's seventy-fourth annual convention classified the clause as an "insult" to teachers.

The chancellor addressed the convention after Miss Agnes Samuelson, state superintendent of public instruction in Iowa and association president, launched the general session and individual assemblies of eighteen affiliated groups.

If the teaching profession accepts the responsibility which the nation places upon it, three fundamental ideas must be kept before it, Dr. Hunter said. They are:

1. The spread of knowledge has a creative rescue power for the ills of society.

2. Our American origin and the total of our life experience commit us irrevocably to the democratic philosophy of life.

3. The methods of science applied to the realm of economics confirm the conception that widespread economic prosperity is to be found in the constant increase of the levels of living and culture of the people.

Train Crashes Truck; Jury Award to Railway Upheld

Toledo, O., June 29.—[Special.]—The Sixth District Court of Appeals today upheld the verdict of a jury awarding the New York Central railroad $3,090.40 for damages to the crack Twentieth Century train in a collision here May 28, 1933. The defendant is Harvey H. Sentle, whose six ton truck, carrying twelve tons of steel, was struck by the train. The court, in its opinion, called attention to the potential tragedy of a collision between a passenger train and an eighteen ton object.

GIRL USES DAD'S BONUS FOR TRIP TO 'SEE GABLE'

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—A movie struck Brooklyn girl, Martha Vichnes, who used her jobless father's bonus money to keep an imagined date with Clark Gable, was on the way home from Hollywood today.

She had $5 left of the $400 she started out with last Wednesday. The Los Angeles American Legion bought her a ticket east.

The girl spent the $400 in four days riding an airplane to Los Angeles and setting herself up in a hotel suite while she pounded in vain at the studio gates for an audience with Gable, to whom she has written hundreds of letters. He hasn't answered any.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

by Frank Ridgway

Rain Revives Crops.

June 29, 1936.

Rain today at the Tribune Wheaton experimental farm revived crops that recently have been handicapped by a combination of dry weather, weeds, and insects. The rain may not save the sun seared grass outside the woodland pastures, but it will be of great benefit to the field crops and the second crop of alfalfa.

Corn has withstood the unfavorable weather remarkably well because of cool weather and an abundance of soil moisture stored up from last winter's snows and early spring rains. This moisture has been conserved by frequent working of the soil throughout the season. The corn at the farm has suffered most on the high thin spots where the plants in many cases are from four to six inches tall. On the richer ground in the low places the corn is making a fine growth and already is knee high. With a reasonable amount of rain from now until harvest, it should make a satisfactory tonnage of material for the silos.

Weeds in corn and other cultivated crops have been kept under control with cultivators and hoes, but the crops that are drilled or broadcast, and therefore cannot be cultivated, are struggling in competition with weeds and grass.

Wash Grass Clean.

Showers today washed the dust off the dry grass in the pastures. They will freshen up to some extent, but it would take a drenching rain to revive them fully. The bluegrass pastures outside the wooded areas on the farm already are burnt until they are brown. The dry bluegrass is being clipped and will be used for roughage for the live stock. The manager hopes that clipping will cause the pasture to produce a new crop more readily, providing there is ample summer rain.

A fair tonnage of alfalfa hay has been harvested and the fields are becoming green again. The long roots of alfalfa have made it possible for the second crop to withstand the dry weather fairly well up to the present time, and today's rain is expected to be of material help.

Benefits Wheat.

Wheat and oats still are green on the Wheaton farm and the rain is expected to be of benefit to these crops. Men on the farm forecast a fair crop of wheat from one field where the ground is fairly rich and especially in the low parts of the field where moisture has been sufficient to keep the plants growing. On the higher parts of the field the wheat is just beginning to turn yellow. With plenty of rain most of the heads will have a chance to fill before harvest. In another field where the ground is thin and high the wheat has not done so well. Some of it is so tall in spots that it is beginning to fall over. This lodging will make harvesting more difficult.

Since the oats have just started turning they will have a chance to make more grain as a result of the rain. At best, however, the oats straw will be short and the grain crop likely will fall below a normal yield.

The manager of the Yorkville farm reported that it also rained there for about 45 minutes this morning. The rain was sufficient to be of great benefit to all the growing crops, especially corn and oats. Most of the oats still are green. It rained hard enough to stop the cultivators, but the men were able to go back into the corn fields this afternoon, he said.

THERE is a reason why Louis Meyer won the 500-mile Indianapolis race this year — and why he is the only man ever to win this gruelling race three times. He always used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, and never experienced tire trouble of any kind.

Louis Meyer knows tire construction. He also knows that to drive for 500 consecutive miles over this hot brick track, negotiating the dangerous curves 800 times at the record-breaking average speed of 109 miles an hour, requires tires of super strength and greatest blowout protection, as a blowout on any one of the dangerous curves would likely mean instant death. By the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process every cord in the tires on Louis Meyer's car was soaked and coated with liquid rubber, thereby preventing internal friction and heat. This is the secret of the extra strength and reserve safety built into Firestone Tires.

When you make your holiday trip this week-end, you of course will not drive at 109 miles per hour, but at today's higher speeds you do need tires that will give you greatest blowout protection and will stop your car up to 25% quicker.

Take no chances! Let us equip your car today with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires, the safest tires built. It costs so little to protect lives worth so much.

CUBS' DEFENSE CRACKS; REDS TRIUMPH, 4-3

WHEREAWAY WINS ARLINGTON INAUGURAL STAKE

PHAROSAY IS SECOND; RAIN GREETS OPENING

Use Eye-in-the-Sky in First Race.

BY FRENCH LANE.

True to time honored tradition, it rained when the Arlington Park Jocky club opened its 30 day racing season yesterday.

It has rained on opening day at Arlington for eight years in a row, so yesterday's unpleasantness made no difference to the guests or the horses. They almost expected it and as the drizzly program progressed the guests grew gayer and more speculative.

Except for the weather, the opening was perfect. Even the horses came through. A nose finish enabled the guests to see how the Eye-in-the-Sky worked.

It came in the first race where Tootsie Cake, from Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana stable, and Busy Mae, owned by Al Born of Chicago, came to the finish line on such even terms that everybody was all hot and bothered about it except the Eye-in-the-Sky.

Tootsie Cake by a Nose.

Down the long wire into the judges stand rolled the official observation of the Eye-in-the-Sky. It revealed that Tootsie Cake was the winner by about an inch and a half. Then the big opening party was on in full blast.

Even the rain clouds got into the spirit of the thing and moved away just before the Inaugural handicap was run. Old Sol beamed down on the rain drenched track while Whereaway, owned by Tony Pelleteri of New Orleans, raced to a thrilling victory in the $2,500 stake.

Whereaway came from away back to score his triumph. At one stage of the race he was seventh in the eleven horse field.

The Fighter Is Third.

He made his move on the outside after wheeling into the stretch and, stride by stride, wore down the game 3 year old Pharosay from Warren Wright's stable to win in the final few jumps. Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' stout hearted 3 year old, The Fighter, finished third and the Maryland chestnut, Infidox, after threatening the leaders on the turn into the stretch, finished fourth.

The Inaugural was at 7 furlongs and despite the rain, which came down in a steady drizzle throughout the morning and early afternoon, Whereaway skipped over the distance in 1:24. This was just 2 seconds slower than the world's record Clang hung up over the same course last year.

The race had a gross value of $3,880 and $3,005 of this amount went into Owner Pelleteri's hip pocket.

Pharosay, somewhat of a wild horse, tossed his rider, I. Anderson, into mud before the start and yet displayed great speed through the early stages. He broke from the extreme outside, but scampered down the first half mile in :46 2-5. He ran the three-quarters in 1:11 3-5, and at that stage appeared to be a certain winner.

Entry Is Favorite.

Whereaway, which had been under strong restraint, was given his head at this point. He moved past horses without effort. When the field was but an eighth out, Whereaway collared Pharosay. He drove on into a clear lead, weakened slightly in the

Omaha's Jocky Weds; Hurries to Arlington

Detroit, Mich., June 29.—(AP)—William [Smoky] Saunders, the jocky who rode Omaha to victory in the 1935 Kentucky Derby, obtained a waiver of Michigan's five day wait marriage license law today and married Pauline Waterbury of Detroit.

Saunders explained he had to leave Detroit tonight to appear at Arlington Park, Chicago, and wished to take a bride with him. Common Pleas Judge James M. Jeffries performed the ceremony.

PLAYER TO WED ON FIELD.

Albany, N. Y., June 29.—(AP)—Bobby Loane, outfielder for the Albany Senators, picked home plate in Hawkins stadium, the International league ball park, today for the scene of his forthcoming wedding to a schoolday sweetheart, Barbara Berg, 18 year old Oakland, Cal., girl.

The ceremony will take place July 22 just before Loane takes the field in a night game against the Rochester Red Wings. Al Mamaux, manager of the Albany club, will give the bride away and is arranging for an orchestra to play the wedding march.

Mrs. Leo Rodak, Wife of Boxer, Gives Birth to Son

BUDGE DEFEATS ADRIAN QUIST IN ENGLISH TENNIS

WIMBLEDON, England, June 29.—(AP)—Don Budge again joined the tennis leaders of the world today as he defeated Adrian Quist, Australian titleholder, and landed in the semi-final round of the all-England tournament for the second year in succession.

Like the three other winners of quarter-final matches—Fred Perry, the defending champion, H. W. [Bunny] Austin, and Baron Gottfried von Cramm—Budge went through without the loss of a set, winning at 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, in an afternoon providing few thrills for the 30,000 spectators.

Perry and Austin claimed Americans as their victims, Perry defeating Bryan Grant of Atlanta, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, and Austin beating Wilmer Allison, the 31 year old American champion, 6-1, 6-4, 7-5. Von Cramm, finalist against Perry last year, eliminated the veteran Jack Crawford of Australia, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

Perry Uses Speed.

Experts look for another Perry-Von Cramm final. Last year Perry beat the German in straight sets.

Perry, who had seen plenty of Grant's style of play in America, knew what to expect and refused to be drawn into long romps with the Atlanta player. Instead he closed in as quickly as possible and on almost every point smashed Grant off the court.

The Briton broke away swiftly to a 3-0 lead and then Grant braced and pulled up level. Then Grant faded rapidly, falling an easy victim to Perry's fast, low bounding drives.

Budge Wins Easily.

Budge played smoothly and never was forced to step up his game to the limit against Quist, who couldn't keep the ball in bounds more than two or three strokes at a time and had difficulty keeping his footing on the slippery turf.

The American was in front all the time except for a brief spell in the third set, when he trailed 2-3. However, Budge took three games at love to regain command.

Austin achieved Allison's downfall by drilling away at the American's backhand. Allison fought gamely in the third set and in his eagerness to keep the match alive fell three times.

Montreal Royals Buy Heath from Indianapolis

MONTREAL, Que., June 29.—(AP)—The Montreal Royals today announced the purchase of Mickey Heath, first baseman, from the Indianapolis club of the American association. The Royals transferred their option on Buddy Bates, a young outfielder, to Indianapolis and added cash to complete the deal.

SOX OPEN TIGER SERIES TODAY; LYONS TO HURL

BY EDWARD BURNS.

There was one major baseball game scheduled for yesterday afternoon in this great nation of ours, and it wasn't played. The contest between the Detroit Tigers and the Chicago White Sox, which was to have been played at Comiskey park, was postponed on account of damp grass, clouds and a shortage of Sox pitchers.

Mr. Dykes had one pitcher—Ted Lyons—ready for the day's business, but he had just come out of double-headers Saturday and Sunday and faces double-headers next Saturday and Sunday. Therefore the morning rain yesterday was a welcome break. The game will be played as a part of a double-header when the world champs come to town later in the season.

The Sox would have enjoyed playing the Tigers more a week ago, when the champions were in the throes of a seven game losing streak, than now when they have a winning streak under way which has mounted to four straight.

Sox Are Interesting.

The champs are ten games out of first place, but have not lost hope. Their pitchers are going strong again and the batters have been clicking, even without the pace setting talents of Hank Greenberg, who expects to be back at work in the near future. And there is a chance that Manager Mickey Cochrane will experience a miraculous recovery if his team keeps on winning.

The Sox losses have been spectacular, causing many to suspect the team is more of a clown troupe than it really is. The outfit lacks just a little class or it would be a contender. Rip Radcliff, Luke Appling, and Larry Rosenthal have been turning in some of the finest performances the Sox have enjoyed in years.

While his batting is far from that of his outfield colleagues, Mule Haas has been going great defensively. Barring his foldup in the first game of Sunday's double-header, Vern Kennedy has been doing some fine pitching, and the same may be said of John Whitehead, who has not had much luck in scoring support on the days when he has done his best pitching.

Cain Is Revelation.

Sugar Cain's pitching has been a happy revelation. In three of his last four games the opposing teams have not been able to work a runner around the base except through the sudden agency of home runs. He won two of these games, 4 to 2 and

Aron Scores Technical K.O. Over Sagilio

Milt Aron last night continued his march to a welterweight championship bout by scoring a six round technical knockout over Frankie Sagilio before a record indoor crowd of 2,133 at Marigold Gardens. The 20 year old son of a Dubuque, Ia., rabbi registered two knockdowns in the third round and four in the sixth before Referee Joe McNamara stopped the bout. The time was 2 minutes and 37 seconds.

Boom! Sagilio Drops.

Sagilio was the aggressor, but Aron's sharp counter punches had him wobbly in almost every round. Aron floored Sagilio the first time with a right to the chin for a nine count shortly after the round started. The Cicero slugger dropped to the canvas again for nine just before the round ended.

After catching two hard rights to the ear in the final session, Aron scored a third knockdown with a solid right to the jaw. Sagilio took a nine count on one knee. He went to his knees three more times, more from exhaustion than punches. Sagilio weighed 143 pounds and Aron, 144.

Lello Whips Kelly.

Pete Lello of Michigan City, Ind., who won the 1936 Chicagoland Golden Gloves lightweight title, made his professional debut by whipping Tod Kelly in four rounds. In the other preliminary Carl Fasnaugh, Toledo lightweight, stopped Eddie Moran of Cleveland in four rounds.

3 ERRORS DROP CHAMPIONS INTO A TIE FOR LEAD

33,468 Jam Park for Night Game.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., June 29.—The Cubs seemingly can't withstand the rigors of night life. They grew extremely weary along about 10:30 o'clock tonight, committed a series of clownlike errors, and tossed an electric light decision to the Reds before an overflow crowd of 33,468. The score was 4 to 3, dropping the Chicagoans into a tie for the league lead with the Cardinals and giving the Reds their seventh straight.

The Cubs' collapse occurred in the seventh inning. Until then Curt Davis, the ex-Philly, had pitched amazing ball, allowing only three hits. But as soon as he had been given a one run lead he weakened enough to give the home troops an opening. The Cub defense did the rest. Stanley Hack was guilty of a bad throw. Phil Cavarretta fumbled. Ken O'Dea rammed blindly into Hack and dropped a pop foul. All this produced four runs. Four runs proved enough.

Derringer's Good, Too.

The Cubs at least were game enough to fight back, but they furnished only a momentary thrill, as they unleashed three consecutive doubles with one out in the eighth to score two runs. But the rally subsided with the tying run still on base. It was their best outburst against Paul Derringer, who had been brought to the brink of defeat in the seventh when O'Dea and Johnny Gill fabricated the first run of the game. But the Cubs' subsequent blundering saved the big Rhineland right hander. It also inflicted defeat No. 7 on Davis.

Derringer was almost as good as Davis and would have been the better of the pair if the same battle had been waged on a clear field. Two of the Cubs' doubles, both of which resulted in run production, were fly balls which would have been caught normally. All the Reds' hits were singles, four of them coming when the Cubs were tottering in the grievous seventh.

There Ought to Be a Law.

Tickets were sold with no thought to the comfort or safety of patrons. Thousands were literally catapulted onto the field from the entangled mass in the grandstand and pavilions. Most of the ailes were impassable. Hundreds were out on the sloping pavilion roofs until the keystone cops woke up and chased them from their precarious positions. Altogether about 10,000 were without seats and a vast number who paid for reserved chairs had to stand or see nothing.

The Cubs had the pleasure of breaking in with the first hit. Galan got it in the opening inning. He singled to right after Hack had fanned and W. Herman had fouled to Campbell. O'Dea followed with a tap to Kampouris. The Cubs also were authors of the second hit. This time it was Hack. He doubled to left center after two were out and a good chance for him to score was blasted when Riggs staged a beautiful stop of a bullet like grounder by Billy Herman.

More Sparkling Defense.

Galan led off in the fourth with what should have been the third Cub hit, but it was snuffed out by another defensive gem. Augie slapped a hard drive between first and second and Scarsella, after grabbing it backhanded, tossed to Derringer who made the catch and beat Galan in a sprint for the base. The Chicagoans' third hit came an instant later. O'Dea singled to right, but Demaree bounced to Myers' hands for a double play.

After nine Reds had dropped meek-

It was the eighth consecutive opening day at Arlington on which it has rained. But the elements held no discouragement for the faithful, who flocked to the course.

LEWIS, OLIN WILL CLASH JULY 9 AT COMISKEY PARK

Uncertainty Ends; Champ to Drill Here.

John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight boxing champion, will meet Bob Olin, the old champion from Brooklyn, N. Y., in a ten round nontitle bout at Comiskey park Thursday, July 9. This appears to be definite now after days of uncertainty as to whether the match would be held. Tickets already have been placed on sale.

If additional confirmation is needed, one look at Promoter Fred Erwin will supply it, for he is wearing a smile for the first time since contracts for the contest were posted at the Illinois Boxing commission two weeks ago.

The reason for the south side colored promoter's jubilance is attributed to information obtained from Buffalo and Pittsburgh that the champion and Olin have canceled warmup encounters scheduled in those cities and are en route to begin preparations for their meeting here.

Eddie Ward, 1933 Golden Gloves lightweight champion, will clash with George Dixon II in a six round supporting bout. Permission to present an eight round match involving Art Sykes and Al Gainer will be sought at tomorrow's meeting of the commission. Another eight rounder will match Harry Thomas with a suitable foe.

A ten round bout between Georgie Nichols and Allen Matthews, scheduled at Northwest stadium tomorrow, yesterday was postponed until July 8 by Promoter Sammy Mandell. . . . Dick Beeler is helping Promoter Jules Beck arrange the weekly shows at Pittsburgh, held each Wednesday night. . . . Jack [Bad Boy] Brown has been selected as Pat McCleary's opponent on the wrestling card at Arcadia Gardens tomorrow. Paul Shikat opposes Art Van Saxon on the card, which is topped by Ali Baba and Ivan Rasputin. There also will be matches bringing together Ernie Peterson and Rudy Kay, and Ray Ryan and Red Vagnonne. . . . Al Baker, South Chicago lightweight, is paired with Harry Peck, Aurora, in one of two clashes at five rounds in the amateur show Thursday at Marigold Gardens. . . . Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Detroit Tigers, on a vacation in Wyoming, is being sought to referee the ten round bout between Leo Lomski and Ford Smith at Red Lodge, Mont., Saturday. Lomski is signed to make his next appearance here at Marigold Gardens July 13. . . .

Fifteen interpark amateur fights will be held tonight at Franklin park gymnasium, 14th street and Kolin avenue, between boxers representing Union park and Franklin park. Kenny Ross, Harold Brown, and Milt Aron will attend. The card follows:

COMPLETE PLANS FOR DEPARTURE OF OLYMPIC TEAM

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Final arrangements were completed today for the sailing of the American Olympic team on the S. S. Manhattan two weeks from Wednesday, secretary Frederick W. Rubian announced. The entire team, nearly 400 strong, will assemble at noon July 13 and receive instructions from President Avery Brundage.

To help in attending to the details, Mr. Brundage today appointed an administration committee which will transact all Olympic business through the managers of each team. It will consist of A. G. Gilbert, chairman; Daniel J. Ferris, chairman of the transportation committee; Leon M. Schoonmaker, chairman of the housing committee; Maj. Patrick J. Walsh, quartermaster; Rubien, secretary; James F. Simms, assistant secretary, and Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft, vice president.

No passports will be necessary for any of the American athletes from the period of July 15 to Aug. 31, since Olympic identification cards will be recognized by both the United States and German governments.

Reservations have been made for the housing of the team at the Olympic village, with the oarsmen and canoeists staying at Grusnau, the yachtsmen at Kiel, and the women at the reich sport field.

Richmond, Va., June 29.—(AP)—Gar Wood Jr. of Algonac, Mich., drove his class A outboard motorboat over a mile straightaway on the James river here today at a speed faster than the recognized world record. But not quite fast enough to have his performance recognized as a new record.

His speed of 46.823 miles per hour was .059 faster than the record, but regulations require the present mark to be bettered by one-tenth mile per hour to be recognized.

Little Gets Amateur Prize at Luncheon

Lawson Little Jr., of San Francisco, 1934 and 1935 national and British amateur golf champion, yesterday was presented with the 1935 James E. Sullivan memorial trophy awarded annually to America's outstanding athlete.

In presenting the trophy, before 700 guests, Brundage said that Little, now a professional, by his performance as a competitor and by his example and influence as an amateur did more than any other to advance the cause of sportsmanship in 1935.

Lauds Little's Gameness.

"He has strong character, meeting tests of gameness and fighting ability under most trying conditions," Brundage said. "His manner was unimpeachable before and during his astonishing climb to the top. He is modest, a gentleman and a credit to amateur athletics."

Brundage, as president of the American Olympic committee, made a plea for aid in raising funds to send 400 American athletes to the Olympic games. The team sails from New York July 15 and $150,000 is needed to finance it.

Predicts Olympic Success.

"I am proud of the team that will represent the United States," Brundage said. "I feel confident the Stars and Stripes will be raised in victory many times in the stadium in Berlin and I earnestly appeal for funds to enable us to send our representatives to Germany in good style."

Fifteen of America's outstanding track and field athletes, considered excellent prospects for Uncle Sam's Olympic team, were guests at the luncheon.

Limit on Bag Helping to Save Ducks

For the first time since the inauguration of the conservation policy for migratory waterfowl, there has been an increase in the number of ducks and geese that returned to breeding grounds, Dr. Ira N. Gabrielson, chief of the United States biological survey, said yesterday when he addressed a meeting of the Illinois Sportsmen's association at the Sherman hotel.

"The restrictions placed on bag limits last year were drastic," he said. "They were intended to cut the kill by human agency and they accomplished their purpose. Our checks this year for the first time show that more birds went back to the breeding grounds than went the preceding year. Checks by outside agencies agree with the bureau's reports."

Dr. Gabrielson agreed that the days of unlimited kill of ducks and geese were gone. A fair chance to restore the migratory waterfowl flight to greater numbers, he added, exists only if two things are done. They are: first, raising of additional funds required to complete the refuge program started with a federal grant and, secondly, demonstration of "enough sportsmanship on the part of the gunners in this country to stand for a restriction in the kill until the flight can be built back."

Although the biological survey has issued no regulations for the coming duck season, grapevine rumors about the regulations were heard at this meeting. They indicated that hunters next fall would operate under much the same regulations as prevailed last year. This means that duck hunters probably will not be permitted to shoot over baited ground.

Charles F. Thompson, director of conservation for Illinois, commended the organization's efforts to obtain adequate wildlife legislation.

Small Mouth Bronze Backs Give Fine Battle.

BY BOB BECKER.

A small mouth black bass in a lake is one thing, but a small mouthed black bass hooked in a stretch of swift water in the St. Croix river of northwest Wisconsin is an entirely different story. This is the inevitable verdict of any bass fisherman who bounces his canoe down the St. Croix, dodges the boulders, and slams through the rapids of that stream with a fly or bait casting rod in his hand.

And the height of all fun on the beautiful St. Croix is to play some of the small mouths on a fly rod. On such tackle the bronze backs make you work and put a strain on your wrist that is not soon forgotten.

Dam Stealing Water.

We hit a short stretch of the St. Croix a few days ago to see if we could interest some of the small mouth black bass in a fishing proposition. Unfortunately the river wasn't at a good stage of water and it won't be right until a new dam, built above the high landing where we put in, has quit stealing water from the river. [They're filling a new flowage so the engineers are cutting off some of the natural flow.] But in spite of the low water stage which has spoiled for a few weeks some of the best rapids and desirable fishing holes, we managed to connect with a few hard fighting bronze backs so that we could experience the feel of an arched fly rod while the fish were fighting in swift water.

Trip Also an Experience.

Keith Kimball and Harry Willoughby steered our car through the impressive, desolate "barrens" and over winding puzzling sand roads to get us to the place called the High Landing on the St. Croix. That trip through the rolling, denuded hills before you reach the river is in itself an experience worthwhile because the country is unlike anything we have seen in Wisconsin.

You can look for miles across hills and into deep valleys where only game birds and deer find a living. Then you slip down a steep hill and there in a setting of thick timber is the St. Croix, a peaceful looking stream that gives you no hint of roaring water, boulder strewn rapids, and the swift ride ahead.

Reveals an Ideal Spot.

The first rapids tells you that here is an ideal river for small mouth black bass. The second convinces you that there is nothing quite so much fun as drifting down a wild river that has bass in it.

With Keith standing in the rushing water holding our canoe above the Fish Trap rapids we found a fairly deep pocket below a swift shoot of water that was just to the liking of the bass. And they liked our yellow wet fly, too. The second cast brought a savage strike and then the fun began. The fish didn't weigh more than a pound and a half, but he put on enough pressure to make us think he weighed five pounds.

Ross Fight May Be Arranged at Meeting Today

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Interesting developments are anticipated at tomorrow's meeting of the New York boxing commission, when it is expected to be definitly settled whether Barney Ross, the welterweight champion, will box in this city during the present outdoor season. Pedro Montanez has been mentioned as Barney's next opponent.

There is even some whispering that Tony Canzoneri may turn out to be Ross's opponent after all. Sammy Goldman, the lightweight champion's manager, has given out a story that Canzoneri is anxious to meet Ross, to which end Tony would even vacate his title for the chance to get another crack at his old enemy. Goldman says he has made efforts to get Ross for Canzoneri, even going so far as to have the Madison Square Garden matchmaking department guarantee the welter champion $40,000.

MAK LEADS FIELD IN PLAY FOR U. S. PUBLIC TOURNEY

John Mak of Indian Boundary scored 36—34—70 yesterday to lead a field of 73 golfers over the Jackson park course in the first of a series of qualifying rounds for the national public links tournament. Another round will be held today at the Diversey course in Lincoln park.

The 32 low scorers, 16 from each course, will compete tomorrow in 36 holes of medal play at the Waveland links in Lincoln park in the final Chicago district trial. The four leaders will go to Farmingdale, Long Island, under the sponsorship of the Chicago Parks district to compete in the national tournament, which starts July 20.

William Ennis Finishes Second.

William Ennis of Big Run finished close behind Mak yesterday with 38—33—71, and Gunnar Gabrielson of Big Oaks scored 37—35—72 for third place.

John Slebos, who never had been on a golf course before coming here from Holland five years ago, studied the game during his lunch hours while working as a carpenter at Westgate Valley. Yesterday he shot 73 for fourth place. Harold Mathison, city amateur champion, was fifth with 74. The maximum score to earn a place among the 16 qualifiers was 77.

LEADS COAST WATER POLO STARS

Ed Knox, University of California at Los Angeles swim star, who is captain of the coast water polo team, composed of U. C. L. A. and Stanford players, here for the national Olympic finals in the lagoon at Burnham park this week-end. The team is known as the California Collegians and is one of the favorites in the meet.

Degener Due for Olympic Trials Today

Dick Degener of the Detroit Athletic club, hailed as the leading diver of all time, will arrive today for the national Olympic water polo and diving meet Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at Burnham park lagoon, directly east of Soldiers' field.

Degener last winter surpassed the efforts of any previous divers by winning the national three meter title with a point total of 185.55 points. If he had performed each dive absolutely perfect he could not have scored more than 195.

Degener first became prominent in 1932. In that year he took first place in the indoor three meter event and second in the low board competition. He also finished third in the three meter outdoor event. In 1933 he was first in both the indoor events and also in the three meter outdoor competition.

He repeated his 1933 performance in 1934, adding a second place in platform diving. In 1935 he won both the outdoor events and the three meter title indoors, but slipped to second in the low board contest. Last winter he set his new record in the indoor three meter event, and started this season by winning the first outdoor three meter title.

Degener wil compete against twenty of the nation's outstanding divers, including Al Greene of Chicago and Marshall Wayne of Miami, both of whom have defeated Degener at least once.

LOSES 13 ROUNDS, THEN STOPS FOE WITH 2 PUNCHES

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—For thirteen rounds Tony Marino, Pittsburgh bantamweight, was a beaten fighter, but with two punches in the fourteenth round he knocked out Baltasar Sangchili, European titleholder, tonight before 5,000 at Dyckman oval.

The end was a dramatic climax, for the Spanish boxer apparently was slugging his way to a victory and the right to meet Sixto Escobar, champion, next month.

After the fight the Spaniard's handlers said Sangchili had suffered a sudden muscular cramp which paralyzed his legs, and Marino's blow merely toppled him off his feet. Marino partly confirmed the statement by saying he did not know he had even hit Sangchili before the latter went down.

Baker was floored twice in the second round. A sharp right sent him down for a nine count, and he also dropped for no count after another hard right to the face.

Reds Defeat Cubs, 4-3, in Night Game

ly before Davis in the first three innings, Cuyler opened the fourth with a long drive to right center. Demaree dove backward into the crowd and made the catch. The Reds howled about this, claiming the rules prohibited a catch of that kind, but they were overruled. After Riggs, the next batter, had been thrown out, Goodman broke Davis' no hit string by singling to right. Scarsella also sent a clean single in the same direction, but Goodman kicked the ball and was automatically out.

Still No Runs.

The Cubs raised their hit total to four in the fifth. Jurges produced it after Gill had popped to Kampouris and Cavarretta had fanned for the second time. Davis closed the inning with a gentle tap on which Jurges was forced. The Reds also were good for a hit in the fifth, their third of the evening. Myers singled over Hack's head after two were out, then Kampouris flied to Galan.

The seventh in which the Cubs finally crashed through the Reds' defense, opened with O'Dea singling to center for his second hit. He also was the first man to get to base with none out. He reached to second on Demaree's bunt. Then Gill slammed a high fly into the right field crowd for a double, scoring O'Dea. Derringer escaped from the jam without further trouble by fanning Cavarretta for the third time, and retiring Jurges on a fly to Goodman.

That Fatal Seventh.

Before the champions' sad collapse in the home seventh, there were a couple of hits. Goodman led off with a line single to right. Jurges grabbed Scarsella's single back of second, but could not turn in time to make a play. Babe Herman bunted toward Hack, who was playing deep. Hack charged in desperately, scooped up the ball and whipped it to Bill Herman, who was covering first. Babe Herman beat the play for a hit and when the throw bounced into the field crowd immediately behind first base, Goodman scored the tying run, Scarsella went to third, and Babe Herman to second.

Lombardi was sent up to bat for Campbell and was dispensed with on an intentional pass, filling the bases with none out. Chapman batted for Myers and Cavarretta fumbled his easy bounder, Scarsella scoring and the bases remaining filled. The first out finally was accomplished by forcing Babe Herman at the plate on Kampouris' poke to Hack.

Rally Falls Short.

Then O'Dea took a turn at erring. As Hack was about to grab Derringer's pop foul, O'Dea crashed into him, the ball falling to the ground. To show his appreciation, Derringer singled to center, scoring Lombardi and Chapman. The next two fellows flied out.

Lillard, batting for Davis, flied out in the eighth before the Cubs launched the counterattack, which netted two runs. Hack doubled into the crowd in left and scored when Bill Herman hit one into the center field overflow. It was his 29th double of the season. Galan handcuffed Scarsella with a two base drive on which Bill Herman scored. The tying run then was left stranded when O'Dea and Demaree were erased on infield taps. There was no excitement after this except that Cavarretta, in the ninth, struck out for the fourth time.

Cubs Take Day Off Today; Meet Reds Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cincinnati, O., June 29.—The Cubs will have tomorrow off and can catch up on the sleep they lost while engaging in their circus act under the electric lights tonight. They will resume operations against the Reds on Wednesday. Either Roy Henshaw or Tex Carleton will pitch.

The visit to Pittsburgh this weekend will consist of two games Saturday and one on Sunday. After that series, those who aren't going to Boston for the July 7 All-Star game will return to Chicago and enjoy three days' leisure before the home stand opens July 9.

The Cubs and Reds came west last night on a special train, but there was no visiting. Manager Dressen of the Reds warned that he would plaster a $50 fine on any of his athletes caught in company with the champions, whom the local athletes openly refer to as inflated prima donnas.

The Rhinelanders' attire for tonight's affair was red pants, red stockings, white shirts and caps that looked as if they had been taken from a jocky's boudoir. The only thing lacking to make the circus atmosphere complete was the pungent odor of the animal tent.

TWO SOFTBALL LEADERS RISK PERFECT SLATES

The James J. Adducis and the Perkells, west section and north section leaders, respectively, will attempt to keep their slates clean in the Windy City Softball league games tonight at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue, and at Spencer field, 4200 North Central avenue.

The west section contests at Mills Stadium will bring together the Adducis and Galvin Boosters in the windup. Second place will be at stake when the Hoffmans and Korbells meet in the second contest.

The undefeated Perkells will oppose the Community Bakers in the north section windup at Spencer field. The Brandt Florals will seek second place when they face the Albany Rugs.

Willard Beats Hurley in Badminton at Theater

In the WAKE of the NEWS

RESTAURANT JARGON.

It was the spring of 1912. The race train had just pulled in from Ogden, Utah, and the thoroughbreds destined for the coming meeting at Coeur d'Alene shortly would be unloaded. Several doors back from the engine a door slowly opened and two figures appeared.

Carefully brushing the hay from their clothing, Kid Brooks and The Highbinder glanced furtively about and cautiously emerged from the side door of the car which had been their refuge for three days, also had carried 18 head of horses.

The meager store of provisions calculated to last the duration of the trip long since had been exhausted, although the horses had been well fed and cared for. Hard by the tracks a one story shack flaunted a huge sign that one Wing Sing was ready to serve short orders. To a request for fried eggs, straight up, he responded, "No gottem flied eggs, all schlambed."

Despite The Highbinder's protest, the Kid insisted on leaving. The Busy Bee, their next point of visit, did not belie its name. The counter seats all were occupied, so they reluctantly took a table. A burly waiter in shirt sleeves and besmirched shirtfront slapped a dirty towel over the bare wooden table, tossed down a soiled menu card, and almost hissed, "Well, spring it."

The Kid said he'd try some corned beef hash. "Hi, Grease Ball," the waiter called to the kitchen, "the gent'll take a chance!"

The Highbinder gave the same order. "Another sport," called the waiter.

Several incidents have appeared recently in The Wake pertaining to restaurant slang and the jargon of waiters. The foregoing came from Helper Vic. E.

Sox, Detroit Open Delayed Series Today

4 to 1 and lost the other, 2 to 0. Thus, it is apparent that if he disposes of the home run ball he should be an habitual shutout pitcher.

The most amazing phase of Cain's development, however, has been his control. Last year he was the wildest man in the American league from the standpoint of total number of bases on balls. He has not pitched a wild game as a member of the Sox. He allowed one walk in his next to last full game and he did not pass a batsman in his last game, the second contest of Sunday's double-header.

Italo Chelini's victory over the Senators last Saturday in his first major league start was one of the happy aspects of White Sox affairs. If you'll pardon us, we'll quit talking about Sox pitching right here, except to ask you to inform Manager Dykes if you happen to run across Relief Pitcher Clint Brown any place.

Ted Lyons is slated to pitch in today's belated opener with the Tigers and will draw Tommy Bridges, who is much too skilled to be any fun.

Campbell Day Sunday

After the Tigers go away Thursday night, the Cleveland Indians will arrive for a single game Friday and the two week-end double-headers, July 4 and 5. The Friday game will be celebrated as Bruce Campbell day and this should be a real tribute to one of the sport's finest figures, even if he does play on the Indians.

The celebration will be staged by La Grange citizens who knew and liked Bruce when he played for Lyons Township High and lived at the Illinois Masonic Orphans' home at La Grange. Representatives of the Kiwanis club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Young Men's Business club and La Grange citizens are whooping it up for Campbell, their zeal increased perhaps by the fact that the athlete has just fought off sucessfully a third attack of spinal meningitis and again is playing a great game for the Indians in right field after his life had been despaired of six weeks ago. Contribution boxes are scattered all over La Grange and the funds will be used to purchase gifts.

Frisch Turns to Haines as Stars Fail

St. Louis, Mo., June 29.—(AP)—At 42—nearly 43—Jesse Haines refuses to be through and he may yet have the honor of helping the St. Louis Cardinals to another pennant.

His teammates call him Pop, and the management, notorious for handling baseball players like chattels, has shown its lone bit of sentiment toward him.

Haines has been a member of the Cardinal pitching staf since 1920. He helped win pennants in 1926, 1928, 1930, and 1931. He won two games in the 1926 world's series and one in 1930.

But since 1932 his appearances have been fewer and fewer. This year Manager Frankie Frisch decided old Pop was just about washed up.

That's the way matters stood until injuries began to take toll of Frisch's pitchers.

On June 20 Haines stepped in and held the Giants scoreless in two innings, but the game already was lost. The next day Frisch had to summon Haines again, and again Jesse toiled well, although still in a lost cause.

Frisch astounded every one by calling on Haines last Monday for a third straight day.

And then, after only two days' rest, Haines entered the picture again in the second game of a double-header after the Phils had taken a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning.

Haines, working carefully, putting the ball "just where I wanted it," throwing his knuckler in the tight spots, pitched an excellent game, holding the Phils to seven hits and one run in eight innings. That run came in the ninth after Pop began coasting under a 13 to 3 lead.

THORNE, BUENGER FILE ENTRIES IN ROBY AUTO RACE

Joel Thorne, millionaire thrill-driver of New York, and Harry Buenger of Chicago, were added yesterday to the field of drivers for the auto races at the New Roby Speedway Saturday.

Thorne has long been identified with outboard motorboat racing in which he held a National title several years ago. But this year he has switched to auto racing. He has purchased nine racing cars and has a crew of mechanics to handle them.

Included in the fleet of nine cars are the racers in which Rex Mays won the 50 mile event at Roby June 7, the Pirrung Special in which Babe Stapp sped to three victories at Roby last season and three of the fastest cars in the recent Indianapolis event.

Columbus, O., June 29.—(AP)—Everett Marshall, Colorado wrestler, won what was billed as a world heavyweight championship wrestling match tonight, defeating Ali Baba, in 39 minutes and 20 seconds. Marshall had Ali Baba under control from start to finish and wound up the affair with a series of full nelsons, his favorite hold, and a high body slam and cross body pin.

CALIFORNIA CREW LOSES DAGGETT; RIB IS CRACKED

Princeton, N. J., June 29.—(AP)—A cracked rib will keep Al Daggett, No. 5 oarsman in the University of California crew, out of the Olympic trials for eight oared shells on Lake Carnegie Saturday and Sunday.

Coach Ky Ebright announced the loss today after seeing an X-ray negative taken when Dagget complained of a pain in his left side during a workout. Daggett had had the pain before the Poughkeepsie regatta but thought it was only from a sore muscle.

Ebright moved Dunlap into the No. 5 place and put Frost into Dunlap's berth at bow in the four-oared boat, which will compete in Olympic trials at Philadelphia, also this week-end.

Brownell Coombs of Lexington believes that his fleet mare Myrtlewood is something more than a sprinter. He kept her out of yesterday's Inaugural handicap and is pointing her for the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap to be run on Saturday.

Unloaded from Detroit at Arlington Park yesterday were eight horses owned by Odessa farms and trained by C. Hyde Smith. The Detroit shipment comprised Eddie's Brother, Don Creole, Imperial Ebee, Virginia J., Ben Sweep, Odessa Boy, Fire Finch, and Obstinate Boy.

Roman Soldier came in from New York yesterday along with five other horses in charge of Trainer Phil Reuter. The Soldier came out of the Brooklyn handicap in New York Saturday in good condition.

Plunger Bill Yanke, who knows his way around most of the race tracks in this country as well as those in Australia and England, made it known in no uncertain words that the Arlington Park he visited yesterday was the most up to date racing plant he has entered.

Prints of the "eye in the sky" finish pictures are wheeled down on wires directly to the judges' stand and pressbox. A few minutes later they are on display for the public in both the grandstand and the clubhouse enclosure.

In the betting the entry of Pharosay and Nellie Flag wound up the favorite. Whereaway paid $7.60 to win, $4.40 to place, and $3 to show. Pharosay's prices were $3 to place and $2.40 to show. The Fighter paid $3.20 to show.

A popular victory was scored by Count Arthur, owned by Mrs. John Hertz, in the Barrington purse at a mile. He skipped to the front at the start and made the pace all the way to trim Mrs. Emil Denemark's Brown Feathers.

Popular Victories.

The Arlington Heights purse went to the Maryland filly Carvola, owned by E. K. Bryson. She came up from behind and headed Col. E. R. Bradley's Bow and Arrow and Mrs. H. H. Hector's Wise Duke in the stretch to win going away by more than a length.

Both of these victories were pleasing to the crowd. There had been stout plunges on both Count Arthur and Carvola. Each won so impressively that their backers had little to worry about.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 29.—(AP)—All but one of the 44 yachts, which left Newport last Monday for Bermuda, had completed the 635 mile journey today.

Nine checked in either late last night or early today and another withdrew, leaving only Dewless, a schooner owned by F. William Schmirning of New York, unaccounted for. Dewless was not officially entered in the race, however, as officials of the Cruising Club of America ruled she did not have the proper equipment.

The Swedish boat Sea Saga, owned by Nelson Odman of Stockholm, was the last of the entries to check in. Entered in class A, the foreign schooner arrived at 12:55 p. m., but did not cross the finish line. Earlier in the day she had been reported as having put back to New London, due to the serious illness of one of the crew.

A short time before Sea Saga reported, White Cloud, schooner owned and sailed by Dr. Philemon E. Truesdale of Fall River, Mass., completed the journey to win the class C championship. The only other entry in the class, F. C. McCormack's Zara of Baltimore, put into Cape May, N. J., last week.

The White Cloud required six days 22 hours 6 minutes 2 seconds to complete the trip. Her corrected time was six days 19 hours 26 minutes, 58 seconds.

TOOTSIECAKE, showing speed from the start, took a short lead after reaching the turn, was ordered out entering the stretch and, coming again in final eighth, outstayed BUSY MAE. LEADING ARTICLE easily held DANDY JAY safe when making the early pace under restraint, increased his speed when enlarging his lead and weakened after three-quarters, but withstood ONWENTSIA'S bid. Latter, raced wide after first three-eighths and under strong pressure the last three furlongs, held on with good courage. DANDY JAY, under energetic riding after the opening quarter, dropped back slightly when entering the stretch, then came on again.

Winner trained by T. Root. Went to post at 3:26½. At post 2 minutes. Start good from gate. Won handily; place driving.

JUDGE LEER, gaining in the best form and record of the race wide, was under snug restraint for a half mile, raced to the front gradually when straight in the last three-sixteenths and won in hand. MR. JAMES forced the early pace under restraint, bore out slightly on stretch turn and held on gamely in the drive. BARTERING KATE displayed much speed from the start, saved ground throughout and weakened after increasing her lead as it short.

Winner trained by Lon Johnson. Went to post at 3:57; off at once. Start good from permanent stalls. Won ridden out; place driving.

COUNT ARTHUR, taken to inside after opening up a clear lead in the first quarter, continued to make the pace easily until reaching final quarter, where he was placed to light pressure and, continuing strongly, held the race safe. BROWN FEATHERS, under strong restraint for five-eighths and saving ground throughout, stood a mild drive gamely and outfinished BUCK LANGHORNE. Latter, raced wide, moved up in the stretch, but weakened in late stages.

WHEREAWAY, away fast but taken back and under steadying restraint while being reserved off the pace, raced wide when beginning to move up on stretch turn, then, into a clear lead in the final eighth, then weakened but held PHAROSAY safe. Latter, placed on outside at the start, took command quickly, was well rated and although he readily submitted to winner, held on gamely and gained in the closing strides. THE FIGHTER, never far back, rallied to light pressure in the stretch, then tired.

CARVOLA, under stout restraint for a half mile, began to move up slowly thereafter, gradually wore down BOW AND ARROW and won drawing clear. The latter on inside at the start, moved up to take command after the quarter, but a fast pace and held on well under his impost, though failing to withstand the winner. WISE DUKE, slow to begin and raced wide the final half mile, passed tired horses in the stretch.

GANNONNIC moved up with a rush on inside on the second turn, but was held safe by the leaders.

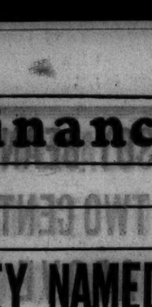
CORLEY NAMED PRESIDENT OF MARSHALL FIELD

Succeeds McKinlay, Who Quits Today.

BY HERBERT VEDDER.

Frederick D. Corley, first vice president and general manager of the retail store, was named president of Marshall Field & Co. yesterday to succeed John McKinlay, whose resignation has been accepted by directors, effective tomorrow.



FREDERICK D. CORLEY.

Corley's business history is in keeping with the best traditions of the American system of free enterprise and opportunity. His story is that of the rise of a stock boy, and as such it is typical of that of his predecessors at the head of Field's.

McKinlay and his predecessors, James Simpson and John G. Shedd, each worked his way up from the stock room.

The new president of Marshall Field & Co. was born in Tower Hill, Ill., in 1882, and came to Chicago when 18 years old to study law. Needing a job, he applied at Field's and was hired as a stock boy at $4 a week.

Legal Career Considered.

The idea of a legal career was still uppermost in Corley's mind, however. After attending law school at night, obtaining his degree, and passing the state bar examination, Corley offered his resignation from Field's in 1906.

"But," he recalled yesterday, "they told me I was doing no such thing. They said 'You are going to Europe,' and I guess it was the idea of travel that turned me away from law at that time."

From his job as assistant manager of the millinery department then, Corley went through successive promotional stages until appointed assistant general manager and assistant merchandise manager of the State street store in 1915. The next year he became merchandise manager. In 1926, Corley was chosen vice president of the company, in charge of retail merchandising. He became general manager of the retail store last year, and on March 10, 1936, was elected a director and first vice president of the corporation.

Member of Several Clubs.

Corley is married and the father of two children. He is a member of the Chicago club, Chicago Athletic association, the Casino, Saddle and Cycle, and Glen View Country clubs.

He plays golf, but claims hunting and fishing as favorite diversions. It was Corley's interest in hunting that brought about a recent enlargement and complete revamping of the store's gun department.

No particular personnel or organization changes will be made at present as the result of his election as president, Corley said yesterday. Directors asked that he retain direct supervision of the retail division of the company. He will continue to have his offices in the State street store for the present.

Any further announcements will come from his chief, Chairman James O. McKinsey, Corley said.

McKinlay, who has been president of Marshall Field & Co. since 1930 after a career of 41 qears with the company, announced yesterday that he has taken an office in the Harris Trust and Savings bank building. He is to continue as a director of Field's, but said he is not yet ready to announce further plans.

PALMER ORDERS FIRMS AGREE TO CUT INSURANCE

Gives Ultimatum to Eastern Concerns.

Ernest Palmer, Illinois director of insurance, yesterday served notice on big eastern fire insurance companies operating in Illinois either to telegraph assent today to his order calling for a 10 per cent reduction of premium rates on dwellings, apartments and contents, and removal of alleged discrimination against property owners in southern Illinois, effective Sept. 1, or to be denied renewal of their licenses tomorrow. On Tuesday last week Palmer had set the deadline for such assents as Aug. 1.

Palmer's sudden move followed the statement last week of Charles R. Street, western manager of the Great American Insurance company and chairman of the subscribers' actuarial committee, as unofficial spokesman for the stock companies involved, terming the original order "rather strenuous persuasion but not a definite order."

Denies Action Is Hasty.

"There is nothing new or hasty in our action," said Palmer. "On the contrary, we have been very lenient and hopeful that the companies would act without compulsion.

"While the rate reduction order of 10 per cent perhaps does not go as far as the facts and the records might demand after a thorough and detailed consideration by the courts, this department is convinced on the record that the order is fair and reasonable under all the circumstances at this time and that it can be justified in any court if the companies care to test the matter in that form," he added.

On learning of the immediate deadline for assents, Street commented: "It is regretted the director of insurance has withdrawn the period of grace given by his first letter and in that way closed the door to business-like discussion of such differences as may exist.

Defends Present Rates.

"We maintain it can readily be demonstrated that our rate charges are properly based and that varying levels in different sections of the state are justified.

"What our next step will be is not decided, but we do not anticipate the director will disturb our business unnecessarily. We have in no way violated any law of the state of Illinois or rendered ourselves liable otherwise. A general suspension of authority to do business in Illinois would create chaos for us and likewise seriously inconvenience the property owners of the state. We hope and expect that will not occur."

Taxation Question Raised.

Stock fire insurance companies long have decried the alleged initiation of insurance legislation in the various state assemblies by mutual companies and other insurance interests, outside of companies "foreign" to the states in which they operate. Many executives of the stock companies favor a movement to convince state legislatures that stock and mutual companies "should be taxed on the same basis."

"'Politics' is the smoke screen ordinarily thrown out by any business affected with public interest where rates are ordered reduced and discrimination removed," said Palmer.

Street indicated he would issue a formal statement today.

Corn Ousts Wheat as Grain Market Leader; Rises 2 Cents

Grain markets were on the upgrade on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, with corn displacing wheat as the leader for the first time in a number of months, as the result of fears of damage to the new crop.

December corn, which represents the 1936 harvest, advanced 2 cents to 63¾ cents, and closed at the top, while the nearby futures gained around 1 cent. Damage reports from the corn belt were few, but almost without exception the states which raise the bulk of the commercial crop sent in messages telling of an urgent need of moisture.

Scattered showers in parts of the northwest led to selling of futures at the start, as did the forecast for unsettled weather over night, but the effect was short lived, and the surplus in the various pits was quickly absorbed by commission houses.

Wheat Advances 1 Cent.

Wheat closed at the top, with a gain of slightly over 1 cent. Rye was up a like amount, while oats and barley advanced fractionally.

The upturn in wheat was unexpected by the trade, as the latter had anticipated a material enlargement in hedging pressure against the movement of the new winter grain crop. The latter developed, but was met by persistent buying attributed to milling and cash interests.

Nine leading winter wheat markets yesterday reported the arrival of 3,291 cars of cash grain, the largest so far this season. On Saturday the same points had 1,520 cars, while a week ago arrivals were 878 cars and in the same week in 1935 only 479 cars were received. In the face of receipts of 844 cars, Kansas City futures advanced 1½ cents. Minneapolis gained around 1 cent, while Winnipeg was up a small fraction after dipping to a new low on the current movement early. Liverpool broke sharply early, but rallied and was ⅛ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher at the close.

September Closing Prices.

Closing prices on the September delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Wk. ago.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .95	$ .93⅝	$ .95⅛	$ .84⅛
Corn	.66½	.65⅛	.64⅛	.57⅛
Oats	.31⅛	.31	.30⅛	.25⅛
Rye	.64⅝	.63⅜	.64½	.54

Little change was shown in the character of the crop comments on small grains from the American northwest, with reports indicating only a small yield with the possible exception of the Red river valley. In parts of the Dakotas it was claimed 80 to 90 per cent of the acreage was a complete failure.

STEEL LEADER EXPECTS STRIKE IN UNION DRIVE

Earl Reed Charges Radical Activity.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 29.—(AP)—Attorney Earl F. Reed, a key figure in the steel operators' battle against New Deal legislation, predicted tonight labor's unionization drive may lead to a general strike of American labor unions. His statement came while a struggle impends between capital and labor over organization of the steel industry's half million workers.

EARL F. REED.

Reed, who successfully combated the original national labor relations act in the Weirton case during NRA days, is counsel for the Wheeling Steel company, whose new Boston plant at Portsmouth, O., has been closed a month by a strike.

The attorney asserted:

"A group of radicals has taken complete charge of the community, without interference from either state or local officials.

"Trained agitators are being sent to scores of our now peaceful communities and will create the same situation and a general sympathetic walkout by other unions unless the people awaken."

Sends Out 200 Organizers.

The committee for industrial unionization, sponsored by John L. Lewis, has sent about 200 organizers into the field to undertake the job of placing all steel workers under one union banner.

Philip Murray, chairman of the committee, today denounced what he termed the "royalists of steel," who, he said, "are interested in maintaining their own company unions."

Murray's statement was in reply to the American Iron and Steel institute, which charged last night a campaign to unionize the industry is being made by "persons and organizations not connected with the industry."

Refers to Labor Plank.

Murray said it became apparent "who dictated the so-called labor plank of the Republican party," adding:

"Just compare the wording of the statement of the American Iron and Steel institute and that in the G. O. P. platform."

Attorney Reed commented:

"The labor plank in the Republican

U. S. Retaliates for Australian Tarif Action

Washington, D. C., June 29.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt, in a letter to Secretary Morgenthau made public today, directed that the benefit of lower United States tarif duties flowing from reciprocal trade agreements be withdrawn from Australia on and after Aug. 1, because of Australian discrimination against United States commerce as conducted in her new import licensing system.

Australia thus takes her place, along with Germany, on the so-called black list of countries to whom the benefits of lower duties contained in reciprocal trade agreements concluded by the United States with other countries will not be generalized.

The practical effect for the present was said not to be great, inasmuch as United States imports of important Australian products have not figured largely in reciprocal trade agreements thus far negotiated, but as more agreements are completed the action of President Roosevelt will assume larger practical proportions.

Rabbit Skins Biggest Item.

Chief imports of the United States from Australia include rabbit and hare skins, which are the largest items in volume; Burgundy, which also occupies an important place, wool, ores, and concentrates, sausage casings, sheepskins with wool, hides and skins, pearl shell, and tin ingots.

Certain ores, sausage casings, Burgundy, and hides and skins, it was said, being covered in reciprocal trade agreements now in force, would be immediately affected on Aug. 1.

Whether the action will operate against the prospects of a reciprocal trade agreement between the United States and Australia was not immediately apparent. When Joseph A. Lyons, prime minister of Australia, was here last July he spoke hopefully of the conclusion of such an agreement.

Act Under Tarif Provision.

President Roosevelt's action was under authority of the reciprocal trade agreements act, which says that he may suspend the application of tarif rates in reciprocal trade agreements to any other country "because of its discriminatory treatment of American commerce or because of other acts or policies which in his opinion tend to defeat the purposes set forth in the act."

Australian discrimination against United States commerce developed when, on May 22, Prime Minister Lyons presented to parliament a measure that became effective as soon as tabled providing for the creation of an import licensing system.

Collectors of the Australia customs have received instructions to refuse licenses to imports from the United States of all goods affected, with the exception of chassis and typewriters for which special treatment is reserved, unless applications are accompanied by proof that the goods are unprocurable except at greatly increased cost from countries with which the balance of trade is in Australia's favor.

LIKENS NEW TAX LAW TO KILLING OF GOOSE LAYING GOLDEN EGG

The new tax law represents a policy of killing the goose that lays the golden eggs and "not only prevents saving for a rainy day, but accelerates the rainy day," James C. Gall, associate counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, declared here yesterday.

At a forum of the Chicago Business Secretaries at the Hotel La Salle, Gall said:

"President Roosevelt proposed a tax bill which he declared would end double taxation. The measure he has just signed ends double taxation, but substitutes triple taxation.

"Instead of substituting a new form of taxation for the old form, it retained the old and superimposed upon it a new, incomprehensible and ultimately disastrous policy of taxing undistributed business surpluses.

"The 'breathing spell" congress which has just adjourned spent just twenty times one billion dollars. Nor was this done under the 1933 plea of emergency. It represented a definite and permanent administration policy. 'Pump priming' has given away to deliberate 'squanderlust' as a national policy."

DELAYS DIVIDEND TO GET SAVINGS UNDER TAX ACT

Directors of Waukesha Motor company, manufacturer of Diesel and other engines, yesterday declared an extra dividend of 5 cents and the regular quarterly dividend of 15 cents on the common stock, both payable Aug. 3 to stock of record July 15.

A statement accompanying the authorizations said the regular dividend had been declared for payment July 1 to stock of record June 15. Payment was postponed, it was said, because under the provisions of the new federal corporation income tax law, postponement will result in a saving to stockholders.

The Holly Sugar corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents on the common stock for the quarter ended on Aug. 1. On May 1 an initial dividend of 25 cents was paid. A dividend of $1.75 a share was declared on the preferred stock.

HORNER URGES SUPPORT FOR RAILROAD WEEK

Gov. Horner yesterday urged citizens of Illinois to support Railway week, which will be observed by the western railroads the week starting July 13.

He termed the railroad industry "a great instrumentality for the service of the people and an activity affording employment to 750,000 wage earners in this and other states of the union."

Plans for participating in the week will be discussed tonight by the Milwaukee Road Booster club in the Fred Harvey club rooms in the union station.

Newspaper Advertising Climbs Sharply for Week

Retail newspaper advertising last week broke all records for gains over the preceding year, Advertising Age said yesterday. The linage outdistanced the corresponding period a year ago by 3,486,813, the magazine's survey of 66 cities showed, or 22.9 per cent. The journal said that the "efforts of merchants to secure their share of the bonus money" was responsible for the bulk of the increase. It credited the rest to better business conditions.

Roads to Clip Time of Fast Denver Trains

Running time of the two fastest long distance trains in the world, the Advance Zephyr of the Burlington and the City of Denver of the North Western-Union Pacific, will be reduced by ten minutes eastbound between Denver and Chicago on July 12, it became known yesterday.

Ralph Budd, president of the Burlington, said the Advance Zephyr on its new schedule will leave Denver at 4 p. m. mountain time as at present but will arrive in Chicago at 9:50 a. m., Chicago time, 10 minutes earlier. The City of Denver will leave Denver at 4:15 p. m. and will arrive in Chicago at 10:35 a. m. Chicago time.

Make Run in 16 Hours.

Both these fast trains now run the 1,050 miles between Chicago and Denver in 16 hours. On their new schedule they will make the castbound run in 15 hours and 50 minutes. Because its distance slightly longer, the City of Denver has a little faster average speed per hour, averaging 65½ miles per hour, compared with the 65 miles maintained by the Advance Zephyr.

Budd, commenting on the record of the Advance Zephyrs, three car trains which soon are to be replaced by twelve car streamliners, said that in the month they have been in operation they have traveled more than 60,000 miles in overnight service and reached their terminals without being late by a minute, either eastbound or westbound.

Lost Time Made Up.

The westbound Zephyr yesterday gave a startling demonstration of its capability. This train, No. 9900 which broke the world's record on May 26, 1934 when it made a non-stop run from Denver to Chicago in 785 minutes, was delayed Sunday night after hitting an automobile.

Due in Galesburg, Ill., at 7:40 p. m. central standard time, it left that city at 9 p.m. last night. In the 700 miles between Galesburg and Wray, Colo., it made up its 1 hour and 20 minutes and coasted into Denver on time to the second. In the 700 miles it made up a minute of time in approximately nine miles of travel.

FRANC DECLINES BELOW ITS PAR; STERLING EASES

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Relapse of the French franc to a shade under par, a fresh reduction in the Dutch bank rate and another large purchase of gold by the Bank of England featured developments in the foreign exchange market today.

Following Saturday's abrupt rise, which carried the unit almost a full point over gold parity, the French franc dipped to 6.63¼ cents, a net loss of ¾ point. At this level the dollar was worth 100.02 cents against francs, compared with 99.90 cents on Saturday.

The Dutch guilder dropped 3 points to 68.17 cents and the Swiss franc was down 1 point at 32.75 cents. The British pound sterling lost ⅝ cent to $5.02⅝. Most other currencies were slightly lower, except the German mark, which rose 2 points to 40.37 cents.

N. Y. Stock Exchange Seat Brings $125,000; Up $10,000

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Arrangements were completed today for sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat at $125,000, up $10,000 from the previous transaction.

Week's Business Failures Lowest Since Fall of 1920

New York, June 29.—(AP)—Business failures in the United States for the week ended June 25, were 165, the lowest level since the fall of 1920, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. This total compares with 192 in the preceding week, and 230 in the corresponding 1935 week.

UNITED AIR LINES BUYS FIVE MORE DOUGLAS PLANES

Purchase of five additional twenty-one passenger type twin engined Douglas transports at a cost of $103,000 each was announced yesterday by W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines. This will give the company a fleet of fifteen of these twelve ton transports. Delivery of the first plane is scheduled for Aug. 15, with two a week thereafter, according to Patterson.

The larger transports with their longer cruising range will enable United to again reduce its coast to coast flying time, company officials said. With the addition of these transports United will have a fleet of sixty-five twin engine planes. The fifty ten-passenger transports which have comparable cruising speed with the larger Douglasses will be flown on schedules calling for more frequent stops than will be made by the new planes which have a cruising range of 2,000 miles.

Patterson announced United Air Lines' big Douglasses will be powered with two row fourteen cylinder Wasp engines capable of delivering 1,150 horse power each.

National Tea Reports 8.13 Pct. Decline in Sales

The National Tea company yesterday reported consolidated store sales for the sixth period ended June 20 amounted to $4,628,099, compared with $5,037,571 for the dorresponding 1935 period, a decrease of $409,471, or 8.13 per cent. The company operated 1,219 stores on June 20, 1936, compared with 1,225 on June 15 a year ago.

HUFF PUTS FARMERS' NATIONAL 'CO-OP' LOSS FOR 1935 AT MILLION

Outlining a story of operating losses over the last three years occasioned by erratic movements of grain to market, C. E. Huff, president of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, government financed coöperative, yesterday gave a hint as to the size of the concern's deficit during the fiscal year ending today.

"At June 30, 1935, the corporation had unimpaired capital and surplus of $1,098,692, and losses for the year ending June 30, 1936, are now indicated as being somewhat over that amount," he said. "Exact figures will be announced when public accountants have completed their audit following June 30."

The refinancing plan negotiated with the Farm Credit administration, he added, by which the coöperative will begin the fiscal year tomorrow with not less than $6,000,000 of working capital in addition to its physical facilities after paying in due course all liabilities to third persons, "contemplates that regional stockholders, in turn made up of local coöperative elevators owned by farmers, will purchase a very substantial amount of new capital stock in Farmers' National."

Farmers' National reported net loss of "a little less than $250,000" for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1935. Net loss for the year ended June 30, 1934, was placed at $662,503.

COURT QUASHES BIG NEBRASKA WATER PROJECT

Lincoln, Neb., June 29.—(AP)—Officials and legal advisers of the $25,000,000 Central Nebraska [tri-county] Public Power and Irrigation District conferred tonight on the future of the project, which was divested of vital Platte river water rights by the Nebraska Supreme court today.

The unanimous decision of the court, establishing the principle that water for irrigation and power purposes shall not be diverted from the Platte valley watershed, came as a surprise to the project headquarters at Hastings.

There was little comment from authorities relative to the decision and doubt shrouded the future of the huge project which would have irrigated 500,000 acres of land in Gosper, Phelps, Adams and Kearney counties and generated 300,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity annually.

NEW 1936 RECORD INDICATED IN FREIGHT TRAFIC

First reports from railroads on freight trafic last week indicated that a new peak for the year may have been reached. Loadings on the Rock Island and Atchison were the largest in several years, according to officials. The Baltimore and Ohio reported a sharp gain, over both the previous week and a year ago.

Cars moved by the various roads follow [totals include trafic received from other lines]:

Road—	Week ended June 27.	Previous Week.	Year Ago.
Balt & Oh.	47,981	46,351	40,193

ESTIMATE SHARP UPTURN IN STEEL OPERATION RATE

Steel ingot production for the current week is scheduled at 74 per cent of capacity, a rise of 3.8 points from last week, the American Iron and Steel Institute estimafed yesterday.

Principal cause of the rise was the fact that the figure was arrived at on a five day basis for the current period because of the coming Independence day holiday, while a six day basis prevailed last week.

A month ago the operating rate was 68.2 per cent and a year ago 32.8 per cent. Two years ago it was 23 per cent.

STEEL SHARES REVERSE EARLY RISE IN STOCKS

Closing Quotations Are Irregularly Lower.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—Weakness in the steel shares unsettled the stock market in late dealings today and early gains running as high as 2 points were drastically reduced and in many cases replaced by losses. As a result the general list, which had been firm for the greater part of the session, finished irregularly lower.

Volume of trading dwindled with the total transactions of around 770,000 shares, being the lowest in two weeks.

Chrysler again was an outstanding feature, moving up to a new record high of 112 3-4 on a gain of more than 3 points. It gave up a point of this advantage in later dealings but at the close had a plus 2 1-4 tacked after its final price. General Motors was up a point at one time but succumbed to the late selling and finished fractionally lower.

Predict Chrysler Splitup.

The steady rise in Chrysler was attributed in financial circles to expectation of favorable action by the directors at the July meeting on a proposal to split the stock. Officials of the company have declined to comment on reports of such a proposal but Wall street is reported to be of the opinion that the directors will consider such a move next month.

Selling of steel shares developed after the noon hour and was generally attributed to fears of labor trouble. Some concern was caused by the industry's defiance of organized labor. Bethlehem Steel sagged badly, giving up 2 points after being fractionally higher, and Youngstown incurred a loss exceeding a point. United States Steel lost a major fraction, as did Republic Steel.

Railroad Group Irregular.

Carrier shares were irregular, with small fractional changes being the rule. Atchison, however, was an exception, giving up 2 points. Farm implement shares were hammered down. J. I. Case at one time was up more than a point but lost it all and more to close almost 2 points lower. Deere and Harvester each gave up a point or more.

American Telephone was a bright spot, recovering more than a point after the sales brought on by the drive for lower rates. Greyhound Bus was buoyant, pushing ahead more than 2 points. Atlantic Gulf and West Indies common and preferred jumped into new high ground.

Food shares were weak, with Corn Products losing 2 points and Kroger slipping to a new low on a reverse of 2½ points. The latter stock's softness was ascribed to its poor earnings statement.

FIVE OFFICIALS REINSTATED TO PRODUCE MART

Court Agrees to Plan for Compromise.

Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior court yesterday entered an order reinstating several trustees of the Chicago Produce district that had been ousted through a decree on May 29.

In a prepared statement Judge Sabath explained that the order, which will take the form of a new decree replacing the earlier one, was the result of a compromise reached to prevent further costly litigation because of an appeal planned by the ousted trustees. The old decree was vacated as of last Saturday.

Under the compromise plan one of the former trustees, Henry R. Platt Jr., assistant cashier of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, will retain his position, while two of the three new trustees appointed May 29 will serve with him. They are Frank Bering, manager of the Hotel Sherman, and Morris M. Rothschild, president of the Greenwood company, printers, 710 Federal street.

Graham Aldis Resigns.

The court announced that Graham Aldis, of the real estate firm of Aldis & Co., 53 West Jackson boulevard, who was the third new trustee appointed May 29, asked the court in a letter dated June 26 to be relieved of the responsibility of serving in that capacity because of the pressure of other matters.

The two old trustees who will not contest their replacement, the court announced, are S. J. T. Straus, who submitted a letter of resignation, and John P. Hooker, who had never actively assumed his duties after being named to take the place of Sidney H. Kahn.

Three new associate trustees will act in an advisory capacity in addition to the three old associate trustees, who were the equity owners.

The new associate trustees to represent the bondholders, are Benjamin Weintroub, formerly an attorney but now a reporter for the Chicago Record and Jewish Chronicle, who was the original plaintif in the chancery suit against the former trustees; Charles Irrgang, a commission merchant in the produce mart; and Henry Lederer, a wall paper merchant, who is also a bondholder and plaintif. Lederer replaces Edward B. Fogtman, a commission merchant, who was named in the decree of May 29.

New Associates Named.

The three old associate trustees, who will not be replaced but merely joined by the three new ones sitting in an advisory capacity to the main trustees under the compromise, are Hugh MacLennan, A. J. Weisberg and Benjamin K. Goodman.

Aaron J. Jones, a member of the theatrical firm of Jones, Linick & Schaefer, who as temporary receiver would have made his final report within 30 days under the decree of May 29, is to remain as co-agent of the trust together with MacLennan, who had acted as agent under the old trustees, in managing the $8,000,000 property. The receivership terminates with the signing of the new decree.

The order also provides that Goodman shall be employed for not less than eight years at a salary of $4,000 a year as special technical adviser to the co-agents, who shall pay his salary out of their commissions so that the cost of management will not exceed the amount provided for management under the original trust agreement of July 14, 1932.

Agree to Waive Claims.

Straus, Kahn, Platt, and Hookers are to waive all claims to compensation as trustees from Jan. 15, 1935, to July 14, 1936, and Weisberg, as associate trustee, for the same period. MacLennan waives his claim to compensation as agent from March 15, 1935, to the date of entry of the decress. Jones and his attorneys also waive claims for "additional or further compensation."

Troubles of the produce mart began in 1932 when interest on an $8,000,000 bond issue was defaulted.

Spring Pig Crop Increases; Still Below Normal Total

The 1936 spring pig crop is substantially larger than a year ago, but with the exception of 1935 and 1934 it is the smallest in more than twenty years, the department of agriculture disclosed yesterday. The number of pigs saved in the spring of 1936, estimated at 41,884,000 head, shows an increase of 9,504,000, or about 29 per cent over the number saved in the spring season of 1935, but a decrease of 10,359,000 head, or about 20 per cent, from the average of 1932-'33.

In the north central states [corn belt] the estimated number of pigs saved in the spring of 1936 was 31,041,000 head, an increase of 7,622,000, or 32.5 per cent, over the spring of 1935, but a decrease of 9,781,000 head, or 24 per cent, from the average of 1932-'33.

Young Hogs Increase.

There also was shown a moderate increase in the number of hogs over six months old on June 1 than on the same date last year. Sows farrowed in the spring season of 1936 over 1935 was 30.5 per cent for the United States and 35 per cent for the corn belt. The average number of pigs saved per litter in the spring of 1936 was 5.96 head for the United States, as compared with 6.01 a year ago.

The increases in the pig crop were greatest in states where the 1934 drouth caused the largest reductions in 1935.

Gains Expected.

It is estimated that 4,310,000 sows will farrow in the fall of 1936, an increase of 544,000 head over a year ago, but a decrease of 17 per cent from the 1932-'33 average. The report indicates a probable farrowing of 11,338,000 litters in the spring and fall of 1936, an increase of 2,187,000 litters over the spring and fall of last year, but a decrease of 2,824,000 litters compared with the 1932-'33 average. It is estimated that on June 1 there were 1,500,000 more hogs over six months of age on farms than a year ago at this date, including the number of sows kept for fall farrowing.

STEEL LEADER EXPECTS STRIKE IN UNION DRIVE

platform goes on record against coercion or intimidation in labor matters 'from any source.' Any one who disagrees with such a plank must believe it is all right to have coercion and intimidation on the part of organizers; otherwise, there could be no valid objection to such a plank.

"What is going on at Portsmouth, O., indicates clearly the union believes such to be its rights. Its so-called 'peaceful picketing' consists of mobs around the mill, which refuse to permit any one to go in or leave, even members of the management.

"England learned its lesson in its general strike. Now, labor unions there must have their books audited and there is no picketing or sympathetic striking."

Raise Fund for Contest.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 29.—(AP)—Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical union and secretary of the committee for industrial organization, sponsored by John L. Lewis, declared tonight a fund of $500,000 has been provided for support of a campaign for organization of steel workers.

Howard said his organization accepts the declarations of both Republican and Democratic party platforms that workers have the right to organize for collective bargaining free from influence of employers and their agents.

Industry Stands Pat.

New York, June 29.—(AP)—The vast steel industry stood pat today on its announced intention to resist unionization activities of the committee for industrial organization, while a prominent member of that group said the industry's position would "redouble efforts of the organized labor movement."

Sidney Hillman, close associate of John L. Lewis, asserted:

"What they [the industry] are fighting is not the closed shop, but the right of people to be organized. Labor isn't going to back up. This will just redouble efforts of the organized labor movement."

Hillman, in addition to his post on the committee, heads the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. Lewis is the head of the United Mine Workers, as well as leader of C. I. O.

The industry, speaking through its association, the American Iron and Steel institute, declined to amplify its statement of yesterday that all its resources would be used against the unionization efforts of "persons and organizations not connected with the industry."

FINDS EMPLOYES SATISFIED.

Workers of United States Steel company subsidiaries in Waukegan and North Chicago are satisfied with the present arrangements for handling employé and employer relations, William E. Acomb, superintendent of the American Steel and Wire company, said yesterday.

WHEELING & LAKE ERIE REFINANCING PLAN APPROVED

Cleveland, O., June 29.—(AP)—Stockholders of the Wheeling and Lake Erie railroad today approved a recapitalization program proposed by Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The plan calls for the exchange of prior lien cumulative stock for new prior lien cumulative, nonconvertible and noncallable shares with an interest rate reduced from 7 to 4 per cent. Directors today authorized the payment on Aug. 1 of $7.50 a share on the prior lien.

On June 4 accrued dividends of $35 a share were paid on the prior lien, the total being about $4,000,000. Nearly all this stock is held by the Nickel Plate, which posted it as collateral for loans from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The Jones plan also provides that the 102,140 shares of 6 per cent noncumulative preferred be reduced to 5½ per cent and made cumulative from Aug. 1, convertible into common, share for share, and callable at any time at par and accrued dividends.

HOURLY PAID SWIFT WORKERS GET VACATION

John E. Wilson, general superintendent of Swift & Co., yesterday announced that nearly 18,000 hourly paid employés of the company will receive vacations with pay this year. Of these, 4,192 are employés in the Chicago plants of the company.

"This is the fourteenth year that our employés have enjoyed vacations," he said. "Of the 18,000, 9,500 will receive one week's vacation with pay and approximately 8,500 two weeks. Two week vacations are granted after 10 years of service. This year hourly paid employés in our dairy and poultry plants also will receive vacations, and it is estimated that approximately 1,400 employés will be affected."

TWO ROADS SEEK LOANS TO BUY NEW EQUIPMENT

Washington, D. C., June 29.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission was asked today to approve a loan of $150,000 by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to the Chicago Great Western Railroad company to finance the purchase of 100 steel flat cars. The railroad said that equipment trust certificates would be purchased by the RFC. They would bear 4 per cent interest.

The Wheeling Lake Erie railway asked the commission to authorize issuance of $1,400,000 in trust equipment certificates to finance purchase of 1,000 steel hopper railroad cars.

Baine Quits as State Bank Examiner; Joins 1st Nat'l

William D. Baine, Chicago, yesterday resigned as chief bank examiner for Illinois and will become associated with the First National Bank of Chicago, according to reports confirmed last night by Edward E. Brown, president of the First National. Baine had been with the First National for 26 years before assuming the state office in 1933.

COURT REBUKES LAWYERS FOR DELAYING CASES

Barnes Assails Methods in Bankruptcy Suits.

Credit men and lawyers seeking fees were reprimanded sharply by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday for their part in causing and prolonging bankruptcy cases.

The court's opinion was expressed in a memorandum ordering that the case of the Federal Pure Food company, 2944 West Lake street, be taken out of court immediately. The receivership and bankruptcy of this concern has been in the courts since Sept. 22, 1932.

Judge Barnes also refused to grant fees to attorneys who filed two bankruptcy petitions in the case. This order hit Attorney Marcus J. Golden and the law firms of Schwartz & Cooper and Blankstein & Lansing.

Will of Court Thwarted.

"The desire and will of the court has been thwarted in this case," Judge Barnes asserted, in connection with the prolonging of proceedings. He added that the length of time a case pending cannot depend on the activities of credit men nor on delays "unfortunately" occasioned by fee requests.

"The writer cannot refrain from remarking," said Judge Barnes, "that five years' observation of the operations of the bankruptcy act has persuaded him that if employers of the members of such associations as the Chicago Association of Credit Men would insist that their employés give more attention and consideration to the matter of extension of credits and less to the solicitation of business for certain bankruptcy attorneys, professional receivers, and auctioneers, there would be fewer bankruptcies, and those which do occur would be less expensive.

Suggests Remedy.

"The power to remedy the abuses in bankruptcy lies in the hands of principals of those who pass on credits and allow credits to bad risks."

Judge Barnes also singled out Harry W. Kline, manager of the adjustment bureau of the Chicago Association of Credit Men, as "chief apologist" for the failure of petitioning creditors to prosecute the first bankruptcy petition filed.

The court instructed the trustee, referee, and various parties to the case to get the Federal Pure Food proceeding out of court immediately and set tomorrow for a hearing on the matter.

CATHOLIC ORDER NEGOTIATES LOAN OF FOUR MILLIONS

One of the largest loans ever made in the United States to an individual religious institution was negotiated yesterday by Cremin & O'Connor and Neil J. Gleason through the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company, for four million dollars. The borrower was the Order of the Poor Sisters of St. Francis Seraph of the Perpetual Adoration, which has its headquarters at Lafayette, Ind.

The loan is for fifteen years at 4½ per cent interest and will refund several other debts. It is not in the form of a bond issue but consists of one note with generous prepayment privileges, according to Joseph Cremin.

NATL. AVIATION TO SELL STOCK OF PAN-AMERICAN

New York, June 29.—[Special.]—Stockholders of National Aviation corporation will be given the right to subscribe to 19,095 shares of Pan-American Airways corporation, held in the National portfolio, they were informed today. At the close of last year National owned 74,086 shares of Pan-American, so that the sale of this block will still leave it owning 55,086, the company reported.

National shareholders receive the right to buy Pan-American stock on the basis of one share for every 25 held at $50 a share.

COURT IS ASKED TO DISMISS RFC REPUBLIC SUIT

Dawes Loan Illegal, Attorneys Say.

Twelve law firms, representing the majority of stockholders of the Central Republic Trust company being sued by the Reconstruction Finance corporation for approximately $14,000,000, yesterday filed a brief with Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, asking that the suit be dismissed.

The brief was filed in reply to one filed earlier by the RFC, summing up arguments of the trial before Judge Wilkerson.

The RFC is attempting to assess the 5,000 stockholders of the trust company, which is the liquidating shell for the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company, under the double liability feature of their holdings in an effort to cover a deficiency in the repayment of a $90,000,000 loan from the RFC to the former Dawes' institution.

Call Loan Illegal.

In a 319 page document the attorneys list arguments that the loan was illegal and also concur in the arguments by John E. Hughes, attorney for Ignaz Schwinn, also a stockholder, that the act creating the RFC is unconstitutional.

The Hughes argument was contained in a brief filed on June 13, also in reply to the RFC. The conclusion reached by the attorneys, headed by Poppenhusen, Johnstone, Thompson & Raymond, is as follows:

"We have presented to the court rather fully the several defenses upon which we rely, not only because of the important principles which are involved in this case, but because of its importance to the individual defendants, many of whom face financial ruin if a decree is ultimately sustained in favor of the plaintiff.

Position of Stockholders.

"The enforcement of stockholders' liability in favor of depositors of the bank, who have, theoretically at least, entrusted their money to the bank because of reliance upon the solvency of the bank's stockholders, is one thing, but for an agency of the government, which did not advance money in reliance in the slightest degree upon stockholders' liability and which took all of the assets of the bank as security for its advance, to insist upon the enforcement of such liability is quite another thing.

"We submit that the defendants are right in the legal position which they take as outlined in this brief, but apart from their strict legal rights the broad equities are clearly with the defendants, and we earnestly urge that the plaintiff's bill be dismissed for want of equity."

The RFC is allowed five days in which to reply to the briefs of the Central Republic stockholders.

MEMBER BANKS INCREASE HOARD OF IDLE MONEY

Deposits Rise as Loans, Investments Fall.

An increase of 240 million dollars in total deposits and a shrinkage of 139 millions in loans and investments was reported yesterday for member banks of the federal reserve system in 101 principal cities of the United States during the week ended June 24.

The 99 cities outside of Chicago and New York accounted for 176 millions of the rise in deposits. They showed gains of 90 millions in demand deposits, 30 millions in time deposits, and 57 millions in interbank deposits.

Chicago banks had a rise of 37 millions, mostly because of a 12 million dollar increase in demand deposits and one of 23 millions in inter-bank deposits. The increase of 27 millions in New York was caused by increased demand deposits.

New York Banks Cut Loans.

New York banks were responsible for 77 of the 139 million dollar shrinkage in loans and investments. Principal Manhattan changes were decreases of 54 millions in brokers' loans, 41 millions in loans to banks, and 27 millions in holdings of other than government securities, of which 53 millions were added to New York portfolios.

A decline of 6 millions in Chicago banks was caused by a decrease in government bond holdings.

The other 99 cities' decrease of 56 millions was caused principally by declines of 28 millions in commercial loans and 21 millions in government bonds holdings.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 29.—Bond trading was at almost a complete standstill today, but prices were fairly well maintained. The turnover in treasury issues was as small as it has been at any time this month.

High grade corporate issues closed at or slightly above their previous prices. Fractionally higher quotations were posted for Chicago Union Station 4s, Northern Pacific refunding 5s, Pennsylvania debenture 4½s, Union Pacific first 4s, and Southern Pacific refunding 4s.

Polish List Rallies.

Polish issues rallied briskly. Poland 7s gained 7 points to 54, the 6s rose 6 to 48, and Warsaw 7s were up 4¼ at 38¾. Banking circles said the recent sharp collapse in these loans had brought prices down so low as to stimulate demand. The bonds tumbled last week on the announcement that interest payments would be met solely in blocked zlotys. Other foreigns were inactive.

U. S. government issues were mixed, closing one thirty-seconds of a point lower to four thirty-seconds higher. Gains predominated and included Treasury 3¼s of 1943 at 107 28-32d, the 2¾s of 1951 at 101 4-32d, and the 2¾s of 1948 at 101 26-32d.

Some Issues Decline.

Gains of a point or more were registered in International Hydro 6s, Chicago and North Western 5s, and American and Foreign Power 5s. Gould Coupler 6s soared on a few sales to a level 34 points above their low for the year. These bonds sold below 5 cents on the dollar during the depression.

Crane Company.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate very much your latest report on the Crane company.—Mrs. J. W. S.

Answer: The Crane company is engaged in the manufacture and sale of plumbing equipment, sanitary appliances and fixtures, heating apparatus, and pumps, valves, fittings and appliances for conveying and controling water, steam, air, oil and other liquids and gases.

The business of this company was established in 1855, and continuous profits were shown from incorporation in 1865 through 1930. With the building industry at a standstill, heavy losses were sustained in the next three years.

As a result of the pickup in building generally and of home construction and modernizing in particular, all units are reported currently operating at a profit.

Despite extraordinary charge-offs of $1,148,000 for inventory reserves and other items, final net income for 1935 was $1,443,000, or 18 cents per common share. Disregarding the charge-offs, net was equal to 66.8 cents a share. Though characterized as still below normal, sales were up to $57,494,000 from $50,658,000 in 1934 when net was $1,022,000, or 39 cents a share.

Losses amounted to $1,875,000 in 1933, $7,537,000 in 1932, and $7,985,000 in 1931.

Dividends on the 145,889 shares of 7 per cent preferred stock were omitted from the middle of 1932 to April, 1935. From that date to March, 1936, when the $1.75 quarterly rate was resumed, $1 a quarter was paid. No plans for removing present arrears of $22.25 a share have been proposed yet. No dividends have been paid on the 2,348,628 common shares since 1931.

On June 18, 1936, an issue of $12,000,000 fifteen year 3½ per cent debentures was marketed to provide working capital and retire the company's present funded debt of $10,058,000.

Ohio Electric Bonds.

Investors' Guide: I am deliberating an investment in Ohio Electric first 5 per cent bonds, due 1957. Will you please give me your opinion as to the rating of these bonds?—B. E. L.

Answer: These bonds must be regarded as more a speculation than an investment. Earnings of the company have declined steadily since 1931, and interest charges have been covered by only a narrow margin for the last three years. The charges were earned 1.03 times in 1935, 1.19 times in 1934, 1.16 times in 1933, 1.35 times in 1932, and a peak of 2.52 times back in 1931.
